ZIONCHECK PLUNGES TO DEATH

ANTI-NEW DEAL DEMOCRATS MAP NATIONAL DRIVE

'Beat Roosevelt' to Be Their Theme.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Defeat of President Roosevelt was announced here tonight as the unanimous objective of 42 leading constitutional Democrats from 20 states who met at the call of former United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri to consider the state of their party.

At the end of three long sessions the participants in the conference bound themselves in entire agreement that the policies of the New Deal are anti-Democratic and anti-American and that every honorable means should be taken to defeat the New Deal and its advocates and sponsors."

These were the words of former Senator Reed to reporters, spoken in the presence of most of the conferees.

Not Bound to Back G. O. P.

The conference did not bind itself as a unit to support the election of Gov. Landon and Col. Knox, the Republican standard bearers, but "many of those present" according to Mr. Reed, believe that that would be the best way to accomplish their desired result.

Some held a different opinion and the matter was left open to each participant and to their communities to exercise their own judgment.

Two of the leaders of the conference, including former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts and Col. Henry Breckinridge of New York, already have visited Gov. Landon in Topeka and pledged their support. Another, John Henry Kirby of Houston, Tex., founder of the southern committee to uphold the constitution, also will back the Republican nominee. Several others are expected to do likewise.

Hear of Smith Speech.

Former Gov. Ely was the center of interest for newspaper men when word reached the conference from New York that former Gov. Smith would make a speech in Boston during the campaign under Ely's auspices, or perhaps the auspices of the organization being formed here today.

"Does that mean that Smith will make a speech for Gov. Landon?" Mr. Ely was asked.

"I can't say that," he replied. "He has agreed tentatively to make a speech. That's all I know."

Draft a "Platform."

Ely, Breckinridge, Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state during the Wilson administration; Graham Wright, former president of the Georgia Bar association; former Representative Joseph W. Bailey Jr. of Dallas, and R. Contee Rose of Baltimore were appointed on the resolutions committee to draft a statement of principles which will guide the conferees. It is expected to be ready for submission tomorrow morning.

"The conferees were unanimous," Mr. Reed said, "in the opinion that the battle should be carried forward. We will do what we can to preserve the reputation of the old party, and above all save the country from the socialism, bolshevism, and communism of this imbecile, unpatriotic administration.

"We have appointed a committee to set forth our views. Cataloging the iniquities under which we suffer will take some time, but we expect them tomorrow.

Plan Permanent Group.

"We also took steps to create a permanent organization, but they remain to be worked out. We will carry on the fight until election day and will then continue with the rehabilitation and resuscitation of our party. We heard lots of fine speeches here today."

The fact that all of the conferees oppose Roosevelt "may do Landon some good," as Reed expressed it.

The spokesman did not answer a direct question as to whether he would support the Kansas Republican.

"I am going to speak against the New Deal," he said. "I am going to tell the people to preserve the integrity and independence of the courts."

There was little talk in the conference of the possibility of putting a third or a fourth party in the field

PRESIDENT WILL ASK LANDON TO DROUTH PARLEY

Accepts Roosevelt Bid

Speaking as governor of Kansas yesterday, Alf M. Landon, Republican candidate for the presidency, said he would accept an invitation of President Roosevelt to attend a conference of governors from drouth affected states in Iowa next month. "Kansas always has co-operated with the administration on relief measures and so long as I am governor of the state Kansas comes first," the G. O. P. candidate declared. Details on page 4

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will invite his Republican opponent, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, to a drouth conference with other midwestern governors, probably in Des Moines, Ia., about Labor day.

The announcement was dropped with studied casualness by Mr. Roosevelt as he revealed his plans for an inspection of the drouth stricken area at a press conference in the summer White House this afternoon.

Leaning back in an upholstered chair in his high ceilinged study, Mr. Roosevelt closed his eyes and said he would meet with the governors of North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana somewhere in the Dakota dust bowl area. Then, he continued, he will sweep down for a conference with the governors of Minnesota and Wisconsin, and go on into Iowa for a conference with the governors of Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri.

Kansas Brings Reaction.

As he mentioned Kansas the President opened his right eye to a slit and awaited reaction from newspaper men. He got it immediately with the question, "Does that mean Gov. Landon?"

"Why not?" he replied, and went on to tell that he will meet with the governors of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky somewhere east of the Mississippi river en route to Washington.

After that sentence Mr. Roosevelt was unable to refrain from laughter at his own casualness in announcing his plans to meet his opponent. The meeting, according to veteran White House employés, will be the first between two presidential candidates—on the assumption that Landon will accept the invitation—since McKinley and Bryan met by chance on the speaker's platform at Canton, Ill., during the campaign of 1900.

As President elect Mr. Roosevelt twice accepted White House invitations from former President Hoover at which the latter invited Mr. Roosevelt to join in recovery plans before the 1933 inauguration. Mr. Roosevelt both times flatly refused to go along with his defeated rival.

Would Be First Meeting.

If Gov. Landon accepts the invitation the occasion will mark the first meeting between opponents for the presidency.

Mr. Roosevelt said he plans to leave Washington on his drouth inspection tour on Aug. 25 or 26. He will go

No flaunting of the constitution, whether by executive evasion, loose legislation, or insidious propaganda, can destroy our safeguard so long as courage and common sense are cherished in the hearts of the American people."

DIARY TELLS STORY OF LONELY TRAPPER'S DEATH FROM HUNGER

Constable J. H. Leyland of the Royal Canadian Mounted police found the diary beside Olson's body in his lonely trapper's cabin 60 miles northwest of here.

Until July 16 Olson had written of his privations and then marked off the days until July 26.

July 14 was marked: "Feeling sick and remained in bed all day."

July 15: "Getting weaker."

July 16: "Very weak, eyes get dull."

A fellow trapper found the body.

PARENTS FAIL ON JULY 4 SO KIDS PUT ON FIESTA

Springville, Utah, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The kids in this town of 3,000 noted with cold, critical eyes that their elders failed to provide a town celebration July 4, and took no action when other Utah cities celebrated pioneer day July 24.

Today, with no word to their parents, the younger set, ranging in age from 2 to 12 years, assembled a "gigantic, mammoth, colossal, colorful parade depicting historical scenes."

They marched 14 blocks through town.

The band was a small boy with a drum—but there were floats, clowns, covered wagons, and a beauty queen.

"Down with bathtubs," "keep the schools closed," and "bigger and better fireworks celebrations" were their slogans.

Seduction Is New Charge in $100,000 Suit

Miss Lenore Miller, a dancing school teacher, yesterday filed an amended petition in her suit at Miami, Fla., against David Pennistone Scobie, wealthy Chicago insurance broker. The original suit claimed damages of $100,000 through breach of promise, and the amended petition charged that Miss Miller was seduced by Scobie under a promise of marriage.

The teacher, whose school is at 28 West Jackson boulevard, alleged that she met Scobie in a night club in November, 1934. She at first believed that he was single, she related, but learned in January, 1935, that he was married. He then promised, she asserted, to get a divorce and marry her.

Says Health Is Broken.

Miss Miller, who is a divorcée, stated in the new petition that she has suffered "mental anguish and permanent impairment in health" through Scobie's neglect of the alleged promise to marry her.

An attractive young woman with brown hair, Miss Miller looked quite healthy last night as she related an extended version of the romance. She added that Scobie once took a series of tap dancing lessons from her and paid $25 to learn the first routine.

Scobie, who is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, resides at 730 South Ridge road, Lake Forest, in a mansion that was erected by the late Arthur Reynolds, banker. He and his wife, according to caretakers on the estate, are now on a vacation trip in northern Minnesota.

Scobie's Wife an Heiress.

The couple were married in July, 1931. Mrs. Scobie was Miss Florence Argall Yates of Beloit, Wis. As the daughter of the late Porter B. Yates and heiress to his fortune, she was reputedly "the richest girl in Wisconsin." On the day of their marriage a demand for $15,000 was received in a Black Hand note, and policemen attempted unsuccessfully to trap the writer.

Mr. and Mrs. Scobie are the parents of a daughter.

According to Miss Miller, the proposal of marriage was made to her in Miami, and her suit was therefore filed there rather than in Chicago.

False Bearded Gunman and Boy, 12, Hold Up Store

A gunman wearing a gray false beard, accompanied by a boy about 12 years old, entered a delicatessen at 5253 Harrison street last night and forced the proprietor, Mario Farizza, to give up $33. The Fillmore police began a search for the robbers.

NEBRASKA RECEIVES FIRST BIG RAIN IN MORE THAN A MONTH

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Southeast and south central Nebraska received beneficial rains ranging up to more than two inches last night and this morning, the first substantial rains for most points in more than a month.

The soaking rains, agricultural experts said, will benefit pastures and save some corn for forage. Skies remained heavily overcast at many points today and the clouds appeared to be moving eastward.

At Grand Island 2.06 inches fell during the night and the skies remained clouded. Hastings had 1.09 inches and prospects for more. At Fullerton .91 of an inch was recorded, the first rain since June 30.

TABBY NO ASSET TO MR. NOLAN—ALIVE OR DEAD

Clemence Gazauskas of 911 Oliver avenue, Aurora, always considered his cat, which he called Tabby, the greatest asset to his grocery—always leaving out himself.

"That cat there," he was wont to say to his customers, "is the best mouser west of Chicago and north of New Orleans. If a mouse just thinks about coming in here Tabby gets one of those psychic messages about it and runs out and catches the mouse. I wouldn't take $75 for that cat."

The opinion of William Nolan, 70 years old, 915 Oliver avenue, was at variance with that of Mr. Gazauskas.

"It's just one of the old gray cats," he said, "always having kittens and stealing chickens."

On Thursday Tabby wandered close to the Nolan home. Mr. Nolan killed her with a shotgun. Yesterday he was arrested on a charge of killing an animal without cause and was held by Police Magistrate Lambert Ochsenschlager to the Kane county grand jury in bond of $1,000. If convicted he could be imprisoned for one to three years, fined $1,000, or both.

Hindenburg Due Today at Lakehurst on Sixth Visit

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The Zeppelin Hindenburg, with 50 passengers aboard, is expected to land here not later than 10 a. m. tomorrow on its sixth visit to the United States, according to a wireless message from Capt. Ernst Lehmann to officials at the naval air station. Among the passengers are Douglas Fairbanks Sr., the film actor, and his wife, the former Lady Ashley, and Max Schmeling, who will fight James J. Braddock for the heavyweight championship next month.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Before the eyes of his bride, Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, Seattle's playboy congressman, died tonight in a five story plunge which the coroner called suicide.

A note found in the fifth floor room of the Arctic building, and apparently written by Zioncheck, was quoted by Coroner Otto Mittelstadt as reading:

"My only hope in life was to improve the condition of an unfair economic system that held no promise to those that all the wealth of even a decent chance to survive let along live."

Relative Sees Him Jump.

Zioncheck's brother-in-law, William Nadeau, was in the room, used for campaign headquarters, at the time, the coroner said.

The coroner quoted Nadeau as saying they both started to leave the office, but Zioncheck whirled and ran 18 feet to the window from which he dived head first.

The body was taken to the county morgue where Mittelstadt, after a brief investigation, said he believed the congressman had committed suicide, but that an inquest would be held Aug. 14.

Bride Waiting at Site.

His attractive bride, who was waiting for him in a parked automobile, collapsed and was removed to a hospital.

Persons who saw the 34 year old congressman plunge from the window said he apparently was killed outright. He fell soon after 9 p. m. Chicago time while the streets were crowded.

Zioncheck had announced his withdrawal from the congressional race last Saturday, but Monday had apparently changed his mind and filed his declaration of candidacy on the Democratic ticket.

He returned here recently from Washington, D. C., after a series of escapades involving accusations of disturbing the peace and arrests for speeding. He was confined in a Maryland mental hospital. He left the hospital by climbing a back fence.

Runs to Please Mother.

He said he had decided to run again only after his mother said she wanted him to prove he was "neither crazy nor foolish."

The fun-loving representative's career started as far back as his college days at the University of Washington.

There he was elected president of the student body. Some time later he was thrown into the frosh pond on the campus by a band of hooded students.

Zioncheck had launched a campaign against the management of the football team and fraternities.

He was first elected to congress in 1932. He was reelected in 1934.

HITLER WARNS HE IS READY TO STRIKE AT SPAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 8 [Saturday].—Germany intends to take action at Barcelona today in connection with the execution of four Germans by the sentence of a Marxist court martial in Spain's civil war. This warning was telephoned to the British foreign office at midnight by one of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's lieutenants, according to a source close to the French foreign office.

The Nazi government has sent stern protests to the radical government in Madrid and has demanded an explanation as well as reparation and punishment for the killers. It is understood the Spaniards have been given a brief time in which to reply. If the answer is not prompt and satisfactory it is believed Germany will break diplomatic relations.

Europe Dreads German Move.

This turn of events is dreaded by all chancelleries of Europe, especially the French, the object of whose proposed neutrality agreement is to prevent just that. It is feared Germany's action may go further and extend to open recognition and support of the Fascist rebels in Spain.

Reports from Berlin to the Paris foreign office indicate Germany quietly is seeking a rupture with Madrid. One of the most recent indications may be found in the Spanish government's request to Berlin to recall the German consul at Santander for being too friendly with the rebels.

Observers consider that Germany's aim, aided and abetted by Italy, is to get a foothold in the Balearic and Canary islands in order to cut off the movement of African native troops to France in case of war.

France's grave concern over Germany's activity in the western Mediterranean was reflected in an announcement that a full meeting of the cabinet will be held today. The ministers met last night but no communique was issued.

Reports Girl "Assassinated."

In addition to the execution of four Germans, the Nazi official news agency yesterday announced three other German citizens had been killed in the fighting in Spain. The news agency said J. Johanna Imhoff, 7 years old, was among the casualties and remarked she had been "deliberately assassinated at Santander."

The Paris press either frankly disbelieved the report or considered it exaggerated. The newspapers implied that the Germans are desirous of creating an incident and making use of it.

The Intransigeant cited the German communique, "Fallen for Germany as victims of communism," and remarked "Watch out for those words, 'fallen for Germany.'"

The Paris Soir reported that Berlin refuses to consider the deaths as accident, but as political assassinations and hence is inclined to take a stand against the neutrality principle.

Hitler's decision to send more warships to Spanish waters is causing great alarm in the French capital.

Fear Pocket Battleships.

Two rightists newspapers remarked that there does not exist a French warship able to cope with the pocket battleship Deutschland.

"Our cruisers with the same speed are too lightly armed to withstand the Deutschland's guns and our heavily armored battleships are far too slow," the papers said.

The financial newspaper Information charged that the Deutschland landed munitions for insurgents at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco. It further cited a British source to the effect that 28 war planes have been shipped from Hamburg to the Fascist rebels. Information said that France must expect German occupation of the Balearic Islands or part of Morocco.

"Abject servility will serve for nothing," it added. "France has a position in Morocco which has a right to make France respected."

Alleged German activity in the Rhineland is adding to French uneasiness. The Nationalist Liberté said Nazi troops are being increased so rapidly in Karlsruhe, Ludwigshafen, Saarbruecken and elsewhere that thousands are being housed in school buildings and garages. It said there are 90,000 highly trained troops in the lower Rhineland.

CRY FOR VENGEANCE

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—German cries for vengeance against Spain over the killing of seven Germans were mixed today with diplomatic moves to keep the Spanish revolt from setting Europe afire.

Nazi leaders sounded a call for joint action by European powers to stamp out the "communist hordes" in Spain. The National Zeitung, which is edited by Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia and minister of air, branded the executions of four Germans as "murder."

"Spain is being swept by disintegration, anarchy and insanity through which Europe will be demolished unless sensible foresighted nations put an end to the Red specter with all means at their disposal," the paper said.

Nine Warships Steam South.

After conferring with Reichsfuehrer Hitler, naval leaders redistributed the German fleet. More warships were sent to the Mediterranean. One squadron, including the cruiser Koeln and a number of torpedo boats, was assigned to the Asturian coast. Another squadron, including two battleships, was ordered to take a position "somewhere in the Mediterranean."

A detailed draft for a complete arms embargo against Spain was presented to the German foreign office by Andre Francois-Poncet, French ambassador. Baron Konstantin von Neurath, foreign minister, told the French ambassador the German government would "give it favorable consideration."

Hold Envoy in Berlin.

Eberhardt von Stohrer, Germany's newly appointed minister to Spain, was instructed by Hitler to remain in Berlin until the row with Spain is cleared up.

The foreign office meanwhile awaited a reply to its protest to Spain and an explanation on "how Spain intends to protect the lives and property of foreigners."

Spanish representatives first told Nazi officials they would pay an indemnity to relatives of all slain Germans, but today they said they would pay damages only in two cases. The Spaniards alleged the other victims were involved in political fights. The Germans denied this.

BRITAIN WARNS SPANIARDS

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Great Britain tonight warned both the Spanish leftist government and rebellious Fascist forces that her warships will return the fire of any "accidental" shelling in the Mediterranean.

"The government stands ready to retaliate against further attacks?" a government spokesman said.

The government protested that rebel airplanes had fired on the British ship Basilisk and warned Madrid to keep its warships away from Gibraltar.

There is little expectation here that Germany will adhere to the French formula of nonintervention in the civil war.

Italy, Germany Ambitious.

According to information reaching London, the atmosphere in both Italy and Germany is most unfavorable to a settlement of the international problem arising out of Spain's plight. Public opinion in Italy since the conquest of Ethiopia is of the belief that Mussolini can now lick the world and Germany thinks this is a grand moment to further ambitions cloaked under the appearance of a crusade against communism.

Other information indicates the Spanish government has little control in Madrid and that in some sections of the country so-called loyalists have no control at all. The civil war evidently is becoming more a struggle between two factions than a struggle of a government with a rebellion.

It is also reported that discontent is growing among the natives of Morocco, who are taking the view that if they are going to fight Spaniards they had better fight for their own freedom rather than help Gen. Francisco Franco, the rebel commander.

23 ARABS SLAIN IN BATTLE; ROUT HOLY LAND RAID

JERUSALEM, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Twenty-three Arabs were reported to have been killed tonight after an armed band of 25 attacked a convoy en route from Haifa to Tel Aviv.

The convoy escort opened fire and killed five of the Arabs, then summoned reinforcement, which included aircraft. The reinforcement dispersed the band and killed 18 in the process. A British officer was wounded slightly.

Two Jews were shot and killed during fighting between Jews and Arabs which lasted throughout the night. One Jew was killed outside Tel Aviv and another near Hederah. A Jewish watchman was seriously wounded by Arab bullets in a clash near Jerusalem.

A well known British archæologist, Alan Rowe, was reported to have been stabbed in the arm as he was walking in Acre. His assailants were said to be two Arabs.

Riots in Madeira Island Villages Crushed by Police

FUNCHAL, Madeira Islands, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Police tonight restored order in several villages after riots protesting new agricultural regulations for this Portuguese-owned island. Two butter factories were wrecked in the country, but there were only minor disorders here. The rioting, the government stated, was provoked by resentment against an increase in the price of milk and butter.

REBELS MARCH ON MADRID; RETREAT CUT OFF BY NAVY

Loyal Warship Smashes Port of Algeciras.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 7.—Valiantly and resolutely, the loyal Spanish fleet steamed in under shore batteries today and nearly blew the city of Algeciras, rebel stronghold, off the map.

The warships obliterated every shore battery from Tarifa to Algeciras, which is Gen. Francisco Franco's only door into Spain. They wrecked the rebel commander's gunboat, the old Dato, riddling and setting fire to it.

They blotted out whole sections of highway between Algeciras and Seville. They spread panic and desolation among the rebel adherents. Many persons were killed.

Rebels Advancing on Madrid.

But all too late—too late like almost everything that has happened in Spain for so long. For the little Generalissimo Franco flew from Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, to Seville to put himself at the head of the rebel army advancing upon Madrid from the south late today.

Tonight the advance guard of the insurgents, under Maj. Castejon, took Zafra, more than half way to Badajoz, near the Portuguese frontier. This advance was possible because of Franco's brilliant exploit of Wednesday in eluding the vigilance of the loyal fleet, demoralized by German and Italian planes, and landing masses of troops and materials in Spain from Morocco.

Had the fleet stopped him, had it arrived and sent these tons of lead hurtling into Algeciras while he was disembarking that night, it would have been the rebellion's death blow. But now a crucial battle must be fought, but around the capital. It is hard to see from here how the government can stop this hardbitten column of Moors, Riffians and foreign legionnaires on the way.

Franco's Retreat Cut Off.

A belated offensive in the south, if it is conducted as was the attack today, may be effective. Tonight there is heavy cannonading up the coast toward Malaga and off toward Ceuta, Spanish Morocco. What has happened? It is all a mystery, except that there has been a heavy bombardment and vicious fighting at the nearby naval fortress of San Fernando, where presumably there has been a rising of loyal elements.

Franco's retreat is cut off. It is impossible for him to get any more troops across from Morocco except by plane, and materials cannot cross by plane. But there is a great example in history of Spanish adventurers who burned their ships and advanced into an inferno.

One thing is certain. Franco is advancing with less than half the troops he had originally hoped to use in a smashing blow on the capital. How they will get supplies is a mystery.

Four Republican Leaders Shot.

When the loyal battleship Jaime I. and the cruisers Libertad and Miguel de Cervantes steamed off into the dusk after the bomardment of Algeciras, rebel officers, pistols in hand, restored order among the panic-stricken Moors in the city and locked them in the bull ring for the night to prevent them from looting and to keep them from taking to the hills and leaving the Spaniards to fight it out among themselves.

Then they proceeded to an abandoned convent where republican prisoners were huddled. They called out the names of four, all customs officials, republicans of President Anza's party, and Masons. They were led to a lovely garden out in back where the nuns used to walk under the lime trees, stood against a white wall and shot.

Four more will be shot when the Jaime I. returns to renew the bombardment, and if there is a landing by loyalist forces all the prisoners will be shot.

A City of Missing Men.

Yesterday noon a dentist, shoemaker, and an electrician stood blindfolded under the lime trees because striking republicans had refused to work under the rebels. At 6 o'clock that night, the dentist's wife said to me:

"I'm worried about my husband. He didn't come home to lunch."

Tonight flames light the sky across the bay. The hulk of the Dato is still burning. About $100,000 worth of cork on the mole is burning. The customs house is burning. The British and Argentine consulates have collapsed in ruins. The French consulate is wrecked. The luxurious Maria Christiana hotel is badly damaged. The population has taken to the hills.

Algeciras knows the wrath of a battleship hurling lead from 12 inch batteries at a range of less than a mile. The Jamie I. moved twice on its errand of destruction, once this morning and once this afternoon. As it bombarded the city its pals in the strait drove off attacks by two Italian and one German plane.

Bombard Moroccan Seaport.

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Two loyal Spanish warships tonight bombarded Laroche, Spanish Moroccan seaport on the Atlantic coast. At least one person was killed and many were wounded.

Chicagoans Unreported in Barcelona

E. D. LOEWENTHAL.

MRS. E. D. LOEWENTHAL.

Relatives Anxious

Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Loewenthal, former Chicagoans who were in Barcelona when the Spanish revolt began, have not been heard from since then, Dr. George Rubin, 845 Drexel square, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Loewenthal, said yesterday. The Loewenthal's son-in-law, Irving Pflaume, a newspaper man now in Spain, has been unable to reach them. Barcelona, from the beginning of the revolt, has been in the hands of the loyal forces in Spain.

While in Chicago Mrs. Loewenthal was active in civic affairs, having served a term as president of the Chicago Woman's Aid. She was a leader in the suffrage movement and a friend of the late Mrs. Harold L. Ickes.

Loewenthal was an executive in a rubber processing concern here. He retired from that business to tour Europe in 1932. He became interested in milk sterilization in Spain, but abandoned this when civil disturbances there interfered. Since then he has been teaching English at various educational institutions in Barcelona.

BINGHAM RULES OUT ALLIANCE OF U. S. AND BRITAIN

Envoy Modifies Speech of July 4.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—An Anglo-American alliance, about which there has been much talk recently in the British press, was ruled out as a political possibility by Ambassador Robert W. Bingham today in an address to the English Speaking union at a garden party given by Sir William Bromley-Davenport at Capesthorne hall, Cheshire.

Bingham explained that "people of the United States are united, fixed and resolute in their determination to avoid any form of commitment anywhere which would tend to draw the United States into war."

Bingham on July 4.

In his July 4 speech here before the American society, Bingham was quoted as saying:

"I shall expect this nation [England] and my own to match gun for gun, ship for ship, plane for plane, and man for man in the protection of our countries and our homes."

Today, before many titled persons, Bingham said the English Speaking union is serving to keep a close bond of comradeship between English speaking peoples.

Alliance Ruled Out.

"Efforts at friendly comprehension between English speaking peoples are always desirable, but in the present state of world affairs they take on a gravity and importance deeper than ever before," he said. "We must realize, however, that these efforts apply only to the cultivating of a friendly understanding.

"I am sure no one in the United States and no American citizen anywhere contemplates the possibility of any such form of alliance.

"While many ties draw English speaking nations together, these ties are not so much a common language and racial stock. What does count is that in the English speaking world there is a similar attitude of mind."

RED TERROR RUNS WILD IN MADRID; GUNS RULE CITY

Firing Squads Busy in War Against Fascists.

MADRID, Aug. 7.—(AP)—This once gay capital of Spain still presents a carnival spectacle of bright colors and laughter—but it is a fantastic carnival of fear.

With communism running rife, thousands of houses fly red flags. Balconies are draped with roughlytorn red garments. Windows and doorways are festooned with crimson ribbons as a safeguard against invasion by dreaded bands of red executioners.

Firing Squads Busy.

Aristocrats are exposed to constant menace of arrest and summary trial by one of the Red committees functioning day and night with the inevitable climax, if proven guilty of Fascist beliefs—death before a firing squad.

At all hours of the day and night, luxurious cars commandeered by squads of Socialist-anarchist-syndicalists dash through the streets at breakneck speed. Driven by unskilled hands, many of them now are battered as though they had been through a war, with headlights wrenched off, and mud guards bashed in.

Demolished trafic lights and street lamps strewn on the sidewalks testify to reckless speed. All automobiles bear a police placard, "Autorizado" [authorized to go] pasted on the windshields. An armed chauffeur and militiamen with rifles across the knees man every car.

Milk Shortage Feared.

Painters have daubed huge slogans such as "Red Cross," "American embassy," and "Press" across every available inch of coachwork. Trafic rules are disregarded in the absence of a single trafic policeman or members of the Civil Defense corps, famed for their tri-cornered hat and resented in the past by workers and peasants, who now are fighting at the front either for rebels or for the government.

Only half of the food shops are open and fears of milk shortage are mounting.

In the evening streets are thick with thousands of Spaniards indifferently lining up to buy packs of cigarets. The queues often are more than a mile long. The government rations citizens to two packs of cigarets daily.

Long lines are becoming more numerous, too, at food stores as housewives are beginning to lay in stores of canned foods to withstand a possible rebel siege.

Barriers Across Streets.

Sandbag barriers bar streets at intervals, but appear miserably inadequate to stem any organized invasion. Each barricade has its guard and several are crowned with battered umbrella shelters for drowsy militiamen who seek to escape the blistering midday heat.

From noon until the cool of evening cafés and streets are deserted. "Juan Español" still takes his 40 winks, war or no war.

At night citizens come out again and move more or less freely along the boulevards. But it is far from the fashion parade of pre-revolt days.

Those who sit along café terraces are almost unrecognizable as one time dandies of the boulevard. They go about unshaven, without socks, and shod in 12 cent canvas "alpargatas," and wear red neckties, if any.

EVACUATE AMERICANS FROM DANGER SPOTS AROUND BARCELONA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The state department was advised today that a number of Americans known to have been in danger spots in and near Barcelona were evacuated safely yesterday.

American Consul Lynn W. Franklin reported that 60 Americans still remained in Barcelona, but that all who wished to leave had gone.

In an effort to provide a place of refuge for Americans and other foreigners under the protection of the American consulate, Franklin said he was arranging with Barcelona authorities to take over vacant space in the building housing the offices of the American consul general. Among the Americans who left Madrid today was Angelo C. Fernandez of Chicago.

Rebels to Aid Americans.

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Spanish rebels agreed today to assist in the evacuation by airplane of American, British and French tourists stranded in Malaga. John Howard Jordan, representative of an American oil company, said he had made arrangements with Gen. Queipo de Llano, rebel commander at Seville, not to fire at the plane carrying the refugees.

SON OF CHICAGO WOMAN KILLED BY A SPANISH MOB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 7.—Whether the aged Guillermina Marston Peterson of Chicago will be evacuated from Malaga when the American cruiser Quincy next calls is up to the state department, since she is technically no longer an American.

Her son George, a refugee here, learned today that his brother Henry was dragged from the house by a mob and killed. There is little doubt that his mother and George's daughter were in danger.

Spain's War Is Lesson in Air Defense to United States

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Army and navy air corps officers here view the Spanish civil war as another object lesson demonstrating the necessity of an adequate and efficient air force for modern warfare.

While the army and navy have not yet received official reports from their attachés in Spain, press reports alone lead to the obvious conclusion, the experts say, that a few hundred fast, modern fighting and bombing planes, manned by experienced aviators, would mean victory in short order for the side most efficiently equipped.

For this reason air corps officers are greatly interested in reports that Italian army planes are being sent to the aid of the Fascist insurrectionists and that France threatens, in the event of failure to secure a neutrality pact, to supply the leftist government with fighting planes.

If a nonassistance agreement is not reached, authorities here declare, the number of airplanes supplied to both sides will be the determining factor in the success or failure of the Fascist revolution.

This was clearly demonstrated by the Italian conquest of Ethiopia between rainy seasons, a feat that could never have been accomplished without an effective use of airplanes, according to the army and navy experts. They say the Italians not only achieved remarkable successes with their bombing planes and ordinary attack planes, using machine guns to break up concentrations of Ethiopians, but protected their advancing columns with mustard gas screens laid down by airplanes.

Gas Protects Army Flanks.

Without this mustard gas protection the advancing army would have been subject to attacks on both flanks and its supplies, as well as communications, could have been cut off in the rear.

The army and navy experts say Italy's success in Ethiopia was made easier by the fact that this backward country had no anti-aircraft defenses. The only adequate defense against a large and efficient air force is one that is larger and more efficient, say the air corps officers.

Dispatches from Spain continually speak of new plans by the radical government to wipe out the insurrectionists in a ruthless attack with three or four hundred airplanes.

But it is apparent, authorities here declare, that the government has no well organized air force or modern equipment, or the rebels would have been wiped out soon after the outbreak of the revolution.

The government forces have been unable to dislodge the rebels in their stronghold in the Guadarrama mountains, north of Madrid, but this could easily be accomplished with light bombs or even a spray of machine gun fire from airplanes, according to the experts.

Conversely, they say, the rebel advance upon Madrid would be assured of success if they possessed an air force to scatter the loyalists and protect their advance down out of the hills as the Italians did in Ethiopia.

Spain Seizes Ship Line; Nationalizes Flour Mills

MADRID, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Spanish government tonight announced the confiscation of the trans-Atlantic Steamship company [known as the Spanish line]. The move was understood to be an attempt to prevent rebels from using the line's ships to transport soldiers from Morocco. Nationalization of flour mills and bakeries and state supervision of mining and electric power industries also were announced.

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The governments of two loyal north Spanish provinces were reported on the verge of collapse tonight, with the seaport of Gijon in ruins and 300 of its inhabitants dead.

Diplomats and French naval officers returning from Guipuzcoa and Asturias provinces said their submission to the rebels was imminent.

Naval officers who witnessed a two day bombardment of Gijon said the city was surrounded by rebel troops and its surrender was a matter of hours.

2,500 Hostages Face Death.

The bombardment from the rebel cruiser Almirante Cervera virtually levelled the city, they said, despite loyalist threats to execute 2,500 Fascist hostages in reprisal.

"With glasses we could see houses collapse under the shelling like cardboard," they said. "The Cervera, from a point three miles outside the port, scored perfect hits. We never saw better gunnery. The rebel marksmanship compared favorably with that of the best navies in the world."

As a "rough estimate," the officers said, about 300 persons must have been killed. They added that rebel commanders aboard the Cervera warned leftists that they would shell Bilboa next unless that loyalist city surrendered, and then would turn its fire on San Sebastian.

The officers said all leftist members of Santander's municipal council were executed in the public square by a rebel firing squad.

Claim Rebels Driven Back.

MADRID, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Catalan government at Barcelona reported today that loyal troops were marching on Huesca and had captured several villages on the heights overlooking the town.

Leftist reports from northern Navarre said popular front forces armed with machine guns attacked a rebel supply train and routed its convoy, leaving a number of dead and wounded.

Valencia dispatches announced transports were taking 3,500 militiamen on an expedition to fight rebels on the island of Mallorca, in the Balearic group. Bombing planes also were ready to take off from Valencia to aid the attack.

Loyalists troops reported a 4½ mile advance against the Fascist forces in the mountains outside Madrid.

In northern Aragon, government armies claimed new victories at Tardienta and Graner. To the south, they reported the occupation of Alcolea, three miles from Cordoba, and Baena, 37 miles distant from the Fascist-held city.

The government reported that the rebels lost 50 dead and 150 injured in the northwest when a column seeking to relieve insurgent forces at Oviedo was crushed approaching the city.

The government also claimed 40 Fascists were killed and 20 wounded in a clash with Asturian miners at the town of Senuela.

A loyal column routed a rebel force in the outskirts of Siguenza, in the province of Guadalajara, northeast of Madrid, the government asserted. It said 40 rebels were killed, the others scattered in flight, and much war material was seized.

Madrid in Darkness.

The government repeated tonight its experiment of throwing the capital into complete darkness as a precautionary practice against possible air raids. Firemen were ordered to take air raid positions and the subway, normally closed at midnight, was to remain open as a bomb shelter for the realistic practice.

[Dispatches from Hendaye, France, said insurgents in the Guadarrama sector claimed to have bombed Madrid at night in the last forty-eight hours. Since orders had been given for a curfew in the capital, the dispatches said, it was thought there may be something in this claim.]

Leftist authorities in Barcelona decreed seizure of property belonging to persons who aided in the revolt in Catalonia. Another decree confiscated property of the church and religious orders, in accordance with the constitution. Employés took over street car lines and planned to operate them through control of a committee of seven workers.

Two Planes Shot Down.

SPANISH REBEL HEADQUARTERS AT BURGOS, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Spanish insurgent command asserted tonight rebel infantrymen on the Guadarrama front, north of Madrid, had brought down two government planes.

SPANISH PRINCE HITS DEMOCRACY AS 'FALSE IDEA'

PARIS, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Prince Juan of the Asturias, heir to the former Bourbon throne of Spain, today characterized the Fascist uprising as "a new state of affairs which has been born in Spain, based on ancient principles of the 16th century and completely correcting the false democratic ideas of the 19th century which have poisoned the life of Spain."

With his mother, the former Queen Victoria, the prince was at Cannes after enduring a hostile demonstration of French leftists as he drove through Menton on the way to his yacht.

Demand Ouster of Alfonso.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Communists today demanded the expulsion of former King Alfonso of Spain on grounds that his presence violates Czechoslovakia's declared neutrality in the Spanish civil war. Alfonso is at Koenigswart visiting a friend, Count Metternich.

50 ARMED TRAINS TO HAUL GOLD TO U. S. FORTRESS

Secret Plans Made to Move 10½ Billion.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Well informed sources said today that 50 or more armored trains may be required to move the bulk of Uncle Sam's $10,600,000,000 gold hoard into the strong box now nearing completion at Fort Knox, Ky.

Although the new depository will not be ready for use until after Sept. 15, plans for the huge shipment already are being drafted secretly at the treasury.

Shift Gold to Interior.

The transfer of the precious metal to the Fort Knox vault, which treasury officials say will be impregnable to safe blowers and even a well-equipped army, is part of a long term program to shift gold reserves from seaboard cities to points far in the interior. Last year more than $2,000,000,000 in bullion was moved from San Francisco to a vault at the Denver mint, where the government considered it would be safe from any threat, including invasion by a foreign foe.

Secret service operatives and even the army may be called upon to help guard the transfer to Fort Knox.

Moats Circle Structure.

The new depository combines the most modern construction with a few characteristics of the medieval castle. Its outer walls are wrought granite; inside it is built of steel and concrete. Two water-filled moats will circle the building. At the touch of a button, their water can be released to flood underground vaults, where the yellow bars will be hidden. Every scientific device, from torch-proof steel to photoelectric rays detecting any one who approaches, has been employed to make the structure impenetrable.

Miss Amy Barck, 30 years old, of St. Louis, Mo., a patient at the North Shore Health resort, 225 Sheridan road, Winnetka, leaped to her death last evening from a second floor fire escape at the resort. Her nurse, Miss Lillian Beers, told police she was walking in a corridor with Miss Barck when the patient went out on the fire escape, ran down several steps and plunged over the railing. She had been a patient at the resort for two weeks.

Miss Barck was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Barck. They had been staying here awaiting their daughter's recovery, the father at the Lake Shore Athletic club and the mother at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred E. Kaeppel, 6557 North Campbell avenue. The young woman was a graduate of Washington university.

A PROSECUTOR APPEARS AGAINST SELF; IS FINED $1

Willard, himself. He was charged with parking for two hours in a restricted area. Defendant Willard pleaded guilty and Prosecutor Willard declared that there was no excuse for him, as he knew the law. The magistrate imposed a fine of $1.

At about the same time Elgin's "Cafeteria court." for trafic law violators was being inaugurated. One of the first customers was State's Attorney George D. Carbary of Kane county, who had parked illegally in a taxi stand. The violation will cost $1.

DAUGHTER IS ALL SHE HAS IN LIFE, MISS ASTOR SAYS

Dr. Thorpe Tells Why He Should Rear Child.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7. — [Special.]—Both Dr. Franklyn Thorpe and Mary Astor, his film star former wife, who are engaged in a bitter court struggle for the custody of their 4 year old daughter, Marylyn, explained today why they are pushing their legal battle.

Miss Astor said Marylyn represents all she has to live for. Dr. Thorpe declared he felt far better fitted, professionally and otherwise, than his former wife to rear their child.

Claims Mother's Rights.

"I want to be near my daughter all through her formative years as a woman and a future mother and advise her," said Miss Astor. "At a time when I was not well I gave away my rights to her, but I did not sign away the tender rights of motherhood, I couldn't——

"She will never want for anything. Her health, her happiness, her economic future, I will provide for. I am eager and willing to provide for them.

"I am sure that most will agree that a mother, with all her intuitive qualities and the sacred bond of motherhood, is best suited to go through life with Marylyn. Why these truths are not sufficient, I do not know. A point of law is in question. I wish there were some recourse other than law, but there is none.

"Every vile insinuation must be made public. It is horrible.

Believes She Will Win.

"So desperately do I want to take charge of Marylyn that I know, somehow, I shall eventually win.

"By intimidation and coercion—threats of scandal—I was forced to give her up. Now I want her back. I am battling for my rights with the only weapons I know.

"I have been told that my career is at stake. I have been threatened with the blackening of my name. The names of my prominent friends in the film world are threatened with ruin.

"But I want my chance to support my child and keep her near me. My child is my life."

Here's What the Father Says:

Dr. Thorpe explained his side of the fight today by saying:

"I am first a father, secondly a doctor, forced to fight for the custody of my child.

"In spite of the acrimony of the courtroom, there is more at stake than reputation. I am prepared to back up my deep and compelling love for Marylyn with the experience of thirty years of training.

"In California, the state law admits that a father is best fitted, economically, to rear a child to maturity. Added to my record as a physician, I have made constant studies of child growth and development.

"I have been accused in court of trying to discipline my child. That may be old fashioned, but discipline is still recognized as a prerequisite of child training.

"I believe that as a surgeon, required to retain moderation in all things, that I am best qualified to give Marylyn the benefit of love, home and education."

Taking of Deposition Postponed.

Miss Astor won a legal skirmish today when her attorneys, supported by others representing United Artists studio, obtained a postponement from Saturday until Monday of a deposition which Dr. Thorpe demanded from his former wife on the issue of annulment of the marriage. It was stated the interruption to Miss Astor's starring rôle in the film "Dodsworth" tomorrow would have caused the studio great expense and inconvenience, and the judge ruled that the studio, being an innocent party, deserved consideration.

After the deposition on Monday Miss Astor will resume the witness stand in the case involving the child under cross-examination by Attorney Joe Anderson, representing Dr. Thorpe. Anderson says he will bring out, in addition to Playwright George S. Kaufman, the names of others prominent in New York who were friends of Miss Astor. He also says he will go into the Astor diary which touches on her love affairs.

However, the judge today indicated that the evidence must adhere to the main issue—which of the two parents shall have the child. This may limit the scope of the inquiry into the scandalous phases of the case. It is said the movie industry is trying to quiet the sensation which has followed the hearings thus far.

J. P. Morgan in England; Says He's 'Feeling Fine'

IMPROVED 12TH ST. BEACH OPENS TODAY; SPACE FOR 15,000

The 12th street beach, enlarged with 500,000 yards of sand and equipped with a bathhouse modeled after a naval training ship, will be opened today on Northerly Island in Burnham park. The old public beach at 12th street was closed in 1933 for A Century of Progress and during the Fair was operated by a concessionnaire.

The new beach will accomodate 15,000 bathers, who will be served by the buses now running to the Adler planetarium. Free automobile parking space will be provided.

Extra features of the beach, designed to make it the most attractive in the city, include gayly decorated chairs, tables, and umbrellas.

The beach will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily. Admission will be free, but fees will be charged for special services.

FOIL EXTORTION FROM BROTHER OF GEN. BUTLER

Suspect Flees as Money Is Hurled from Train.

Eastland, Tex., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A plot to extort $3,000 from Samuel Butler, wealthy Eastland oil man, under threats of harm to his children, was frustrated today when officers narrowly missed trapping the extortionist.

John W. Turner, Butler's legal adviser, related details of the threats, the trap and the near capture. The plot was the work of amateurs, authorities agreed.

Butler, president of the Arab Gasoline corporation and brother of the former marine commander, Gen. Smedley D. Butler, worked closely with federal and state officers after receiving the first of three notes demanding $3,000.

Hurls Money from Train.

The extortionist instructed Butler to "throw out the money" from a train when a verbal order was given him between Eastland and El Paso.

Complying with the instructions the oil man boarded the designated train early today. Two blocks from the Cisco station he heard the command. He hurled out a brief case. Simultaneously, one of the officers accompanying him threw a flare, lighting up the countryside.

A young man fled without trying to get the brief case containing $2,500.

Fifteen officers, in three automobiles, had been trailing the train, but the man eluded them.

Children Sent East.

The first extortion note, received July 25, threatened to "wipe out" either or both of Butler's children unless he paid. His children are Samuel Jr., 18, University of Texas student, and Helen, 16, high school senior. They were sent to Philadelphia to escape possible danger.

Mailed from Eastland, the first letter instructed Butler to register at a Fort Worth hotel and await further orders. Butler complied. He inserted a classified ad in a Fort Worth newspaper saying he was unable further to comply with instructions because the letter was received on primary election day and banks were closed.

A second letter on July 29 told Butler to take a train out of Fort Worth for Amarillo and drop the money on signal. In an effort to get further information for the officers, Butler inserted a second ad on July 30, saying he was unable to take that train. The second letter was mailed from Fort Worth.

The third letter, also mailed from Fort Worth, told him to take the train for El Paso and drop the money when commanded.

ANTI-NEW DEAL DEMOCRATS PLAN NATIONAL DRIVE

"Beat Roosevelt" to Be Their Theme.

under the banner of the constitutionalists, Reed said. He was doubtful if another candidate could be placed in the running at this late date.

Although the sessions were executive and the doors were closely watched, reports emanated from the hotel room tonight that a group of Southerners, with Bailey of Texas and Wright of Georgia among them, had counseled the conferees to withhold a unit indorsement of Gov. Landon.

Although a close bond of secrecy enshrouded the conferees when they emerged during recesses from their parley, there was no doubting their private opinions. These almost all expressed quite freely before entering their hotel meeting place.

Mr. Kirby seemed to epitomize the opinions of most of the Detroit conferees when interviewed this morning. He was one of the sponsors of the southern Grass Roots conference at Macon, Ga., last year, along with Gov. Eugene Talmadge. That partnership apparently has ended, Mr. Kirby telling reporters that he understands that Talmadge "has gone over to the New Deal."

"I'm going to support the Republican ticket," Mr. Kirby told the newspaper men.

"Why?" he was asked.

"No Democratic Ticket."

"Because I have no Democratic ticket to vote for," came the answer. "Hundreds of thousands of Democrats won't vote for the New Deal. But I'm not claiming Texas for the Republican party as yet. I've been a good Democrat all my life and I still am a good Democrat. I believe in the ageless and changeless principles of Jefferson."

Col. Breckinridge is for the Landon-Knox ticket because "their election will put an end to the menaces threatening our national institutions, and because they will bring common sense to our fiscal affairs and prevent the country from being boondoggled into bankruptcy."

Sees Good Chance in South.

J. Reid Hobson of Richmond, a relative of Richard P. Hobson, the hero of Santiago, believes that the Republican ticket has a "good chance" to carry several southern states, including Virginia and Florida.

"Carter Glass and Harry Byrd would be here with me if they weren't in office," Hobson said, referring to the two United States senators from Virginia, both of whom have sailed into the New Deal upon occasion.

Two officials of the First Voters' League, Inc., New York, an organization of those who never before have cast a ballot in a general election, were heard by the conference and copies of their remarks made public. Alfred Morton Lilienthal, president, and Amos Schermerhorn, both of New York, came to Detroit to approve the action of the conferees.

"We respect the courage which brings you here," read the First Voters' statement. "Yours is the difficult position to bring guidance to bewildered Democrats who do not know where to turn. A wilful group has usurped their party standard. While it takes strength and courage even under those circumstances to turn one's back on the standard for which one has so valiantly fought in the past, patriotism is above all party fealty.

"Salute Such Patriotism."

"We, the First Voters' league, deem it a great privilege to salute such patriotism, and hope that in later life we shall have courage to do the same under similar circumstances.

"President Roosevelt tells us that the people of this country have political equality, but that they have lost economic equality. He says we must look to government to do things for us which our elders, when young, did for themselves. We, members of the First Voters' league, disagree. We believe there still is opportunity in the country and that President Roosevelt's methods, instead of helping us, are closing the doors of opportunity to the younger generation. This he has done by his continuous attacks on business, industries, and enterprises that are the main sources of jobs for youth.

Ask Removal of Shackles.

"We have come to Detroit to ask you to advocate the removal of these restraints and attacks on business in which the Roosevelt administration has so freely indulged. That, in our opinion, is the one best way in which you can help the youth of this country and aid in reducing the tremendous unemployment problem which President Roosevelt has failed to solve despite the expenditure of billions. The best unemployment insurance is employment assurance. Will you help us get that assurance?

"We also request that you allow the First Voters' league to be the medium through which there can be the united action of youth. There are millions of first presidential voters who would follow your leadership. Let them gather with those of their own age in the First Voters' league so that by concerted action fruitful results will follow and youth's opportunities in an unregimented state will be preserved."

COLVIN DECLARES HE'LL WIN VOTES OF TOWNSENDITES

Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, candidate for President on the Prohibition party ticket, said in Chicago yesterday that a great many of those interested in the Townsend pension plan will vote for him in November instead of for William Lemke, the candidate of the Union party, who is being supported by Dr. Francis E. Townsend.

Dr. Colvin is on his way to the Pacific coast and plans to speak in 35 states. He said he has already spoken in 11 of the 40 states in which the dry party expects to have candidates.

"Those interested in the Townsend plan know that the Prohibition party represents a constructive moral program which includes acknowledgement of the government's obligation to the aged," Dr. Colvin said. "Prohibition failed in this country because it was badly administered by appointees of parties which tried to court both wets and drys. Both major parties have shown themselves to be organically incapable of representing the moral issues of the country."

DITCHBURNE ASKS GRAND JURIES TO END VOTE FRAUD

Election frauds never will be stopped in Chicago until the state's attorney does his full duty by taking such cases before grand juries, members of the Executives' club were told yesterday at a meeting in the Hotel Sherman by Harry S. Ditchburne, Republican nominee for state's attorney.

He pointed out the inadequacy of merely prosecuting election judges and clerks in the County court for contempt of court. He declared that the county judge, no matter how conscientious, does not have the power or facilities to cope with the situation.

Regardless of the effect of the permanent registration law, Ditchburne said, ballot evils in all probability will occur again unless curbed by a vigorous grand jury investigation. He added that grand juries should be completely unleashed for such an inquiry instead of being bridled with a set docket of cases.

Sidney Toler Fails to Reach Film Studio; Search Begun

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Sidney Toler, movie heavy, failed to report for work at a studio in Culver City today and fears were expressed that he had met with foul play or had been injured in a traffic accident. A search was started.

Taken to Hospital

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—In the name of peace, 40 pounds of feathers were scattered today over the office and person of Harry H. Woodring, acting secretary of war.

Woody Hockaday of Wichita, Kas., who did the scattering, attired in red shorts and shouting "feathers instead of bullets," was taken into custody by police before he carried out a threat to "dust the Supreme court" also.

He was placed in Gallinger hospital for mental observation.

"This is only the beginning of my feather throwing," Hockaday told reporters after his invasion of the war office.

Calling himself "Chief Pow Wow," he said sensational methods were necessary to attract attention to peace.

LINDBERGH VISITS BREWERY; TAKES NOT ONE DRINK

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 7. —(AP) — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh spent five hours in a Copenhagen brewery today—but he didn't drink any beer.

Seeking a respite from three days of hard work at the Biological institute, which is partly financed by the brewery through a foundation, the American flyer asked to see the plant, a nonprofit institution.

The chief director, Hjelte Clausen, escorted him. The colonel spent two hours studying the art of making beer. The remainder of the time was spent lunching and inspecting various paraphernalia, including the copper kettle in which the first beer was brewed here in 1847. The plant is Denmark's biggest brewery.

COUGHLIN OFFER TO BET $25,000 ON LEMKE IS TAKEN

Providence, R. I., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Frederick L. Jenckes of this city today telegraphed the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin he would be willing to limit a $25,000 Lemke-Landon voting bet to Rhode Island, and gave the radio priest until Aug. 18 to raise his share of the wager.

If the bet now goes through, it stands that Mr. Jenckes bets $16,666.66 against Father Coughlin's $25,000 that Alfred M. Landon will poll more votes on the Republican ticket in this state than William Lemke will on the Union party ticket.

LANDON ACCEPTS ROOSEVELT BID TO CONFERENCE

Drouth Session in Iowa Next Month.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Gov Alf M. Landon today accepted provisionally an invitation from President Roosevelt to attend a meeting of governors of drouth stricken states in Iowa during the early part of September.

Gov. Landon also made public the first part of his itinerary for his eastern campaign trip which starts from Denver on Aug. 20. He will enter Illinois on the morning of Aug. 21, with brief stops at Sterling, Dixon, and De Kalb. He will pass through Chicago at night on his way to Pennsylvania. A rear platform talk will be made by the governor at Dixon at 7:40 p. m.

Tells Duty to Kansas.

On receiving newspaper notice of the President's invitation, the governor made the following statement:

"If there is any meeting anywhere at any time of benefit to Kansas, I will attend as governor of Kansas. Kansas has coöperated in every instance with the federal government and all its agencies dealing with any emergency or relief measures."

The governor's plans for the early part of September still are in a formative stage, although he is expected to begin a second eastern trip about that time. This would not, however, he added, interfere with attending a drouth conference.

State Duties First.

"My work as governor of Kansas always comes ahead," he said.

The governor and the President have met before. He attended a conference of representatives of oil states called by the President in 1933. He was the only governor who responded. Other states sent representatives. He also, in company with Senator Arthur Capper, talked over CCC camps with the President and drew attention to the first bill which fixed these camps on the national domain. The bill was amended to include state domain.

The governor also discussed with the President the use of this labor in building farm ponds to conserve water in Kansas. This was the first suggestion along that line.

Landon's Itinerary.

Selects Three Cities.

While Gov. Landon selected the first three speaking points of his campaign, West Middlesex, Pa.; Buffalo, and Chautauqua, N. Y., pressure from the rest of the country to see and hear this new national figure has become to great that it has been impossible to make an early decision on the details of his itineraries. Republican national headquarters have these in charge, but the final o. k. must come from Landon. He is the boss of his campaign.

Special pleas have been made to him in the last day or two to come to Rochester, N. Y., on his first trip, but he has decided, it is reported, to put that off for the second eastern swing in September. Rochester, a conservative community of high class labor and business, has been epublican territory until the last few years, and the swing back has been noted there by the state leaders. They wanted Landon to hold a conference there with upstate Republican leaders, and this is what will be done later.

Return to Republicanism.

Upstate New York, like downstate Illinois, like Michigan, Iowa, and many other old Republican sections, has been turning back to Republicanism during the last two years and the campaign effort is to take this tide and roll it up into a mighty country majority that will overcome the administration fed Democratic machines of the big cities.

The outcome of the Tennesee primary yesterday is regarded here as an indication that the federal-state New Deal organizations, with all the WPA and other alphabetical job holder support, are not invulnerable and are beginning to crack in many places. Col. Luke Lea's victory in Tennessee with his candidate, Gordon Browning, over the McKellar-McAllister Crump machine, would appear to give the Republican chances in that TVA ridden state an upward swing.

Gov. Landon's campaign must be based on the fact that he is not widely known in the country and that everybody wants to see him. Invitations are becoming more and more pressing from state leaders for him to make at least a rear platform appearance. In this style of campaigning he is said to be excellent.

DIES ON PARK BENCH.

Emil Carlson, 65 years old, a casual, died of heart disease yesterday while sleeping on a bench in Grand Crossing park at 77th street and Ingleside avenue.

DR. WISE CRITICIZES JEWS WHO CONCEAL RACE AND RELIGION

GENEVA, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish congress, today criticized Jews who look on their Jewry "as a mournful fact to be concealed and minimized."

Outlining the work before the world Jewish congress opening here tomorrow night, Dr. Wise urged members of his race not to be what he called weak-kneed by hiding their race and religion, but confident that by unity they could solve their problems.

"Our congress is not an improvisation," he said. "It is not a council of desperation, but one of hope."

Asked if Jews from Germany would be among the delegates, Wise replied, "No. If they came, they would never be able to return to Germany."

He criticized "the ghetto notion that Jews dare not openly and unitedly speak and act in their own behalf. "We believe that civilization will respect our determination to speak and act for ourselves."

PRESIDENT WILL ASK LANDON TO DROUTH PARLEY

Roosevelt Drafts Plans for Conferences.

directly to the Dakotas without pausing along the way for the first conference with governors. He said he probably will remain in the area two or three days before leaving for Wisconsin for his second conference.

Allowig for visits enroute Mr. Roosevelt wil probably get to Des Moines about Labor day. From Iowa he will swing on to the conference with governors of the eastern drouth area. Mr. Roosevelt said he has not yet decided where the fourth conference will be held.

Mr. Roosevelt said he wanted to see conditions at first hand because he is a great believer in getting information through the eye rather than by ear. The conferences will be held with state and federal officials after a view of the situation in the states involved.

Three Features to Problem.

The conferences will follow three major features of the problem, he said. The first is to be consideration of immediate relief which can be and is being taken care of and should be pretty well along by the time he arrives, the President said.

Secondly they will consider the coming winter and spring because by the time the first snow flies work will have to cease on the building of check dams, soil erosion prevention and outdoor work generally. The conferees will have to find ways of continuing relief, the seed problem, mortgages and similar problems.

Lastly he continued, consideration will have to be given to long range planning. This subject will be developed when he meets with members of the great plains drouth committee who shortly will set out on an inspection tour of the western drouth area.

Cooke Heads Committee.

The committee is headed by Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification adminis trator, Resettlement Administrator, Tugwell, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Col. Richard C. Moore of the army engineering corps, WPA Administrator Hopkins, Frederick H. Fowler, who is making a study of drainage basins for the national resources board, and John C. Payne, director of the bureau of reclamation.

Mr. Roosevelt said he has no other definite plans except to accept a long standing invitation to attend a homecoming celebration of seven southern states at Charlotte, N. C., on Sept. 10, and to attend the international power conference at Washington Sept. 11.

The President said he has received many invitations to attend state fairs during his western swing but has turned all down because he does not propose to mix politics with the drouth inspection. He was moved to turn down the invitations to speak he said because he learned that candidates will attend the fairs to stump for office.

Mr. Roosevelt said he will return to Washington Monday morning and will remain for three or four days. Late next week he may inspect the flood areas in New York and Pennsylvania, although he has not definitly decided to do so. He will, however, leave the White House for the inspection or a return to Hyde Park.

Four Greek Leaders Protest to King Against Dictatorship

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Four Greek political leaders, including former Premier George Caphandaris, called at the palace today to protest to King George against what they termed the dictatorial abrogation of constitutional government.

Their statement followed by only 24 hours a pronouncement by members of the liberal party formed by the late Eleutherios Venizelos that the king had broken a solemn promise of constitutional government when he established Premier John Metaxas as military dictator Aug. 5.

King Gets a Warning.

A convulsive upheaval might result under the dictatorship, they warned, and the once exiled king might have the scepter taken from his hand by popular demand.

Others in the delegation with Caphandaris were Alexander Papanastasiou, chief of the agricultural party, and Charilaos Vozikis, head of the Tsaldaris Populist party.

"The king gave us his most serious attention," Caphandaris said in a statement, "to our criticism of his action abrogating constitutional rights.

"We announced our opposition to the present régime. We would have consented to extreme measures against any communist uprising but we remain adamant against Metaxas' declaration of a new state."

Apparently unperturbed, the king left the capital for a short holiday on Corfu Island, while the premier began a new program of economy under martial law. Censorship of press dispatches leaving the country was lifted, but locally newspapers still were not allowed to express opinion.

Action Again Defended.

The government issued another statement aimed at justifying its action on the grounds that the premier's policies would act as a neutralizer for communism. Metaxas charged the communists with fomenting agitation against the government which was climaxed by a half-hearted general strike.

Many communists and liberals asserted to be communists have been arrested.

[Vienna advices described the situation in Greece as pregnant with widespread unrest and dissatisfaction.]

The capital was quiet and the only outward evidence of changed condition was the presence of unusual numbers of soldiers in the streets.

PATRIOTS LAUNCH VOLUNTEER UNITS IN OTHER STATES

Militant Spirit Reaches Far Corners of U. S.

Inspired by the militant spirit of patriotism motivating THE VOLUNTEERS, citizens in many other cities throughout the country have requested VOLUNTEERS headquarters on the 17th floor of Tribune Tower to furnish them with programs for forming additional units of the organization dedicated to a campaign for a return to governmental sanity in national affairs.

From Denver yesterday came a query by W. C. McKelvey, one of the campaign executives of the Republican candidate for governor of Colorado, asking assistance in organizing a VOLUNTEERS group to function throughout his state.

Plan a Unit in Florida.

At the southeastern extremity of the nation the work of the VOLUNTEERS appealed to J. J. Meredith, head of a firm of consulting engineers in Miami, Fla. He signed a pledge card while on a visit to Chicago and left for his home well supplied with information for combating the New Deal and setting up a Miami VOLUNTEERS unit.

Mark J. Andrews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Harlan, Ky., wrote to VOLUNTEER headquarters that he "would be happy to enlist his friends" in the rapidly spreading movement.

These requests typify the character of THE VOLUNTEERS, made up almost entirely of citizens who have no interest in politics, as such. They espouse the movement only because it offers an opportunity to perform a patriotic duty.

Many Public Officials Join.

THE VOLUNTEERS number in their membership Col. Frank Knox, Republican candidate for Vice President; George F. Getz, former treasurer of the Republican national committee, and numerous public officials. The activities of THE VOLUNTEERS are as the name signifies, on a strictly voluntary basis. The organization is open to every one.

The women's division forged ahead with the announcement yesterday of the appointment of Mrs. John K. Russell of 317 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, to lead activities in the west suburban territory. Former head of the Oak Park Civic league, a leader in infant welfare organizations and a widely known club woman, Mrs. Russell will have in her charge forty-six towns in west Cook, Du Page, Kendall, and Kane counties.

Mrs. Russell is sponsoring a rally at 8 p. m. Monday at 1047 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, to which have been invited candidates for the state legislature and a number of public officials.

Will Open Headquarters.

VOLUNTEER headquarters in Oak Park are soon to be opened at 3 West Madison street.

Phil Maxwell, chairman of the music division, announced that a children's meeting will be held next Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the headquarters, at which the young friends of THE VOLUNTEERS will be taught a campaign song.

The music division's song leader will be Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler of 2626 North Fairfield avenue, president of the Chicago Society of Ohio Women and secretary of the American Opera society.

In Kendall county, THE VOLUNTEERS held a massmeeting last night in the courthouse at Yorkville. It was sponsored by Gordon Leitch, chairman of the Republican county central committee.

Another county central committee chairman, Benjamin Miller of Libertyville in Lake county, became a VOLUNTEER yesterday.

Pianist, 11, Offers Services.

An 11 year old pianist, Teddy Berg of 5717 Ridge avenue, offered his services yesterday to VOLUNTEER meetings. The 25 members of the American Speakers club of 35 East Wacker drive joined the organization, and the first of its members will go into action tonight at the annual meeting of the American Loyalists, Inc., to be held at 6401 West Grand avenue. He is Arthur J. Bond.

Persons of the widest range of talents have become VOLUNTEERS. Among them is Loula Jay Sampson of 196 East Delaware place, a coach of speakers, who offered to train fellow VOLUNTEERS.

So great has been the public response to THE VOLUNTEERS that headquarters announced yesterday it is virtually impossible to comply with written requests for membership and membership cards.

"We hope that every one who wants to join with us will come to VOLUNTEER headquarters to make personal application," it was announced.

DECLARES LABOR IS TURNING AWAY FROM NEW DEAL

William Hutcheson, president of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and newly appointed director of the labor division of the Republican national committee, declared in Chicago yesterday that there is a rapidly increasing demand among union labor men for a change in administration.

"There is intense dissatisfaction in the ranks over the New Deal," said Hutcheson. "On the other hand, Gov. Landon, in coming out squarely for the right of labor to organize without coercion, has won many friends.

"Carpenters, masons and other building trades men know that there has been some upturn in building, but realize it will be shortlived without genuine business recovery. They know that the FHA and HOLC have been costly experiments, and that employment depends mainly on private enterprise. For these reasons Republican prospects in the labor field are growing brighter every day."

KING OF BRITAIN HOPS TODAY FOR MEDITERRANEAN

Plans Yacht Cruise in Spite of Row on Spain.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Despite the serious international situation arising from Spain's civil war, it was announced today that King Edward VIII. of England will proceed with his plans for a vacation on the Mediterranean, focal point of the present rift in the comity of nations.

The king plans to take off for Paris tomorrow in his Red Dragon plane and proceed thence to Sebenik, Jugo-Slavia, on the Adriatic. There he will board Lady Yule's million dollar yacht Nahlin, which is rented for a month's cruise along the Dalmatian coast and through the Greek Isles.

Take Decision Reassuringly.

As it is known that the foreign office and Buckingham palace have been studying both Spain and Greece, where a dictatorship has been set up to deal with a communist general strike threat, the decision of Edward to proceed with his holiday plans was taken reassuringly here tonight.

Otherwise, however, the European situation looks, if anything, worse. Nazi anger at the shooting of four German nationals in Barcelona is keeping British officialdom on tenterhooks and alarm is undisguised at the possibility that Reichsfuehrer Hitler will make some rash move that would threaten peace.

The Nahlin, on which King Edward will cruise, was coaled today at Malta after a trip from Southampton to the Mediterranean through the troubled Strait of Gibraltar. It will proceed from Malta to Sebenik to take on the king Monday.

The Royal Guests.

The king will have as his guests aboard the yacht Lord and Lady Louis Mountbatten, Lord and Lady Brownlow, Lady Cunard, Lord Sefton, and the early of Dudley. There probably will be other guests, but they have not been publicly announced. Among the others may be Alfred Duff Cooper, war secretary, and Lady Diana Manners, his wife.

Edward is traveling incognito as the duke of Lancaster so no royal salutes will be necessary. He wants to be undisturbed.

That his majesty's plans are not altogether fixed seemed indicated by other dispatches today saying the duke and duchess of Kent, brother and sister-in-law of the king, who also are holidaying in Jugo-Slavia, have rented a villa near Dubrovnik, on the Dalmatian coast, ostensibly for the use of Edward.

All reports that the king would stop at Venice, near which Mussolini is spending a holiday, have been denied here.

'PRETTY PICTURE' OF RADIO PRIEST IS ABANDONED

ROME, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Bishop Michael Gallagher abandoned today his efforts to present to the Vatican what he called a "pretty picture" of Father Charles E. Coughlin's political activities.

Preparing to leave for Austria Monday, the bishop said the absence of Cardinal Giulio Serafini, prefect of the congregation of the council, the Vatican's disciplinary body, caused him to forego his effort to dispel any possible doubts as to the radio priest's activities.

The bishop added the discussion anyhow probably would be "superfluous."

COL. KNOX AND WIFE AMONG 1,449 TO SIGN NEW POLL BOOK IN DAY

Col. Frank Knox, Republican candidate for vice president, and his wife, Mrs. Annie Reid Knox, 209 Lake Shore drive, were among the 1,449 persons who visited the election commissioners' office in the city hall yesterday to enroll on the poll lists under the new permanent registration plan.

Col. and Mrs. Knox were registered by Alexander J. McKay, president of the commission, and Chief Clerk John F. Rusch. They were enrolled after declaring that they had lived in Illinois for more than five years.

Of yesterday's registrants, 1,117 were men and 332 women. Since the registration began on Monday a total of 7,567 persons have registered under the new system.

ROOSEVELT WILL FACE SHOWDOWN ON LABOR SPLIT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Some members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor have determined to seek a White House showdown on the position of President Roosevelt in the internal rift in the ranks of organized labor.

Whether the visit of Charlton Ogburn, general counsel of the A. F. of L., at Hyde Park today was a part of this program was not disclosed, but the craft union chiefs in the council want definite and personal assurance from the President that he is not leaning toward the Lewis industrial union movement. Ten unions connected with the Committee for Industrial Organization, of which John L. Lewis is chairman, have been ordered suspended by the executive council if they refuse to drop the C. I. O. by Sept. 5.

The old line chiefs who control the A. F. of L. in opposition to Lewis and his associates, desire a guaranty from the President not only to shun partisanship for the industrial union movement, but to avoid favor for the "rebel" labor leader in the event of Mr. Roosevelt's reëlection.

The insistence upon further pledges from the White House came as threats of warfare between the A. F. of L. leadership and the C. I. O. developed to such an extent that public approval was expressed by Arthur O. Wharton, a member of the executive council, for the creation of a rival miners' union.

HAMILTON FINDS PRAIRIE FIRE IN MOUNTAIN AREAS

G. O. P. Workers on Toes in Idaho, Washington.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Republican county chairmen and party workers reported to John Hamilton, national chairman, that in the last two weeks the situation in Idaho and Washington has swung toward the G. O. P. In conferences at Boise last night and this morning and at Spokane this afternoon and evening party workers, many of whom drove 300 to 500 miles, declared the Landon sentiment has swept from the prairies into the mountain states and that for the first time in six years the party organizations are on their tiptoes down to the precincts.

At Boise last night an open air audience of 5,000 from near and far listened to Mr. Hamilton and was demonstrative from time to time. This morning at breakfast plans for getting organization work into high speed were made as in the other states so far covered. Former senator John Thomas of Idaho, after reviewing the situation, said: "Indications are Landon will carry Idaho. The swing toward the Republican ticket has been astonishing in the last fortnight; our canvasses in the counties show a remarkable swing."

May Miss Borah Parley.

Whether Senator William E. Borah will confer with Hamilton during the tour appeared somewhat conjectural tonight. Hamilton went to Coeur d' Alene at noon and addressed a meeting of party workers in the Masonic temple and an open air gathering in the park.

Ezra Whitlaw, national committeeman, reported that he had been busy on long distance and had been unable to locate Borah but that the senator was said to be campaigning in the central part of the state.

Yesterday the senator suggested Spokane or Coeur d' Alene as a possible place for a conference on the Idaho and national situations, and tonight there was a possibility it may be held in Spokane tomorrow.

His Activities Conjectural.

What activity Borah may take in the national campaign is still conjectural, and it was surmised by his friends today that he might not make known whether he will take the platform for the national ticket until the Aug. 11 primaries are over.

In the Idaho capital Borah's friends are working for Landon and declare the senator is friendly towards the ticket, but whether he will take to the platform is uncertain.

In Boise, general talk among the Republicans is that Borah is a ten to one shot for reëlection as senator. Gov. C. Ben Ross is the Democratic candidate. The Townsend pension plan group has endorsed Byron Defenbach of Boise, Republican candidate against Borah in the primaries, while the Lemke third party group is expected to indorse Borah.

"Wallace in Blunderland."

Chairman Hamilton today used potato imports as an answer to Secretary Wallace's statement designed to meet Hamilton's criticisms of the effects of the Canadian reciprocal trade agreement. In the home of the famous Idaho potato, Hamilton spoke of "Wallace in Blunderland."

"Mr. Wallace," he said, "should have studied the official report which revealed that 20,700,000 pounds of Irish seed potatoes were imported from Canada since Jan. 1, 1936, and imports of wheat from Canada for July of this year amounted to 4¾ million bushels as against 600,000 for the same month last year.

"Mr. Wallace says I know nothing of the problems of agriculture. That may be true and if so that puts Mr. Wallace and myself in the same boat.

"But the difference, unfortunately for our farmers, lies in the fact that Mr. Wallace is in a position where he can do harm and I am not."

SAYS NEW DEAL 'MACHINE' USED TO DEFEAT HIM

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The direct charge that the powerful New Deal patronage machine was used to assure his defeat in last Saturday's primary for the Democratic nomination for United States senator was made today by former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham.

Intimating that assessments were levied by the federal "office-holders' machine" on New Deal employés, Mr. Beckham, long a power in state politics, created a sensation by charging that the federal election laws were violated and calling on Washington for an investigation.

COL. KNOX OPENS VOTE DRIVE INTO 35 STATES TODAY

Starts Campaign in Indiana Tonight.

Frank Knox, Republican nominee for vice president, starts today on a campaign tour that will take him to 35 states and during which he is to make 70 speeches. Clarence J. Brown, national committee representative on Col. Knox's staf, said the itinerary is the "toughest, nightingest schedule ever laid out for a candidate."

The Chicago publisher will be kept on the go until ten days before the election, Nov. 3. In the last ten days he will go "where his voice will be most needed and where it will do the most good," Republican leaders said. The candidate himself said he is going to fight New Deal ideas with everything he has.

Opens Indiana Drive Tonight.

Today Col. Knox will attend a luncheon at the Columbia club in Indianapolis. At 8:15 p. m. tonight he will speak at Connersville, Ind., at the opening of the Indiana state Republican campaign. His speech will be broadcast over Indiana stations.

The vice presidential candidate then will depart for White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he will remain until Aug. 18, with the exception of a visit to Huntington, W. Va., where he is to speak at the Republican state convention there on Aug. 13.

On Aug. 19, he will address a meeting of the United Retail Merchants' association, which comprises all retail merchants of Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, and Pennsylvania, at Hagerstown, Md. An audience of 60,000 is expected. Col. Knox said he would speak on the New Deal's effect on the small business man.

New England Tour Planned.

From Aug. 20 to Aug. 26 he will be at Manchester, N. H., working on the speeches he is to make.

Beginning Aug. 31 he will make a tour of New England and on Sept. 2 he will enter Maine. He will tour that state on Sept. 3 and 4, with back platform speeches and night meetings probably at Bangor and Portland. An address is scheduled for the afternoon of Sept. 5 at Fogelsville, Pa.

The party will leave Fogelsville on the night of Sept. 5 and on Sept. 7 Col. Knox will be the guest of honor at a homecoming of the alumni of Alma College, Alma, Mich., of which he is a trustee. Col. Knox was graduated from Alma college in 1898.

Westward from Michigan.

From Michigan the vice presidential candidate will head westward, to Seattle, Wash. From there he will turn southward and through Oregon and California. On the way back east, Col. Knox will stop off in Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, and probably Colorado, then will visit a number of middle western states, returning in time to attend the Republican state convention at Grand Rapids, Mich., on Sept. 29.

The stops on the western tour have not been decided upon, and neither have his travel after the Grand Rapids convention. He said, however, that he expected to be "on the move."

THRONGS FLOCK TO HEAR BROOKS AS HIS CAMPAIGN QUICKENS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cuba, Ill., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—It is hard to believe the Republican picture that is seen now in southern and central Illinois, three months before the election, veteran political observers commented today. They declare that the spring primary, uniting the Republicans of the state, and the popularity of the national ticket selected at Cleveland have created something hero that is midway between a Kansas tornado and a prairie fire.

Last night Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor, went to speak at New Douglas, a hamlet of 350 population. There were more than 7,000 people present. This is by actual count of men who distributed Brooks and Landon buttons. There weren't enough buttons.

At Cuba today Brooks lashed the Roosevelt administration for taking money from Illinois and spending it in Democratic states. "The federal government in 1935 took $324,000,000 from Illinois and gave back about $130,000,000," he said.

Later today, at Carthage, Mr. Brooks was welcomed to the community's annual celebration with a sunflower decked parade and a crowd of 5,000. He spoke at Princeville in the evening and then went to his farm, where he will be host to the Republican Editorial association's annual picnic tomorrow.

CHICAGOAN LEADS NEW CITIZENS IN NEW DEAL FIGHT

Mobilization of naturalized American citizens in the fight to defeat the New Deal was begun yesterday by the Republican national committee with appointment of J. V. Houghtaling, 1408 Norfolk avenue, Westchester, to direct the western division of the naturalized citizens' department.

"One out of every five voters in the United States today is a naturalized citizen," said Arthur M. Curtis, assistant chairman of the national committee, in announcing Houghtaling's appointment.

"The importance of preserving the real America for these people who came here to enjoy the liberties and opportunities they could not have in their own lands is obvious."

Mr. Houghtaling, an advertising man, was supervisor of nationality events at the Century of Progress Exposition.

John Coefield of Washington, D. C., was appointed assistant to the director of the labor division of the national committee. Mr. Coefield is president of the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters of America, and is fourth vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

STEALS HAM; GETS 60 DAYS.

Walter Shephard, 35 years old, 6040 South Union avenue, a WPA employé, was fined $1 and sentenced to 60 days in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge Leon Edelman for stealing a 15 pound ham from a store at 520 West 69th street.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

RATTLES

By CALEB

A MAN of some importance bought his wife an expensive automobile for her birthday. It was a beautiful car. She enjoyed driving it and taking her friends about in it. But a distressing little rattle annoyed her whenever she left the smoothest streets.

The garage which sold the car tried to locate the rattle. They tightened and re-lubricated everything. The rattle showed up again the next day.

A second time they examined the car—and retightened all parts. The rattle remained. The irate purchaser said, "Locate and remove this annoying rattle or I won't keep the car."

Then the manager of the automobile agency personally supervised an inch by inch examination of the car. In an hour the rattle was found—and instantly removed. A careless mechanic had left a small nut in an empty oil can! That oil can was resting securely in a clip under the hood of the car and the mite of iron rattled and danced on all rough streets.

The important point is that a two-for-a-penny nut almost ruined the sale of a $4,000 car. The president of the company that made the car could talk of quality and fine workmanship all he pleased. The corporation could advertise with expensive colored illustrations in all the fine magazines. But the little nut made foolish all the high-hat claims.

In all businesses, one of the greatest problems of management is to keep little nuts and bolts out of empty oil cans. It is a problem to which we devote much time. We receive many oral and written compliments every week on the service we render—on the courtesy of individuals here who have done an outstanding service to customers—on our successfully executing some difficult assignment. But we do not delude ourselves by listening too lingeringly to the good things we are told. We are intent on eliminating insofar as possible all the little things which are not representative of our ideals of service.

If you know wherein we can do a better job, if you know where a little "rattle" exists which spoils the service we render, we would rather be told that than to hear a compliment. We accept compliments, but we invite your suggestions and criticisms. We are anxious to make our service continuously better.

'RUBBER STAMP' NEW DEAL LAWS ASSAILED BY BAR

Majority Report Is Filed Against Roosevelt.

The 59th annual meeting of the American Bar association, to be held in Boston Aug. 24 to 28, will be the most significent conclave in the history of the law profession in this country, association members here said yesterday. The effect of New Deal legislation on the rights and liberties of American citizens will be reported on by a special committee of the association and discussed by the entire membership.

The conclusions of the committee were made public yesterday in Washington, D. C. The majority report "deplored" the action of President Roosevelt in reducing congress to a "rubber stamp" body to carry through his program of radical legislation.

Find Trends Uncertain.

"Novel legislative and governmental trends of the New Deal are just as uncertain today as they were two years ago," the report said. "Laws specifically proposed as emergency measures with limited life have been declared by important members of the administration to be the beginning of permanent changes in national policy.

"There has been a continuing conflict between such officials as to whether a new social and economic order is in the making or the old institutions are being perfected so that they may be preserved."

Deplore Roosevelt's Action.

In discussing the passage of legislation which later was held unconstitutional by the United States Supreme court, the report said: "One who would preserve our constitutional system must deplore the action of President Roosevelt in recommending that members of congress set aside any doubts they might have about the validity of proposed legislation. If, in this way, an increasing burden is cast upon the [Supreme] court, our traditional policy is bound to collapse."

The majority report was signed by John D. Clark, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Fred H. Davis, Tallahassee, Fla.; George L. Buist, Charleston, S. C., and Charles P. Taft II., Cincinnati, O.

File Minority Report.

A minority report, challenging the findings of the majority, was prepared by Kenneth Wynne, New Haven, Conn.; Fred L. Williams, St. Louis, Mo., and James G. McGowen of Jackson, Miss. Criticizing the majority report, they said: "If the purpose of the resolution creating the special committee was to get the opinion of the American Bar association regarding legislative trends designed to meet changing economic conditions, the report is superficial. It does not deal with the problem but conerns itself with a short range attack on surface trivialities."

The sharp divergence between the two reports presages a conflict and heated discussion at the association meeting. The reports will be presented at the session on the afternoon of Aug. 27.

New Organization Plan.

The meeting will open Monday, Aug. 24, with an address of welcome and the response by Stanley Reed, solicitor general of the United States. A report on a plan for improved and representative organization of the association will then be presented. The need for coördination of activities and elimination of undesirable elements in the law profession will be discussed. In the evening Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law school and Judge Merrill E. Otis of the federal District court at Kansas City, Mo., will speak.

On Aug. 25 delegates to the meeting will convene in sections. At luncheon, Lord Thankerton, lord of appeal in ordinary of London, will make an address. Various committees will meet in the afternoon.

Revise Rules of Procedure.

The next day will come the important report of a special committee recommending new rules of procedure for federal District courts throughout the country. Maj. Edgar B. Tolman of the Chicago law firm of Tolman, Chandler & Dickinson, 30 North La Salle street, is a member of this committee. Major Tolman is also on the executive committee of the association and is editor in chief of the association's journal.

The new rules are intended to make uniform the procedure in all federal District courts and will save time and cost of litigation.

As explained by Maj. Tolman yesterday they unite equity and common law suits for the purpose of civil action. While equity procedure has been uniform throughout the country, procedure in law has usually been modeled on the methods of the individual states. The new rules will simplify pleadings and appeals to the higher federal courts.

"SHAKING DOWN" CONTRACTORS IS CHARGED TO PWA

Letter to Indiana Man Cited as Proof.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The Republican national committee charged today that the Public Works administration, under Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, is "shaking down" Indiana contractors, architects, and material men with which it does business to propagandize the PWA.

The charges of the Republican national committee, corroborated by a letter to an Indiana business man suggesting that he contribute "according to the amount of business received from the PWA," followed closely upon revelations that the WPA, under Harry L. Hopkins, has engaged the Pathe News to produce so-called newsreels at $4,280 each for the purpose of propagandizing WPA's bondoggling activities in theaters throughout the country.

Selling Advertising Space.

Moreover it has been disclosed that the Democratic congressional campaign committee is selling advertising space at $700 a page in a book to be called the Democratic Register. An advertisment in the Baltimore Sun stated that a "government publication" required the services of solicitors for this volume.

Representative Chester C. Bolton [Rep., O.] said the scheme was a good way to circumvent the corrupt practices act. since contributions made in the guise of advertising need not be reported. Also, he pointed out, the book could be sold to federal employés without violating the law prohibiting the solicitation of federal employés for political contributions.

Ickes Makes Denial.

The PWA "shakedown" was indignantly denied by Secretary Ickes, who called the charge "absurd," but the Republican national committee made public a letter said to have been received by an Indiana contractor which explained that each page of the PWA advertising matter would carry photographs of PWA projects, carrying the names of the contractors, architects, and material men. The remainder of the copy, the letter explained, would be prepared by State Director Logan of the PWA.

Secretary Ickes issued a formal statement, declaring:

"A thorough investigation of the absurd charge shows that a Republican newspaper, the Indianapolis News, an ardent supporter of Gov. Landon, has solicited advertising from contractors who held contracts with various Indiana municipalities for the construction of public works projects.

"The Public Works administration has no control over this Republican newspaper or its agents and solicitors."

Newspaper Defends Plan.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—A spokesman for the Indianapolis News said today the so-called "shakedown" of PWA contractors charged by the Republican national committee was a routine and bona fide advertising stunt of the newspaper. He asserted that the only connection Indiana PWA authorities had with it was that they sent out form letters to PWA contractors stating that the paper's promotional idea had their approval.

The News representative said the plan was to devote a full page of the paper to stories and pictures of Indiana PWA projects and display ads. The box ads, placed around the editorial matter, were to be sold to PWA contractors to defray the cost of the page.

The contractors, virtually all of whom are in local business, were invited by the newspaper to have their names and businesses advertised on the page. The spokesman said, however, that the plan was conceived only a few weeks ago and that none of the ads had been run.

STENCH BOMB HITS BARBER SHOP.

Moses Shalof, owner of a barber shop at 829 North Dearborn street, reported to the police yesterday that a stench bomb was hurled through the front window of the place Thursday night.

RETURN NO BILL ON POLICEMAN IN FATAL SHOOTING

The grand jury yesterday refused to indict Policeman Robert Smith of the Irving Park station on a charge of manslaughter for the death of Clarence Stell, 27 years old, 1751 North Campbell avenue, who was shot at a wedding celebration in the Odd Fellows hall at 5837 Irving Park boulevard early on July 26.

Evidence was presented to the jury for more than an hour and a half, and several witnesses were questioned and requestioned. Smith, who has been suspended from the force and will have a hearing before the police trial board, did not testify before the jury, to which he was held at a coroner's inquest.

Smith claimed self-defense at the time of the shooting. In plain clothes, he said, he tried to stop a fight in front of the hall among some celebrants and was mobbed and beaten. He denied firing his revolver. Some witnesses said Smith attempted to force his way into the party and drew his gun and shot Stell when he was being put out.

REFEREE TURNS THUMBS DOWN ON DRUGGAN'S BEER

Archie Cohen, federal referee in bankruptcy, yesterday recommended to Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward that he deny Terry Druggan's petition asking reorganization of a brewery under section 77B of the federal bankruptcy act.

Druggan, who operated seven breweries for Al Capone in prohibition days, sought to reopen a beer plant at 3324 Cermak road owned by the Mutual Ice and Beverage corporation, of which Druggan is reported to be the principal stockholder.

Judge Woodward held the corporation bankrupt on Oct. 30, 1935. John P. Sheehan, attorney for Druggan and other stockholders, broached the reorganization plan last May 19, after 124 creditors presented claims totaling $134,102. More than half of the creditors opposed reorganization, asking that the property be sold and the proceeds prorated.

JUDGE ALLABEN CRITICALLY ILL; IS GIVEN OXYGEN

Judge Max Allaben of the Circuit court in Kane, Kendall, Du Page, and De Kalb counties was reported in a critical condition at the Presbyterian hospital here yesterday. He suffered a heart attack in his home at 695 Main street, Glen Ellyn, Tuesday night. Since he was brought to the hospital here attending physicians have been administering oxygen, it was learned.

Judge Allaben, who was elected in 1932, was the first Democrat to be put on the Circuit bench in the Sixteenth judicial circuit in fifty years, presided in court at Wheaton Tuesday. He left the courthouse in apparent good health and suffered the heart attack after his evening meal at home.

Judge Allaben is 51 years old. He is married and the father of two daughters.

REP. ZIONCHECK DIES IN PLUNGE OF FIVE FLOORS

Leaves Note; Bride at Death Scene.

The legislator began his career of whoopee making appropriately enough early on New Year's day this year. He entered his apartment building and, finding no one at the desk, hit on a scheme for bringing out people wholesale to help him celebrate.

Zioncheck sat at the switchboard and plugged in every telephone in the building. The multiple ringing awakened the sleepers and Zioncheck, protesting bitterly, was led to the police station for the first time. There he was booked for drunkenness and disorderly conduct and fined $15.

A few months later the young congressman acquired a sleek, black automobile. At the wheel and gayly waving his hand at pedestrians, Zioncheck began to burn up the capital's streets. After some debate the local police decided he should be arrested. He was fined twice.

Then He Gets Married.

It was a few days after this escapade that romance entered his life in the person of Miss Rubye Louise Nix, 21 years old, a PWA stenographer.

Back in Washington to start his honeymoon, Zioncheck cooked up a stew, donned Indian headgear and demonstrated his ability as a ping-pong player. Mrs. Zioncheck stood by and enjoyed the show.

Another speedy spin his car led him to an arrest in Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac river from Washington, but by the time the court had reached the decision to fine him $66 and costs, Zioncheck and his bride were motoring southward.

Reaching Porto Rico, Zioncheck turned himself and his bride over to the protection of the marines when rioting became too hot for him. Undaunted, however, Zioncheck sent a cable to President Roosevelt declaring that he would clean up the trouble in a week if given command of the marines. It was here he introduced the Bald Pate cocktail, concocted of hair tonic and rum.

Bites Chauffeur in Neck.

Traveling on, Zioncheck and his wife came to the Virgin Islands where the congressman added to his exploits by biting the chauffeur in the neck and being ejected from the historic Bluebeard Castle hotel for lapping up his soup without using a spoon.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Benjamin J. Young the woman who had sublet her apartment to Zioncheck in Washington, had returned to inspect her home and found it a wreck. Mrs. Young, a magazine writer, wept over the damage to her treasured furniture and costly bric-a-brac and declared that the congressman should never darken her door again.

Battles With Landlady.

However, the redoubtable Zioncheck did come back, and after a tussle evicted his landlady and made himself and his bride at home.

Then followed June 1, one of the dizziest days in Zioncheck's career. Mrs. Zioncheck had fled for parts unknown and her husband decided to call upon President Roosevelt to help him regain his errant bride. His car slithered across the White House lawn and came to a stop at the executive wing.

He told the secret service operatives that he desired to ask the President for soldiers and artillery to blast out a local hotel where he thought his wife was hiding. The President, said the secret service men, was out.

The local police finally nabbed him in the grounds of the naval hospital and took him to Gallinger, a municipal institution, for examination.

The district commissioners charged Zioncheck with lunacy and a hearing was scheduled for the following week. In the interim Mrs. Zioncheck and congressmen who felt kindly toward their colleague obtained permission to send him to a private institution, the Sheppard & Enoch Pratt hospital at Towson, Md. The lunacy charge was dropped after Zioncheck had been transferred.

All was quiet until June 28 when Zioncheck leaped over a 7½ foot wire fence and lit out for Washington.

Put Off Plane Here.

After a meal and a shave Zioncheck was sent off on the night train for Seattle under the guidance of his friend, Kenneth Romney, sergeant at arms of the house. At Chicago he attempted to change to a plane, but was put off when it was learned Romney was not to accompany him further.

Romney said tonight that Mrs. Zioncheck would be given $10,000, the sum granted the widow of a congressman, in the legislative appropriations bill at the next session. Four house members and two senators will be appointed to attend the funeral.

Now it can be told that when some of the members of the house demanded that Zioncheck be unseated because of his escapades it was the late Speaker Joe Byrns who blocked the move.

Asserts U. S. Prison System Is Suffering from Overload

Fewer prison sentences and more scientific handling of inmates as a means of improving the effectiveness of the American prison system were suggested yesterday by Sanford Bates of Washington, federal director of prisons. Mr. Bates lectured before the school of social service administration at the University of Chicago.

The experience of the last century, he said, is proof that the existing prison system is not fulfilling its functions in that it has not reduced crime.

Bates declared that certain crimes punishable by prison sentences in this country are not similarly treated in Europe. He listed drunkenness and violations of narcotic laws by many dope addicts as examples. He advocates special treatment for these cases.

Treatment vs. Prison.

"Many dope addicts," Mr. Bates said, "violate the law by selling narcotics, but in most cases they do it to get money to buy dope for themselves. Instead of being sent to prison they should be sent to treatment camps."

He said that the United States Public Health Service has just opened a treatment camp at Lexington, Ky., to care for 1,000 addicts. Another is to be built at Fort Worth, Tex.

The prison population of the United States is far greater, in proportion to total population, than that in European countries, Bates declared. The prison population of this country he placed at 220,000, or eighteen-hundredths of 1 per cent of the total of 122,755,046 [1930 census].

In France, the prison population is 30,000, or seven-hundredths of 1 per cent; in Belgium, 4,000, or four-hundredths of 1 per cent; and in England [including Scotland, North Ireland and Wales], prison population is 11,000, or two-hundredths of 1 per cent.

Fewer Prisons, Less Crime.

"Reliable evidence from England," Bates said, "seems to show that there are less people in prison than fifty years ago and yet they have a lot less crime."

He emphasized that the fundamental principle in dealing with crime is the protection of the public and that incorrigibles and vicious criminals should be kept behind walled prisons. For the reformable type, however, he recommended work camps and other supervised projects.

REGISTER TO GET ALBERTA SOCIAL CREDIT DIVIDEND

Aberhart's Rule Insists Goal Is in Sight.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A 57 year old evangelist turned premier, who upset Alberta economic traditions with a program of social credit, tonight, his supporters asserted, was a step nearer his goal—a "just price" for commodities and payment of dividends to citizens.

Registration of citizens as a first step toward the dividends was under way throughout the province and the first "prosperity certificates" were in circulation.

Just one year ago this month William Aberhart's newly formed Social Credit party was elected. His platform included plans to cut deficits, decrease taxation, raise from $120,000,000 to $150,000,000 in new social credits and give to the people a "cultural heritage."

See Goal in Sight.

The "cultural heritage" would be made operative by payment of $25 monthly basic dividends. Residents of the province would not be required to pay it back.

The registration just begun, the administration asserted, brought the goal in sight. Business men, farmers, and other citizens were asked to fill in the form and subscribe to a covenant that would enable the government to speed production and adjust consumption through increased purchasing power.

Final plans for the payment of dividends, Premier Aberhart said, will be discussed by the legislature when registration has been completed.

Plans Interest-Free Loans.

The plan contemplates payment to every citizen of the monthly dividend suggested at $25. An automatic price control system will be introduced to fix a "just price" at which goods and services will be made available.

In return for industry's aid the government promised interest-free loans. But the manufacturer or producer would be pledged by the social credit covenant to effect reduction in costs and speed up production for consumption in the province.

The prosperity certificates now in circulation were designed as an aid to unemployment before the credit plan became effective.

How Certificates Work.

The certificates, of $1 denomination, are to be redeemed by the government and are taxable at the rate of 1 per cent of their face value each week. They may be redeemed at full value after being in use one month, providing sufficient 1 per cent stamps are affixed. Acceptance of the certificates is voluntary, but many merchants have signified their willingness to coöperate.

TIES UP SAILING BOAT HERE AFTER 30,000 MILE TRIP

FATALLY HURT IN CRASH.

West Frankfort, Ill., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Raymond Oleskiewicz, 18, died in a hospital here today from injuries received in an automobile accident. A car which he was driving collided with a truck. Two youths riding with him were injured.

Suicide Takes Last Member of Death-Stalked Family

Hudson, Mich., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—In 1929 a brother of Mrs. Albert Gould, 31, was killed in an automobile race. In 1935 her father dropped dead in Toledo. Six weeks ago her mother, Mrs. Alta Aungst, shot herself to death. This afternoon Mrs. Gould, the last of the Aungst family, was found shot to death by her own hand at her farm near here. Her husband is her only survivor.

LEGISLATORS OF COUNTY PLEDGE 'L' HIGHWAY AID

Hear Expert Tell Plans to End Massacre.

BY HAL FOUST.

Legislative support for Chicago's elevated highway proposals was pledged by state senators and representatives from Cook county and by candidates for these offices who attended a Chicago Motor club luncheon in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Dr. Miller McClintock, head of the Harvard university bureau of trafic research, described elevated highway construction as a measure within the means of Chicago to reduce its street massacre materially. Although a New Yorker, he knows the local problem, having been a consulting engineer for the Chicago Association of Commerce in 1926 and having been employed by the city council in this capacity from 1930 to 1933.

Three Solutions Possible.

"With the increasing volume of automobile travel in Chicago," said Dr. McClintock, "the city must widen more streets, or depress or elevate pavements for continuous grade separation. If you decide to widen at grade, you must ignore your annual motor toll of 1,000 killed and 25,000 injured, you must ignore that widened La Salle street and Ashland and Western avenues are accounting for 16 per cent of this toll.

"Elevated highways can be built for less than $500,000 a mile. This is about 15 per cent of the cost of typical surface street widening for the same additional trafic capacity.

Depressing Increases Cost.

"Depressed pavements can be built of efficiency comparable to that of elevated structures. But the cost is approximately $1,200,000 a mile.

"No real estate tax is proposed for this improvement. There is $11,000,000 a year available for road work in Chicago from the city's, county's and state's share of the gasoline tax. By allocating half of this for elevated highway construction, ten miles a year could be built.

"Approximately 160 miles are needed for a complete system in Chicago. At a rate of ten miles a year it would take sixteen years to finish. When finished it would save 700 lives and prevent 17,500 personal injuries annually."

Graham Promises Support.

"You can count upon my full support when the regular session of the general assembly convenes in January," State Senator Richey V. Graham [Dem., Cicero], president pro tem of the senate, told Charles M. Hayes, president of the motor club.

"I'll exert my full influence for a definite move to start construction," said Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Evanston].

"If every one in Cook county could hear this explanation there would be no further delay," said Senator Peter Kielminski [Dem., Chicago].

"I'll do everything in my power to give Chicago elevated highways such as New York is enjoying," said Representative Bernice T. Van der Vries [Rep., Winnetka].

Others who promised support were Senator Frank McDermott [Dem.], and Representative Arthur M. Kaindl, William J. Gormley [Dem.], John G. Ryan [Dem.], Emmett McGrath [Dem.], Robert M. Woodward [Rep.], David I. Swanson [Rep.], Calvin T. Weeks [Rep.], Fred G. Koehler [Rep.], William G. Thon [Rep.], and Edward P. Saltiel [Rep.] and Rrank G. Ring [Dem., Harvey].

HOLDUP HABITS GET PAROLEE 2D LIFE SENTENCE

Harry Filas, 23 years old, a violator of parole from Joliet penitentiary who specialized in gasoline station holdups, was convicted for the second time in Criminal court yesterday under a habitual criminal indictment carrying a sentence of life imprisonment.

Sentenced to Joliet for one to twenty years for robbery in July, 1932, Filas won a parole in 1934. A series of more than a score of filling station robberies was traced to him. He was tried last May 29 in Judge Joseph Burke's court as a habitual criminal and sentenced to life imprisonment. The indictment was based on Filas' three holdups of a station at 225 West Garfield boulevard.

To insure that Filas spend the remainder of his life in prison, the state's attorney got another habitual criminal indictment against him for four robberies of the station at 1164 West Garfield boulevard. On this indictment he was convicted yesterday before Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

Eli Pedersen, 5235 South Campbell avenue, the station attendant, identified Filas. Pedersen testified: "He held me up so often that I got to know him."

ASK MORE ROOM FOR SOUTHBOUND TRAFIC IN PARK

George Barton, engineer for the Chicago Motor club, yesterday proposed to the Chicago park district that half the width of Lake Shore drive south of Diversey parkway [leading through Lincoln park] be assigned to southbound trafic during the evening rush hours. This, according to Mr. Barton, would help relieve congestion in the southbound lanes north of Diversey parkway, which is particularly noticeable when crowds drive from Wrigley field after the ball games.

Under the present control system Lake Shore drive through the park is reserved for northbound trafic in the rush hours. Park district engineers have proposed an additional boulevard route from the outer link bridge, to go through Lincoln park in the bed of the park lagoon. Until this can be constructed, Mr. Barton said, his suggestion would furnish a measure of relief to the harassed motorists who must drive south in the rush hour.

AUTO ACCIDENT INJURIES CAUSE DEATH OF 2 BOYS

One Dashes Into Street Ahead of Car.

Russell Gordon Jr., 12 years old, of East Chicago, died early yesterday in the veterans' hospital at Dwight, Ill., of injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding overturned in a ditch on route 66 near Morris, Ill.

Thomas Csolkovits Jr., 6 years old, 6347 Berteau avenue, died in the Belmont hospital yesterday of injuries received a few hours earlier when he was struck by an auto driven by Daniel Larrahan, 41 years old, 723 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, who told the police that the boy ran into the street in front of 4153 North Narragansett avenue.

Unidentified Man Killed.

An unidentified man about 45 years old was fatally injured yesterday when he was struck at Western avenue and 16th street by an auto driven by William Barton, 25 years old, 819 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park. He died at the Mount Sinai hospital. Barton was held for the inquest today.

Central police yesterday booked John Kelly, 29 years old, 703 West Garfield boulevard, on a charge of manslaughter a few hours after a coroner's jury exonerated him in the death of Miss Frances Sechan, 25 years old, 1610 South Lawndale avenue, who was killed when he backed his truck into her at 14th and Clark streets. Police said it appeared from their investigation that he did not use proper care in backing up his truck.

Five Hurt in Gary Crash.

Five Chicagoans were injured last night when two automobiles collided at 5th avenue and Thompkins street, Gary. Most seriously hurt were Raymond Pritchard, 8 years old, and his brother Stanley, 6, of 3541 Rokeby street, who were taken to the Mercy hospital in Gary.

They were riding in a car driven by George Erickson, 52 years old, 3217 North Clark street, which struck a machine carrying Howard Aylesworth, 31 years old, 1060 Rosemont avenue, and Miss Martha Holt, 24, of 426 Surf street. Erickson, Aylesworth, and Miss Holt were taken to the Methodist hospital. According to the Gary police the accident occurred when a tire blew out on Aylesworth's car and it was thrown into the path of the other automobile.

No automobile deaths had been reported to the coroner up to 4 p. m. yesterday, the number of persons killed in Cook county this year remaining at 566. Of these 435 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 10,583 were injured within the city limits.

BARMAID GETS 5 DAYS IN JAIL FOR WILD DRIVE

Dolores Mullen, 28 years old, 7222 Wentworth avenue, a waitress, was sentenced to five days in the county jail by Judge Joseph Graber in Safety court yesterday a few hours after the automobile she was driving cut down a telephone pole, knocked over a mail box, and demolished a fire hydrant at 111th and Halsted streets.

The charge against the woman was reckless driving. The owner of the car, riding with her, was Joseph Veigel, 11207 South Whipple street. Judge Graber fined him $50 for disorderly conduct, and lectured him for permitting Miss Mullen to drive.

A waitress in a tavern, Miss Mullen admitted "drinking a few beers," but denied that she was intoxicated and blamed the accident on lack of sleep. She dozed at the wheel, she said.

ASK PWA GRANT FOR SOUTH SIDE FILTERING PLANT

$9,000,000 Sought; Rush Plans.

A formal request for a federal grant of $9,420,770 to help construct a south side water filtration plant was sent to the Chicago office of the Federal Public Works administration yesterday by Oscar E. Hewitt, city commissioner of public works. The amount represents 45 per cent of the estimated cost of the proposed plant which is $20,935,040. No application for a PWA loan accompanied the request.

At the same time Hewitt announced that he had filed applications with the Chicago park board and with the state and federal governments for permission to fill in the lake front between 75th and 79th streets, where it is proposed that the new plant be built.

See U. S. as Favoring Grant.

Hewitt and other city officials were reluctant to discuss the reasons for the recent efforts to rush preliminary plans for the plant, which was first proposed several years ago. The activity was interpreted, however, as an indication that the federal government has let it be known that it is favorably disposed toward a large grant.

In November, 1933, the city council authorized Hewitt to apply to the PWA for a grant of 30 per cent and a loan of 70 per cent for a $22,000,000 south side filtration plant. The matter lagged until recently. Then last Wednesday the council amended its authorization to Hewitt to provide for a 45 per cent grant on the basis of the lower cost. This percentage is the maximum grant that can be obtained from the PWA.

Hewitt explained the absence of a loan application by saying that the part of the cost not covered by the grant can be financed through the sale of water bonds and certificates drawn against the city water fund. This, he said, will mean a large saving to the city, inasmuch as Chicago would pay only 3 to 3½ per cent interest on its own paper, but about 4 per cent on a government loan.

Time Limit 18 Months.

One condition of a PWA loan or grant is that the project for which it is to be used be completed within 18 months. The commissioner said yesterday that he was confident the filtration plant, the erection of which would give employment to 4,000 men, could be finished within that time limit.

It is expected that the federal government will begin within three weeks to hold public hearings on the request for authority to fill in the filtration plant site. Advanced plans of the project will be presented at this hearing.

Close Jackson Boulevard from Canal to Michigan

Jackson boulevard will be closed from Canal street to Michigan avenue for resurfacing starting at 7:30 o'clock this morning. An announcement by the Chicago park district yesterday said the work will take about four days.

U. OF C. EMPLOYE WINS SOUTH SIDE VOCAL CONTEST

Her Soprano Triumphs in Thrilling Tryout.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The south side's representative soprano to sing in the Cook county finals of the preliminary Chicagoland Music festival contests was chosen last night in a dramatic scene in the Chicago Woman's Club theater at 77 East 11th street. An audience of almost 400 persons excitedly heard the well matched voices, heard the judges call six back to the stage for second and some for third voice exhibitions and waited for the decision.

First same a mature blonde woman, confident, her voice thick and sweet. Then came a slender colored girl in red with a voice full of fine shades of inflection.

A slim young woman in dark blue sheer, wearing a gardenia, sang movingly in a voice of depth. A charming girl in white gave such expression and intelligence to her singing that persons in the audience were heard to whisper, charmed. A blonde in a neat blue print released a voice of power and finished quality.

University Accountant Wins.

But competing against all this beauty and experience was a young woman with an open, smiling face, straight bobbed hair, a schoolgirl dress of dark stuff with a white collar. Her voice which was easy, buoyant and happy. She sang "Ah Fors e Lui" from Verdi's "Traviata," and she obviously enjoyed singing it. She won the first place.

She is Miss Esther Hardie, 26 years old, of 1534 East 59th street, an accountant at the University of Chicago. She came here two years ago from her home in Butte, Mont., to study music, and is paying for her lessons by working at the university.

Mrs. Marie Doyle Fox of 5200 University avenue, mother of five children from 2 to 10 years old, won second place in the soprano division.

Colored Girl Third.

Third place went to Miss Hortense Love, colored, of 4022 Calumet avenue, who, like the first and second winners, sang the Verdi number.

Marston H. Pearson, 24 years old, of 705 West 70th street, won considerable applause when he was announced as the judges' first choice among the basses. He sang "But Who May Abide," by Handel.

Mr. Pearson was graduated in theology last spring from North Park college, and is obtaining his bachelor's degree in music from the American Conservatory of Music. He is assistant pastor of the Christian Missionary Alliance tabernacle, 70th street and Union avenue.

A weighmaster in the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company at Indiana Harbor, Richard Owen Welch, 22, of 7920 Colfax avenue, won second in the bass contest.

Third place went to John B. Stollworth, colored, 41 years old, of 77 East 35th street, where he conducts a book and magazine shop.

Artist Is Best Mezzo.

Mrs. Hildred Hall McCord, 23 years old, of 11316 South Oakley avenue, Morgan Park, won the mezzo contest for south siders. She sang Ronald's "O Lovely Night." A commercial artist, she prefers singing.

Mrs. Fern Cline Hammonds, 27 years old, of 6021 Normal boulevard, won second place among mezzos. She is a graduate of Phillips university, Enid, Okla.

PEACOCKS OF '36

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Do you remember "way back when" a young fellow by the name of Michaux F. Tennant came to be known as the "Peacock of the Navy?" He would strut down Michigan avenue in front of the battalion from the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

There you will see 62 baton twirling drum majors brilliantly attired. They will come from 21 cities in six states and all hope to carry back gold, silver, and bronze medals which THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is offering to victors in three divisions—juvenile, junior, and adult. The entrants are as follows:

60 MINNESOTA FAMILIES LOSE HOMES IN FIRE

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Sixty families in the communities of Markham and Palo, 50 miles north of here, were forced to flee their homes today as forest fires, blown by stiff southwest winds, blazed anew in northern Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Fifteen farm homes, outbuildings, and several stores in both communities were destroyed.

Families were evacuating their homes and taking refuge in Biwabik and Aurora.

Meanwhile, the Iron River-Brule area in northern Wisconsin was ablaze, with the town of Highland threatened.

At Cornucopis, Wis., the town hall and the residence of Andrew Hanson went up in flames.

Forced to Leap Into River.

Aurora, Minn., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Twenty-five WPA workers, returning to Aurora from the forest fire zone at Markham, their eyes swollen by heat and smoke, reported they had been forced to jump into the St. Louis river to avoid being trapped in the flames.

Call More to Island.

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A call for 300 additional CCC workers from the nearby lake area was issued today as a result of a report from Isle Royale that the fire situation still was serious. With their arrival the fire fighting force on the island will reach 1,200.

Seeks Alimony of Union Agent; Tells Spending

Alleging that her husband is habitually intoxicated and squanders his $10,000 salary on a younger woman, Mrs. Edna Roscoe, 50 years old, 5906 North Artesian avenue, filed suit in the Superior court yesterday demanding separate maintenance from George Roscoe, business agent of the Cement Finishers' union.

The 62d annual Old Settlers' picnic sponsored by the Chicago Turngemeinde will be held today in Riverview park. The entertainment will include a two hour concert, starting at 2 p. m., games, races, and dancing.

FIND 3 BODIES AS WORKER ON FARM ADMITS SLAYINGS

Victims Buried in Pit Beneath Barn.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Authorities late today recovered the unclad bodies of Mr. and Mrs. John Fielding Wesley and their daughter from a pit beneath a barn on their farm near where they had been buried by Harry Singer, 35, former convict farm worker, who confessed slaying them on July 21.

The victims of the triple slaying were Wesley, 56; his wife, Mrs. Viola Wesley, 31, and the daughter, Marjorie, 12.

Singer, who had been employed by the Wesleys, was arrested yesterday at North Manchester when he attempted to obtain automobile license plates for his car under Wesley's name.

Deputy Sheriff Vern Howell said Singer confessed the slayings after three hours' questioning and asserted he killed the Wesleys because they "mistreated him."

Girl Beaten to Death.

Howell said Singer's confession related that he shot Mrs. Wesley through the head while she was milking. The daughter, hearing the shots, ran to the barn, and Singer said he beat her to death with the barrel of the shotgun.

Wesley was in North Manchester at the time and Howell said Singer told questioners he waited in the house until his employer returned, and then shot him to death.

Suspicions Aroused.

After the slayings neighbors became suspicious when the Wesleys were not seen and Singer sold oats, cattle and horses belonging to them.

Records in the state criminal bureau in Indianapolis showed Singer has served several prison terms for minor crimes.

5 POLICEMEN GET 4 YEAR TERMS IN TAMPA FLOGGING

Denied New Trial; Plan an Appeal.

Bartow, Fla., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Five ousted Tampa policemen were sentenced by Judge Robert T. Dewell today to serve four years in prison on charges of kidnaping Eugene F. Poulnot, labor organizer, who was one of three victims of a Tampa flogging band last November.

The judge denied the convicted men a new trial and refused a defense motion for a stay of judgment. Pat Whitaker of Tampa, attorney for the defendants, announced he would appeal to the state Supreme court.

Victims Seized in Raid.

The defendants, who were convicted on May 25, are C. A. Brown, John P. Bridges, J. W. Carlisle, Sam E. Crosby, and F. W. Switzer.

Poulnot, Sam D. Rogers, and Joseph Shoemaker, organizers of unemployed persons, were abducted near police headquarters last Nov. 30 after they had been arrested in a raid on a private home and questioned about alleged communistic activities.

Beating Fatal to One.

Taken outside the police station following their questioning, the three men were immediately seized by a masked band who drove them to an isolated spot where the men were beaten, tarred and feathered. Shoemaker died from the mistreatment.

The American Federation of Labor protested the flogging.

POLITICS AND RELIEF.

When Mr. Farley goes into a community he takes that community's cost sheets with him. He knows to a penny just what it has obtained from the New Deal. He reads the figures to the people. They collected so much for this and so much for that. They are down in the books for this and the other amount. Mr. Farley plainly hopes that the good people did not expect something for nothing. They are to repay in votes.

These New Deal bill collecting practices are so common that they are familiar to all. Mr. Roosevelt expressed resentment that partisan politics should be charged by his opponents against the administration's handling of drouth relief. The Republicans would expect nothing less. American governments have always regarded victims of calamity as requiring special aid. If local agencies are unequal to the task national help is given.

There never was so much political bookkeeping before. Mr. Farley will have a memorandum of every transaction. The Republican taxpayer has his own money working against him and knows it.

SUGGESTION TO THE VOLUNTEERS.

In yesterday's TRIBUNE was published an estimate of the cost of the housewife's "market basket," comparing February of 1933 with August, 1936. The basket contains the articles which American housewives have to provide out of the family purse for the subsistence of the family. No doubt the housewife has had her premonitory reflections upon the slaughter of the pigs as an aid to the more abundant life, but there is nothing like concrete experience to help us to appreciate the lofty purposes of our statesmen. As for instance: She paid 20 cents [national average] for a pound of pork chops in 1933 and is paying 35 cents [national average] after three years of ministrations of the New Deal; and 22 cents for bacon in 1933 on the threshold of the more abundant life and 41 cents now that she is possessed of all its blessings. [Chicago housewives checking against these national averages will find they are paying considerably more; for example, not 41 cents for bacon but 50 cents.]

As for her market basket, in February of 1933 she was paying for its modest contents $3.26 while now that the shackles of entrenched greed have long been stricken from her she is paying $5.02.

Perhaps THE VOLUNTEERS might be disposed to organize a branch whose special interest would be the prices of food in the more abundant or moribundant life.

THE LION IN A HURRY.

Reading the once sedate pages of the London Times these days an American reader may be more seriously impressed with the imminence of another European conflict than by the more sensational rumors and events on the continent. It is apparent at any rate that Britain or its government is in something like a frenzy of preparation. Thus under a two column heading, "More Money for Defense," we learn that "supplementary estimates were issued on Thursday for all three of the fighting services to provide for the execution, and in certain cases the acceleration, of the defense program outlined in the White Paper of March 3." The total of these supplements comes to something like a hundred million dollars. The total supplementary estimates for 1936, "presented to date," amount to about a hundred and fifty million dollars.

The supplementary estimate for the army, about 23 million dollars, is in the main for warlike stores "to place the field force on an adequate basis for any emergency, and to supplement the progress already made in modernization and mechanization."

The strength of the royal air force will be increased by an extra 5,000 men during the year. An extra $350,000 is for training of reservists which is said to mark the intention of the air ministry to increase the intake of the R. A. F. from 200 to 800 a year.

In an adjoining column we read a report of a discussion in the house of lords of "food supply in wartime." Lord Phillimore suggested "the storage of a further three months' supply of cereals"; Lord Strabolgi, storage of a three months' supply of oil; Lord Cranworth urges that storage should be supplemented by greater production; Lord Peel, that all kinds of food would be needed on a much greater scale; Lord Astor deprecated any attempt at self-sufficiency which would ruin shipping and raise prices.

The lord chancellor accepted the general principles of all these demands. The government had already increased food production by 20 per cent since 1931 and had reorganized many branches of agriculture so that expansion would be easier. Special committees of the C. I. D. were dealing with the diversion of shipping from vulnerable ports and with food rationing. As for storage, other things beside perishable food must be stored, but there was now fully three months' supply of wheat in millers' stocks and in the public granaries, the capacity of which was about 1,500,000 tons, and in which there were now 315,000 tons. It would be arranged in an emergency that ships carrying chilled meat would freeze it and land it ready for storage.

Speaking at Southampton on imperial defense, the first lord of the admiralty said that "the formidable fact about air power was that it had made what was once the most secure island in the world the most vulnerable society in Europe. Such a state of insecurity could not be allowed to endure. It was with the determination to reach at the earliest possible date parity with the strongest power within range of our shores that new squadrons were being created and new machines produced.

An official of the home office promises that by the end of next year there will be 25 million gas masks for the civilian population.

The British armament industry and related industries are working at full capacity and the shipyards are booming.

THEY DO IT BETTER IN RUSSIA.

The Russian commodity market and the Russian consumer depend in the main upon the bureocratic planning of production. If the estimated need for a period is so many pairs of shoes or so many hats then the required number of factories and workers are supposed to get their quotas and allotments and the shoes and hats are supposed to be made. Profits and prices are not to control. The thing is planned.

Somebody makes a mistake. Somebody is dull or lazy. The burocracy gets behind schedule and doesn't care. The factory capacity is overestimated. The need is underestimated. A factory superintendent is indifferent or stupid. Expectations are not realized and there is a shortage. In the retail market, first come, first served. There is nothing for the tailenders in the waiting line. A comrade must beat his neighbor to the shop door or do without.

Just now the shortage happens to be in shoes and textiles. As an incident, the burocracy got electric heaters on the market in a hot spell when people wanting electric fans could not find them. There never was a burocracy which wasn't excellent at such planning. There were no fans, but there were heaters. Next winter the fan production will deliver its commodities.

Our social planners admire this system. They've done fairly well with it themselves in their experiments, managing to time their crop reduction with a drouth which results in an all-time shortage in corn. They estimated the need and tried to control the output of farms. We get what they planned, plus something they forgot to take into consideration as a possibility.

They are in the farm business. They would like to go into the shoe, hat and coat business, the steel and lumber business, into the making of producers' and consumers' goods. Then we could join the Russians in the queue at the shop door to buy straw hats in December.

CHEER CHECKS IN ALBERTA.

Alberta's social credit government is about to turn a wheel. An issue of cheer checks, $250,000 in what are called prosperity certificates, will pay workers on provincial road projects. Every week the holder of a cheer check will buy and affix a stamp of the value of 1 per cent of the face of his certificate. When the government has collected a reserve from the stamp collections it will issue better cheer checks which will require no retirement stamps. Dividends to the registered citizens are to come later.

Premier Aberhart has moved slowly. There was a suspicion that he did not see his way clear to give every citizen twenty-five dollars every month. It couldn't come out of the treasury. It had to come out of the air. The dominion government was unwilling to give the province a lift financially, explaining that Alberta's provisions for meeting obligation were too eccentric for more conservative taste.

Mr. Aberhart's brain trust has been exploring the possibilities and has been planning. The citizens have been given question forms which when answered will reveal their purchasing and producing power. Manufacturers, processors, and retailers will supply facts which will afford means for computing the social credit dividends. When all the paper work is done everything will be ready but the money. That will be provided by a covenant between the government and the citizens. The government will agree to issue cheer checks and the citizens will agree to accept them.

If anything can be said against the Alberta plan of any way out it would be that it seems too good to be true. A wishful world will wait and see or, on second thought, will it wait?

SUNSPOT PROSPERITY.

[Peoria Transcript.]

It is an idea familiar to most readers by this time that sunspots—periodic outbreaks of cyclonic storms in the sun lasting for several years—may have something to do with human fortunes. It was suggested half a century ago by the economist Jevons that the sunspot cycle of about eleven years might coincide roughly with the business cycle of prosperity and depression. It was a later observation of meteorologists that the amount of rainfall and the consequent water levels in lakes and rivers seemed roughly to follow a similar course. Interest in the subject has grown in the last few years, and numerous other possible parallels have been suggested, such as cyclic variations of crops, human health, and so on.

Lately Dr. L. B. Andrews, a Harvard astronomer, has gone into the matter. From his figures any one can go ahead theorizing as much as he likes. Dr. Andrews says since 1900 the most intense sunspot activity has come in 1906, 1917 and 1928, and the least activity in 1901, 1913, 1923 and 1933. It should be interesting to make a little chart of this and lay it alongside of business charts, agricultural production charts, water level charts, health charts, political brainstorm charts, and so on.

One thing evident right now is that rainfall, supposed to follow sunspot intensity, is not running true to form. Even 1933 on for several years it should be increasing. Instead, the country has been drying up. But look at the stock prices and dividend showers in Wall street, and the political activity. Human beings at least are greatly stimulated, and it might be from the sunstorms.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg U.S. Pat. Office

MAYBE WE DON'T HAVE RAINS any more because we don't have any more Sunday school picnics. It used always to rain when a Sunday school gave a picnic. The presence of a lot of young women in a lovely grove miles away from home playing about in stiffly starched dresses and with the young men all togged up in their nicest duds, cake, and pickles, and sandwiches being set out on spotless white table cloths, used to make old Jupiter Pluvius so doggoned mad that he'd suddenly send down a mighty downpour without the slightest warning. Why? Well, nobody knows, but it was true just the same. What we've got to do is to revive Sunday school picnics all over the country and then we'll have plenty of rain. Write to your congressman today!

THE ROW IN SPAIN has thrown Mussolini into total eclipse. Nothing seems to be known of his whereabouts, but he will probably turn up somewhere around Madrid disguised as a Spanish dancing girl or an orange tree in full bloom. You have to watch that bird; he is clever, mighty clever. If you don't believe it just ask him.

VACATION BLUES.

When May and June have come and gone I find
It time to go away but always know
However firmly I make up my mind
I'll never get to where I want to go!

Mirages of foreign countries catch my eye
And like the lost I follow them in vain
To realize sadly after each new try
I've only found my old address again!

My house has grown malicious from old age;
Sometimes I've even thought that it must be
The offspring of an elemental rage,
A trick that earth and stone have played on me.

Its windows squint with ill concealed disgust
On empty woods. Its shutters reel with fright
At winds so frail they cannot stir the dust—
I've often thought my door would like to bite!

A small path totters slowly to the shore
And every morning down that narrow way
Marching to Neptune's nervous rhythmic roar

Where hungry fogs devour an icy sea
Swim gayly in and let the slithering weeds
Clutch like dead fingers at your trembling knee,
"For this is just exactly what she needs!"

Where jelly fish must wait a long, long while
To find more terror stricken feet than mine
And dead fish smile their dreadful endless smile,
"For nothing else will make you feel so fine!"

And when at last you're stretched upon the beach
Exhausted—wishing you were safe in bed,
Hoping discomforts finally out of reach—
"The flies," you say, "must think that I am dead!"

So now that May has come again and June
Mirages of foreign countries catch my eye
I really think that I'll be leaving soon
—So meet me at the seashore in July!

ELLEN STEVENSON.

"HAVING RECENTLY CONTACTED," says Edward Page Gaston, "personally many high officials in Washington" . . . And I'll bet that he means he met the high officials of Washington. But how we all do love that word "contact" whether we contact the great man, the telephone switchboard, the washerwoman or a Martini cocktail.

IT'S AS CLEAR AS MUD.

R. H. L.: I have finally studied through the situation in Spain. The royalists are the rebels. This leaves the anarchists to chance their all in support of the existing government. The radicals, or stand patters if you prefer, are lined up against the reactionaries who are revolting. The Old Guard is both liberal and lawless, resorting to violence to make things hot for the peace supporting, conservative revolutionaries.

In other words, the left wing is right and the right is getting left. I hope this is all just as clear to your readers as it is to me. PROLETARY ANN.

I THINK if the poet had ever jabbed one of the dinged things into his hand as I did yesterday when I was trying to open a can of salmon he would have written those lovely lines we quote so often a little differently. Like this: "Who ever hoped a perfect can opener to see; Hopes for a can opener that never was, and is not now, and hain't a-going to be."

WANDERER.

On any ant that trespasses
The garden's dreadful span
Bright doom descends as merciless
As age upon a man.

Surveying from the eminence
A fallen apple gives
Piles a higher mystery
Upon the life he lives.

No tenant of the ground he knew
Will walk upon his sight.
A strangeness holds each alien leaf
And compasses the night.

This is the doom that waits upon
The spendthrift of his hour:
The ant that flies familiar hills,

ECZEMA—STUBBORN AND BAFFLING.

I REMEMBER very well a charming old lady who lived on the corner in our block whose children had all grown up and moved away. She took a great interest in us youngsters and would talk to us in a kindly way about what we should and should not do. On one occasion, when a neighbor boy had a "gathering" on his neck, she remarked, "Every boil is worth $100. It shows that your blood contains impurities that are trying to work out." I am sure that each of us would have been willing to have suffered the presence of several had we been certain of the reward. I've never heard of any one who received a medal because he played host to one of these painful afflictions.

But our friendly acquaintance was partly right, for there are many diseases within the body which manifest themselves in the skin, for example, measles, scarlet fever, and smallpox.

Eczema means to "boil out." Originally it must have been thought that the body was attempting to throw off some impurity which, in its escape, caused the unsightly blemishes to appear.

While many poisons coming into contact with the skin can cause eruptions, yet eczema may break out whenever metabolism is upset or when some toxin is liberated within the body. It is not uncommon in infants and if extensive it is often difficult to combat. It is frequently seen in babies whose digestive tracts are overloaded with too much fat and in older children who are thin and undernourished. Eliminating fat from the diet and the use of some stimulating ointment will nearly always relieve the first mentioned type. Now and then these cases will be exceedingly stubborn and nothing seems to change the situation for the better, as bacteria find good growing beds in the weeping, crusty, scaly patches.

In a large number of instances some form of food to which the child is sensitive is responsible. If skin tests are feasible, and can be made, it may be that the particular irritating substance will be disclosed thereby. In fact, not long ago one of my dermatological friends related his experience with a 3 year old who had suffered a persistent eczema ever since eggs became a part of his diet. It was not the whole egg at that, as careful tests showed that only the white [albumen] was poisonous.

Sometimes wheat, milk, potatoes, and various vegetables and greens will be at fault. Once in a while a child will not react positively to a given substance, but if a food diary is kept and one article after another omitted the offender will thus be discovered.

Eczema in adults, as a rule, is the reappearance of a condition which occurred in childhood. Though most of us outgrow sensitivity to certain proteins, a few will not and skin eruptions, hay fever, or asthma will result.

Few, if any, of those afflicted will exhibit ill health other than the skin affection. Nevertheless, a careful physical inventory may disclose some form of irritation that is keeping alive the disease, and particular attention should be given to the digestive tract. In chronic cases most patients will relate that the severity of the disorder varies with the season of the year.

In the presence of an acute flareup a dose of castor oil will do more good than a barrel of ointment. To a large extent fats and carbohydrates should be omitted from the diet. We must not forget the important rôle of X-ray and this powerful force not only should be thought of but used under proper precautions. It is our best single therapeutic agent. If the skin disease can be traced to a definite protein, vaccines that will immunize the patient and promote resistance are of value. Bathing with soap and water is not advised.

There are about as many published remedies as there are afflicted individuals and we may say that after all eczema is a personal problem. The hunt for the cause may be long and for a time fruitless. With persistence, however, it can be found.

SPRAINED SHOULDER.

Y. T. writes: Seven years ago I sprained my left shoulder. Last year I visited a doctor and he told me I have a broken nerve and a slight curvature of the spine. My left arm is smaller than the right and pains in damp weather. He said no treatment is necessary.

1. Will my arm become normal again?
2. Is any special exercise or food required?
3. Would you advise baking and massaging?
4. Would this have any effect on my children if I married?

REPLY.

1. An injury to a nerve may be followed by atrophy [wasting] of one or more muscles. In your case the injury occurred so long ago that it is difficult to give a prognosis.

2 and 3. It may be that the nerve should be repaired and a skilled neurological surgeon can best advise you. Massage and heat will help maintain the circulation and hence increase the "tone" of the muscles.

4. No.

APPENDECTOMY AFTERMATH.

G. M. writes: Six months ago I had my appendix removed. Lately I have had a twitching and some pain in this region. Is this natural or is it a symptom of some disorder?

REPLY.

Following the removal of an appendix in cases where the actual inflammation has not extended beyond the appendix itself, there should be no disagreeable after-effects of any kind. In cases, however, where there has been a peritonitis, either local or widespread, there may be symptoms of adhesions. These bands may, if attached to the peritoneum of the abdominal wall, produce discomfort which varies from a dragging sensation to actual pain. In other cases they may, by pulling upon organs within the abdomen, bring about symptoms of trouble in these organs. You should see your physician, as he will be able to determine the cause of the pain and twitching.

TRY RIMLESS ONES.

Mrs. M. F. writes: For over fifteen years I wore glasses with a bone rim. Two years ago I changed to silver rims. In warm weather the silver that touches my cheeks leaves sore spots which heal with difficulty. What causes this? Would you suggest different rims?

REPLY.

Why not try rimless glasses? These are lighter in weight and far more comfortable for most persons. Great care should be taken to see that they fit properly. They do not need to touch the cheeks if the nose bridge is properly adjusted.

RAISING SOME TROUBLE OF OUR OWN

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 8, 1787.—[In convention. Continuing the discussion of the qualification of voters.] Mr. Mercer of Maryland expressed his dislike of the whole plan and his opinion that it never could succeed. Mr. Gorham of Massachusetts: He had never seen any inconveniency from allowing such as were not freeholders to vote though it had long been tried. The elections in Philadelphia, New York and Boston where the merchants and mechanics vote are at least as good as those made by freeholders only. The people have been long accustomed to this right in various parts of America and will never allow it to be abridged. We must consult their rooted prejudices if we expect their concurrence in our propositions. [Thereupon the section relating to qualifications of voters as reported was passed without opposition. The second section of this article IV. was taken up, requiring twenty-five years, three years citizenship and residence in the state as qualifications for membership in the house of representatives.]

Slavery Again Raises Its Question

Col. Mason of Virginia was for opening a wide door for emigrants but did not choose to let foreigners and adventurers make laws for us and govern us. Citizenship for three year swas not enough for insuring that local knowledge which ought to be possessed by the representative. It might happen that a rich foreign nation, for example Great Britain, might send over her tools who might bribe their way into the legislature for insidious purposes. Mr. Rutledge of South Carolina urged and moved that a residence of seven years shall be required in the state wherein the member [of the house of representatives] shall be elected. Mr. Read of Delaware reminded him that we were now forming a national government and that such a regulation would correspond little with the idea that we were one people. Mr. Wilson of Pennsylvania enforced the same consideration. [Seven years citizenship as a qualification for the house of representatives was agreed to. Section four raised the question stated by the motion of Mr. Williamson of North Carolina which was carried declaring that representation in the house of representatives should be according "to the rule hereafter to be provided for direct taxation." It was agreed to, New Jersey and Delaware no.] Mr. King of Massachusetts wished to know what influence the vote just passed was meant to have on the succeeding part of the report concerning the admission of slaves into the rule of representation. The admission of slaves was a most grating circumstance to his mind and he believed would be so to a great part of the people of America. Mr. Gouverneur Morris moved to insert the word "free" before the word inhabitants. Much he said would depend upon this point. He never would concur in upholding domestic slavery. It was the curse of heaven on the states where it prevailed. Compare the free regions of the middle states where a rich and noble cultivation marks the prosperity and happiness of the people with the barren wastes of Virginia, Maryland and the other states having slaves. The moment you leave the eastern states [New England] and enter New York the effects of the institution become visible; passing through the Jerseys and entering Pennsylvania every criterion of superior improvement witnesses the change. Upon what principles is it that the slaves shall be computed in the representation? Are they men? Then make them citizens and let them vote. Are they property? Why, then, is no other property included? Mr. Wilson of Pennsylvania thought the motion [of Mr. Morris] premature. Question on motion to insert "free" before "inhabitants"—all no except New Jersey.

INFLATION IN NOVEMBER.

Marinette, Wis., Aug. 5.—I have read with great interest your "Inflation in November" editorial on the front page of last Sunday's TRIBUNE and I—as I believe do the majority of other laymen—know very little about the seriousness of inflation, but this well written editorial gives us something to think about.

I, of course, have given plenty of thought to the New Deal, and think exactly as you do about it, and my object in writing you is this—just a suggestion—that a wonderful lot of good could be done by getting this editorial in every doubtful home in the United states. I believe that if this was read by the family circle that still think the New Deal is good for them it would have a great influence, or at least set them thinking.

I believe that if readers—like myself—knew they could get them from you they would be glad to buy and distribute a few hundred. If the thought is worth anything and you adopt it I shall be pleased to order some. FRANK J. LAUERMAN.

UNRAVELING IT.

Chicago, July 31.—Am taking time out for a few minutes to chat a bit with your very efficient specialist in spelling. A recent headline caused me to scissor the item inclosed and I make bold to suggest your contemplation of ways and means of UNraveling anything.

Am not assuming that you need a lesson in knitting, but, really, if you should knit a thing, the reverse operation would be to UNknit it and the knitted material, when taken apart, would be a raveling. Therefore, to produce a raveling one would ravel the knitted material and to be logical the operation of unraveling would have to imply a reverse action of the raveling process.

Likewise, to RAVEL a mystery or a tangle would be to clarify, whereas to UNRAVEL it simply doesn't, as the old lady would say, "make sense." If there is such a thing as a "pet peeve" this is mine, so why not get together and let's swat the absurdity as occasion permits? Also, I wouldn't mind if you swatted the indefensible menu item COLE slaw as intended for the opposite of cooked, or HOT slaw. Even intelligent chefs fall for it. LARNED E. MEACHAM.

EASILY AND PERMANENTLY REGISTERED.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—After reading so much publicity on permanent registration I decided to register today, being the first day of registration. To my surprise I did not have to wait one second, although it was noon hour. Prepared to answer a million questions, I was asked my full name, house number, street name, nativity, term of residence, if I was 21 years of age or over, and sign on the dotted line. All in all it took about two minutes. F. L. BOISSY.

THE DEATH PENALTY.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 4.—Judge Robert C. O'Connell, in passing a death sentence on Mrs. Bolton, made rather a lengthy comment on the merits [or rather the demerits] of capital punishment. Why is it that more people, and especially judges who must impose such penalties, cannot take a common-sense point of view on this subject and regard capital punishment merely as a means for society to rid itself permanently of undesirable creatures?

When a dog goes mad and bites we put it to death. We kill poisonous snakes so they can do no future harm to us. Putting to death a vicious criminal should have the same significance—and would also save society a large "board bill," as is the case with life [?] imprisonments.

Viewed in this manner, there need be no element of revenge upon the criminal, no talk of "a life for a life," "society's debt paid," etc. L. B. CROSBY.

REGARDING DIVORCE.

Chicago, July 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a man who has epilepsy leaves his family of his own volition, regardless of the financial condition of the family, can a wife get a divorce in the state of Illinois?

2. If not, in what state can she get a divorce?

3. Can a man in his condition claim his children, should a divorce be granted?

4. If property is owned jointly how can this be settled?

5. If his condition was willfully concealed from his wife before marriage and proved now that he was epileptic would that be grounds for divorce in any state?

M. O.

1. One year's desertion is a ground.
2. See 1.
3. It seems probable that a court would decide that it was to the best interests of the children to leave them with the mother.
4. The divorce judge could decide the property settlement depending on all of the equities of the parties.
5. It would not be a ground in Illinois, and in general a divorce must be secured where the parties reside.

NATIONAL GUARDS GATHER TODAY TO 'DEFEND' CHICAGO

9,000 from Illinois Will Encamp in Michigan.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Thirty-third Division Headquarters, Pearl, Mich., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Illinois National Guardsmen will arrive here 9,000 strong tomorrow to participate in the defense of Chicago and the Chicagoland industrial area.

They will be joined by troops of the 32d division from Michigan and Wisconsin, who will go into camp ten miles north of here in the vicinity of East Saugatuck.

This, the greatest concentration of troops in the central west since the world war, will be protected by an advance of 6,000 regular army troops who arrived here yesterday to stem the tide of an enemy advance from the vicinity of Pittsburgh.

Lay Out Camp Sites.

Advance detachments of the National Guard divisions were sweating under a hot sun today in their efforts to lay out the camp sites for the troops, who will begin their arrival here today by special train, boat, and motor convoy.

The first group of 1,700 men is due to arrive at South Haven early tomorrow morning aboard the S. S. Roosevelt from Chicago, where they will be met by a convoy of motor trucks to take them to their camp areas near here. Wisconsin National Guardsmen will cross from Milwaukee to Grand Haven and will be conveyed to their encampment near East Saugatuck.

Gen. Craig to Inspect.

Brig. Gen. Dana T. Merrill, acting in command of the Second army headquarters at Allegan, said he was well pleased with the preparations that have been made to receive the guardsmen after he completed an inspection of the camp areas.

Gen. Malin Craig, chief of staf of the United States army, is expected to arrive in Allegan tomorrow from Camp Custer to watch the handling of the largest concentration of troops in the central west since the world war.

With five trafic fatalities already marked up in the preliminary stages of the maneuvers, Gen. Merrill issued a plea today that civilian motorists use the utmost caution on roads leading here from Chicago and on the roads in this area.

Prepare for Field Duty.

The 6,000 regular army troops who went into camp around Dunningville yesterday spent today in polishing up their camp areas and equipment in preparation for active field duty on Monday.

All troops will engage in wartime field training the early part of next week, after which they will defend themselves against an enemy mechanized attack from the east.

Following four days of battle maneuvers, with time out for a rest over the week-end, the Sixth corps will move into Camp Custer for interdivisional exercises and a demonstration of a mechanized attack at the end of the second week of the maneuvers.

EXCURSION BOAT CARRIES TROOPS TO ARMY GAMES

The excursion steamer Theodore Roosevelt became a troop transport early this morning when it left its dock at the Michigan avenue bridge carrying 1,750 National Guardsmen across the la .e to South Haven, Mich., on their way to the second army maneuvers in Michigan. Another contingent of 1,750 men will be carried across the lake this morning, starting at 10:15 o'clock. From South Haven motor convoys will take the troops to the Blue army camp, which will have headquarters at Pearl.

Making the first trip on the steamer were members of the Eighth Infantry, the 108th Engineers, the 108th Medical corps, two companies of the 131st and 132d infantry, and special troops attached to the 33d division headquarters. Other members of the 131st and 132d regiments and the 66th division headquarters staf will travel on the Roosevelt today.

The 122d and 124th field artillery departed for Michigan last night by train, and the 202d Coast artillery by motor truck.

WIFE CONVICTED IN WRECK PLOT ON MATE'S TRAIN

Milton, Fla., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—A six man jury today convicted Mrs. Mary Vann, 40 year old grandmother, of plotting with a colored "voodoo doctor" to wreck the railroad train on which her 60 year old husband was enginee

The state charged that the Pensacola woman and Earl Travis, 35, former carpenter and night club operator, planned the death of her husband so they might collect his double indemnity life insurance and be free to marry.

Her conviction as "an accessory before the fact in a conspiracy to commit murder" carries a possible sentence of from one to forty years imprisonment. The jury deliberated nearly twelve hours.

Mrs. Vann's attorney, William Fisher Sr., notified Judge L. I. Fabisinski he would file a motion for a new trial. The judge said he would hear the motion Aug. 31 at Crestview, Fla.

The woman was liberated under the $5,000 bond posted by her husband shortly after she was arrested in April. Her mate, L. W. Vann, has maintained a belief in his wife's innocence, but he testified he had changed the beneficiaries of his insurance policy.

Victim Near Death

Alex Mutch, 16 years old, 4530 Oakenwald avenue, Englewood High school pupil, who on Thursday night was shot in the abdomen and left leg by William Chigaros, 27 years old, 6832 Perry avenue, a private watchman, was reported in a critical condition at St. Bernard's hospital last night. Physicians believed that he had only a slight chance to recover.

Mutch was fired on by the watchman when he and two companions fled after Chigaros had shouted at them while they were standing near an empty truck at the Farmers' market near 71st and State streets. The others, Libero Ingignoli, 16 years old, 149 East Chicago avenue, pupil in the Crane Technical High school, and Harry Welborn, 17 years old, 6721 Wentworth avenue, a pupil in the Parker High school, told the police that they became frightened when Chigaros shouted, not knowing that he was a watchman.

Chigaros, who is being held by the police, said that he did not intend to wound the youth, but fired to scare Mutch and the others. He admitted that he had not renewed his watchman's license, which expired on June 21.

DENIES MONOXIDE THEORY IN PLANE CRASH FATAL TO 8

Witness Says Seepage Is "Impossible."

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Carbon monoxide poisoning was dismissed today by a coroner's witness as a possible cause for the crash which killed all eight occupants of Chicago and Southern's luxury airliner, the City of Memphis. Five of the victims were residents of Chicagoland.

Bruce E. Braun, operations manager of the air line, testified at an inquest that construction of the $50,000 Lockheed-Electra monoplane, with its outside motors, made seepage of gas fumes into the pilots' cabin "impossible."

A verdict of "accident from causes unknown" was returned by the jury after it had heard Braun and several witnesses to the crash Wednesday night.

Doctor Suggests Theory.

Coroner Luke B. Tiernon, conducting the inquiry into the deaths of Pilot Carl Zeier of Chicago, Co-Pilot Russell C. Mossman of New Orleans, and six passengers, mentioned the carbon monoxide theory while questioning Braun. It had been suggested by Dr. J. S. Young of the St. Louis Medical society.

To test this theory, Dr. Young took samples of the blood of both pilots for analysis at Washington university's school of medicine.

Inspection of the crash scene, an isolated farm four miles north of Lambert-St. Louis Municipal airport, and the scattered remains of the plane was completed this afternoon by bureau of air commerce experts.

Time of Crash Fixed.

Eugene L. Vidal, director of the bureau, who came here to head the government's inquiry, announced a public hearing would begin tomorrow. Before the investigators for the solution was the mystery of why Pilot Zeier turned back to the airport within a few minutes after he had taken off.

The plane, which left at 9:56 p. m. on the last leg of its regular New Orleans-Chicago flight, crashed at 10:02 p. m., the time fixed by Zeier's smashed watch.

D. M. Rainey, the commerce bureau's radio beam expert, dispelled any possibility that the directional radio beam was "off course." He said he found the Chicago-St. Louis beam in perfect order.

Equipped to Fly "Blind."

Investigator A. L. Koch of the commerce department said the death plane was equipped for "blind" flying and had all the improved instruments for the pilot's information.

The ship's instruments were found intact after the crash, although the instrument board was battered. The plane's clock was still running when found 100 yards from the main wreckage.

Inspectors who studied weather conditions pointed out that although a heavy mist hung over the field where the plane crashed, the pilot probably could see the ground, because two persons on the ground said they saw the ship clearly.

BISHOP O'BRIEN TO HEAD CHURCH SOCIETY AGAIN

The Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, has been reappointed as president of the Catholic Church Extension society by Pope Pius XI., it was announced yesterday. The appointment is for a period of five years and is the third successive time that Bishop O'Brien has received that honor.

Pope Pius' selection of Bishop O'Brien to continue the direction of the work of the society was made at the request of Cardinal Mundelein, chancellor of the society. The bishop received his first appointment in 1926 after he had served a number of years as assistant to the former president, the Most Rev. F. C. Kelley, bishop of Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla.

Bishop O'Brien was born in the Holy Name parish, where he was later ordained. He was made monsignor in 1924 and named pastor of St. John's church, 18th and Clark streets. He was named bishop in 1934.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

Story of Wilde's Visit Is Called Accurate.

"Oscar Wilde Discovers America," by Lloyd Lewis and Henry Justin Smith [Harcourt, $4.50], is reviewed today, especially and exclusively for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE by Gertrude Stein, the one literary personage of our generation who, as a visitor to America, swept the country by her personality and whose name during her visit, as was Oscar Wilde's in 1888, was on every one's lips and in every newspaper. No better equipped reviewer of the book could be conceived. This is an example of Gertrude Stein's penetrating criticism and of her characteristic prose when she chooses to illumine. F. B.

BY GERTRUDE STEIN.

To Lloyd Lewis who, when all is said, makes them alive and makes them dead.

It is a completely fascinating book and I have read every word of it. It is a fascinating book because Lewis finds fascinating every detail that is American. When I was in Chicago to see "Pinafore," Lewis leaned over to me excitedly, do you see the little midshipman, yes, he's cute I said. Farragut was that and wore exactly that uniform said Lewis sinking back. That is the way he is about any detail that is American and that is why his books are fascinating.

In this one I have had a special pleasure, I went as a little girl from Baltimore to California just about the year he is describing and my memory makes it feel just like that and it was just like that. Then having just gone lecturing all over America it makes everything that happened to Oscar Wilde be real because fifty years after it was still just like that. When I was in America they asked me if I did not find America changed and I said no of course not what could they change to when they are just like that.

It was airplanes instead of trains and good roads instead of bad ones, but the newspapers might almost have been exactly the same ones and the reporters exactly the same ones and all the people after all being so interested and so kind and so nice and the country just the same and the pleasure of everybody just the same. No America has not changed. The newspapers have to be funny just the same way and in the same way the funny poems are funny but the funny prose is not very funny. After all to be funny is very difficult, there is really less good funny writing written than any other writing so why should anybody who writes for any newspaper think he can be funny. And Oscar Wilde wondered that too.

It is a wonderful book, as I said they make them alive and they make them dead, and that is the American thing, nobody but an American writer ever makes anybody really dead, and Lloyd Lewis does he makes them dead. There are a lot of people that are really dead in the book, and they are as alive as they are dead, which is a very interesting thing.

Only once did the authors break down and get into the game, that is on page three hundred and fifty when they say, how this philosophy would have delayed the settlement of the west was a question he did not face. Why should he face something that did not concern him, it was a pleasure to the west that they got settled up so fast but not any pleasure to him. That is the only time in the whole book that the authors stop the picture to get into the argument, and that is what makes the book so extraordinary the picture remains a picture, Wilde and America and the picture is never other than a complete picture except for this one solitary sentence. And it is not like any other thing that has been written because the picture they make is a complete picture every second of it being a picture. There is no remembering it is something they see and they are always seeing it, and so I think it is the most interesting historical book that has yet been written in America, and indeed they control the time so well that even with the thing Wilde was to say when he got home the picture keeps being there as a single thing.

Of course it interests me a lot because the time sense in writing history is awfully hard to manage because most historians remember their material but Lewis does not, it is there present to him all the time and at any time any detail is as present as any whole and there it is as it is.

The photographs are most interesting, the one of Lillian Russell is wonderful and the one, and that is not polite because I did not loan it I gave it to Lloyd Lewis, the one of Mrs. Jesse James, it is all so real and all of it is not illustration but part of what it is. Lloyd Lewis never has to remember because anything that is American is in him and he is in it.

David Darrah's First Book Tears the Veil from Italy's Plans

David Darrah, for seven years Italian correspondent for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and now its London correspondent, has just arranged with Hale, Cushman and Flint of Boston for immediate publication in this country of his first book, "Hail Caesar!" In it he describes the personalities, events and conditions in Italy up to the time of his expulsion from that country by Mussolini last year and gives a first hand account of what has been going on behind the screen of Italian censorship during the last seven years to mold that nation into the new Roman Empire. The book will be released Aug. 15.

Moneyed Author

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—The most important literary news in London at the moment is that a posthumous volume containing between thirty and forty poems by A. E. Housman will be published in the autumn by Jonathan Cape*.

Meanwhile, the widow of another poet, Sir William Watson, who has recently been granted a civil list pension by the government, and who is emigrating to South Africa, is seeing through the press a selection from her husband's poems [the selection made before his death by the poet himself], which will be published by Harrap.

It is a year since the Penguin books, that excellent series of six pennies, made their first appearance all over England. In twelve months nearly 3 million volumes have been sold, and the most popular of them all have been "The Unpleasantness at the Bellona Club," by Dorothy Sayers, the "Autobiography" of Lady Oxford and Asquith, "Twenty-five," by Beverly Nichols [whose "The Fool Hath Said" is still the best selling book of nonfiction in the British Isles], "The Informer," by Liam O'Flaherty [helped by the film of the book], and "Gone to Earth," by Mary Webb.

When the series was first planned by Allen Lane, the gloomiest view was taken of it by all to whom Mr. Lane mentioned his great idea; but now, with its imitators, it has given encouragement to book sales all over England, and one may see holiday makers carrying the little books everywhere.

One of the most remarkable men in English journalism died last year in the person of A. R. Orage, to whom, before the war, the New Age owed its inspiration, and who more recently returned from the United States to found the New English Weekly and run it upon similar lines. The New Age was not only the paper in which Bernard Shaw, Hilaire Belloc, and Gilbert Chesterton carried on some of their most thrilling debates, and the regular recipient of Arnold Bennett's original weekly causeries on "Books and Persons," but it encouraged the early efforts of other, younger, literary men whose reputations have since impressed the world.

Now his collaborator in the New English Weekly, Philip Mairet, has written a brief intimate biography in which he attempts to do justice to a friend and fellow worker; and the book will have as introduction one of the last short pieces written by G. K. Chesterton. It is called "A. R. Orage: a Memoir" [Dent], and will be published next month.

*To be published in New York by Knopf Oct. 15.

6,000 Mile Voyage Over Atlantic in Ketch Is Told

A 6,000 mile voyage across the Mediterranean and Atlantic from Greece to Florida in the ketch rigged Stortebeker is delightfully described by Philip Rigg in "Southern Crossing" [Dutton, $2.50].

The Stortebeker [named after a lengendary Scandinavian pirate] was manned by the author and a crew of three—not to mention the ship's cat. The latter acted as a feline hot water bottle and saved the skipper's life by sleeping on his tummy for hours at a time when he needed hot applications, otherwise impossible to obtain

Mysteries of the Week

BY MORTIMER QUIRK

A fine salt tale of the sea with lots of quality and go is The Tall Man [Putnam, $2], by Gavin Douglas. A coaster with a mysterious cargo is the scene of a variety of calamities including murder, mutiny and a stowaway who seems vaguely responsible for everything. It's a nasty little ship manned by a very mixed crew, two of whom survive very little of the voyage. The captain, blustering and hard-boiled, has a soft spot for romantic sea fiction which he reads between murders. He has no faith in anything human but believes in his ship and such sentimental aspects of life at sea as are depicted in the more vivid pulps. He's a grand character and unique of his race. As for the tall man himself, he's a dashing and believable hero who takes anything that comes along and saves the old shipmaster from the consequences of his excessive pigheadedness.

Murder in Thin Air [Lippincott, $2], by Anthony Wynne is all about communists, murders, wheat corners, specially designed airplanes, and alarms and excursions up and down Scotland by the astute Dr. Hailey. Never was an issue more successfully confused than in this energetic book which, at the end, leaves you worn but happy in that it does conclude with an explanation of the initial murder. If you like excitement of the pumped up variety which goes on and on for three hundred pages you'll find satisfactory entertainment here.

Books Commemorate Many Phases of 100 Year Texas History

This year Texas is celebrating its centennial. Several books have been published commemorating it. Gov. Allred of Texas says of George O'Brien John's "Texas History" [Holt, $1.50]: "This is the history which Texas would like the rest of the nation to read before visiting the Centennial." "My Texas, 'Tis of Thee," by Owen P. White [Putnam, $2.50], celebrates the roaring Texas of the frontier, forty years ago, in which the author spent his childhood. "Texas, the Lone Star State," by Norman Beasley [Doubleday-Doran, 75 cents], is a brief history. "The Road to San Jacinto," by J. Frank Davis [Bobbs-Merrill, $2], an historical novel of the fight for the independence of Texas as is "The Lone Star Rises," by Mabel Sturdivant Satterfield [Story Book Press, $2.50]. "Early Explorations and Mission Establishments in Texas," by Edward Heusinger [Naylor, $2.50]. "The Father of Texas," by Eugene C. Barker [Bobbs-Merrill, $1.75], is a children's biography of Stephen F. Austin, great Texas pioneer, the hundredth anniversary of whose death is commemorated this year. "Sam Bass," by Wayne Gard [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.50], the exciting biography of a Texas bad man.

Lincoln's Life in Springfield Told by Angle

BY BLAINE BROOKS GERNON.
[Noted authority on Lincolniana.]

"Here I Have Lived: A History of Lincoln's Springfield, 1821-1865," by Paul M. Angle. [The Abraham Lincoln Association, $3.50.]

"To this place, and the kindness of these people, I owe everything," so stated 52 year old Abraham Lincoln, President elect, as in 1861 he took leave of Springfield for the long journey to Washington. A long road it had been to this very place and he must have remembered that spring day of 1837 that saw his arrival. Twenty-four years he had spent in Springfield, years of growth and development.

His neighbors had seen him enter their midst as a mere beginner in the law and had watched him rise to front rank at the bar of Illinois, important enough to be called to Chicago and Cincinnati on matters in the courts.

They saw him try three times for congress and then, having won, make his a very mediocre term. They peeped at him from behind curtains when he returned to town in 1849, tired and defeated, and they marveled at his rise in 1854 on the repeal of the Missouri compromise.

They laughed and cried, by turns, at his wooing of the belle of the town, Mary Todd; they congratulated him four times on the births of his children, and they sympathized with him when he buried a son. Yes, Springfield knew Lincoln intimately, for it had shared almost every day of those twenty-four years. And the town was greatly influenced by the man.

How much did Springfield influence Lincoln? This has been bothering students of the man for seventy years. And now the story of that imprint is told in his latest book by Paul M. Angle, dean of Lincolniana.

"Here I Have Lived" is an accurate, informative, colorful, swift moving tale of Springfield and Lincoln. From the spring of 1821 Angle takes us through trading post days, real estate booms, fights for the state capital, rise of public buildings, and the coming of the railroad to the period when Springfield emerged a large and influential city in the fifties.

We see Springfield as gleaned from its newspapers, stores, courts, politics, churches, lodges, societies, celebrations, taverns, lectures, theaters, schools, bookshops, homes, and people.

Springfield and Lincoln grew up together. They cannot be easily separated.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

1½ MILLIONS LEFT BY H. G. ECKSTEIN TO 10 RELATIVES

File Inventory on Estate of Confectioner.

Henry Gottlieb Eckstein, an executive of the Crackerjack company who died in Ontario, Cal., on April 11, 1935, at the age of 75, left an estate valued at more than $1,500,000. This was learned yesterday when an inventory of the estate was filed with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. It was approved by George A. Rooney, assistant to the probate judge, who also approved a widow's award of $50,000 pending settlement of the estate.

Mr. Eckstein's will, probated soon after his death, divided his estate among ten relatives. They are the widow, Louise, who lives on the Eckstein estate near Ontario; a son, Henry Jr., 1755 East 55th place, and his wife and daughter; a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Ampert of Chicago, her husband, Wilson, and their two daughters, and another daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Baldwin of Montecito, Cal., and her two sons.

Original estimates placed the value of Mr. Eckstein's estate at about $800,000. Attorneys said yesterday, however, that the actual value would be more than twice that figure.

Stocks and Bonds Listed.

The inventory lists various stocks and bonds, $30,000 in collectible notes, $5,000 in "desperate" notes, $8,807 in cash, and $11,615 in personal property.

The stocks have a total market value of more than $700,000, exclusive of 3,328 shares of Crackerjack corporation, which is unlisted. Other stocks which the estate contains in addition to the Crackerjack holdings have the following approximate values at current market prices:

Twenty thousand shares of Swift & Co., $400,000; 3,000 shares of Bunte Brothers, $57,000; 3,000 shares of E. J. Brach & Sons, $66,000; 1,000 shares of Cudahy Packing company, $37,000; 1,000 shares of Swift International, $31,000; 312 shares of Atchison, $26,240; 299 shares of Chicago corporation, $1,200; 202 shares of Continental Illinois National bank, $28,684; 221 shares of Crane company, $55,250, and 105 shares of William Wrigley Jr., $6,825.

The bonds listed in the inventory have a total value of $774,000. The largest holding is $302,000 of First Liberty loan [since retired]. Bonds of land banks throughout the country total $235,000, and school bonds in various cities total $25,000. The other bonds are: $110,000 in Crackerjack company, $82,000 in United States treasury bills, $10,000 in Detroit and Superior bridge bonds, and $10,000 in bonds of Monroe county, Iowa.

Jeffery Will Probated.

The will of Mrs. Kate E. Jeffery, widow of Thomas B. Jeffery, Kenosha automobile manufacturer who died in 1910, disposing of $253,000 to five relatives, was admitted to probate yesterday by Oscar S. Kaplan, assistant to the probate judge. Mrs. Jeffery was 83 years old when she died on July 17 in her home at the Webster hotel, 2150 Lincoln Park West.

By the terms of the will a nephew, Dean Wray, 1228 Norwood avenue, will receive $5,000. The remainder is to be divided in eight equal shares. Three-eighths of the residue is left to a daughter, Florence Jeffery Hudson, 538 Hawthorne place. A like amount goes to Blanche A. Jeffery of New York City, wife of Kate Jeffery's son, Harold. A grandson, Jeffery Carqueville of Libertyville, is left one-eighth, and a like share goes to a granddaughter, Katherine C. Le Clercq of Spring Glen, Conn.

Mrs. Jeffery's son, Harold, was one of the principal beneficiaries in the will of his father, but is not mentioned as a beneficiary in his mother's will.

$50,000 Estate Divided.

The will of Mrs. Mary Melvena Sanger of Oak Park, dividing $50,000 equally among a son, Andrew of Oak Park; a daughter, Mrs. Edna Grafton Beck of Highland Park, Mich., and three grandchildren, John and Jeanne Rounds of St. Paul and Fred Rounds of Pullman, Wash., was also admitted to probate. Mrs. Sanger died in Monroe, Mich., on July 11 at the age of 98.

Also admitted to probate was the estate of Mrs. Ellen H. C. Wood, widow of James Wood, formerly one of the owners of the Sheffield Foundry company. The estate, valued at $49,500, will be divided among three children. They are: William Alexander Wood, 6221 Kirkwood avenue; Mrs. Alice Elizabeth Fisher, 1645 Berwyn avenue, and James Anderson Wood, 4056 North Harding avenue. Mrs. Wood died on July 2 at the age of 75.

Shuts Off Water of Tenants Behind in Rent; Fined $200

Charles Wistrand, 75 years old, 2282 Clybourn avenue, was fined $200 by Judge Justin F. McCarthy yesterday in Town Hall court for shutting off the water supply of Mrs. Mary Parlea, a tenant in Wistrand's building who fell behind in rent payments. A similar complaint was made by Albert Pionke, 39 years old, also a tenant. Both families include children. Pionke and Mrs. Parlea said they failed to pay July rent because their relief checks were late. Wistrand said the city shut off the water because, lacking rentals, he could not pay his water bill. He told Judge McCarthy he could not pay his fine and would have to work it out in the Bridewell.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Those programs Charles P. Hughes produces seem to be stepping stones to Hollywood. Don Ameche, who made his radio name largely on Hughes' First Nighter on NBC, is now firmly entrenched in pictures. Hughes left NBC for W-G-N and Mutual not so many months ago to create a new dramatic show which he calls "Behind the Camera Lines." With June Meredith as his leading lady Hughes has been using Vin Haworth as head man. Haworth also played a leading part with Myrt and Marge.

A few weeks ago Haworth decided to take a vacation. He bought a trailer and headed west to see what was really going on behind the camera lines. Stopping in on Hughes yesterday to watch a rehersal of last night's play, Finney Briggs' "Night Hawk," your reporter was shown a telegram from Haworth saying that he had a contract at RKO and had already gone to work in a picture titled, "Without Orders."

Currently Hughes is relying on young Ed Prentiss as leading man. A year ago he played the part of doorman in "First Nighter" and had about two lines to read. Now he is starred. A good looking young chap, Ed is likely to find his way to the movies in the end, too.

More new programs: Vincent Lopez and Floyd Gibbons will go to work for that Kenosha motor concern over CBS Saturday evenings at 9 starting Oct. 3. Lopez also is to be the first band of several to be used on the new "Portraits in Harmony" series starting on NBC Tuesday, Sept. 15. . . . The hosiery concern that last had Jack Hylton on the air will sponsor Edwin C. Hill, commentator, and a musical combination yet to be picked at 9 Sunday evenings over the NBC blue network.

The Elgin watch maker who aired the Benny Goodman series last spring is about set to use Kay Kyser on a football and collegiate melody type of show over CBS Saturday nights starting Oct. 3 . . . Bernarr McFadden is to sponsor a program in which he will discuss his own editorials over W-G-N and the Mutual network at 9 p. m. Tuesday, starting Aug. 18. . . . CBS is taking a wire to Callander, Ont., to pick up Dr. Allan Dafoe discussing the private life of the quintuplets for an antiseptic concern starting Oct. 5.

Good Morning!

Here's another picture that [before her recent marriage to Arthur Hornblow] should have sent all bachelors and widowers clamoring at Myrna Loy's door! For, again, she is cast as one of those wives men dream about but seldom find. Beautiful, gay, understanding—and loyal to the last ditch.

"To Mary—with Love" might be described as a matrimonial melodrama—only you mustn't get that wrong! For, you see, it's no wildly sensational affair, but a fine, intelligent, touching and intensely dramatic study of married life under the turbulent conditions that have prevailed in the world since 1920.

Mary and Jock, deeply in love, are married during the days of climbing stocks and easy money. After a rapturous honeymoon abroad they return to New York where Jock becomes immersed in money making. Mary, not ready yet to have the child he wants, tries to forget her loneliness in a round of giddy merrymaking that she doesn't in the least enjoy. . . . An almost domestic crash brings the two to their senses for a time and Mary has her baby—that dies at birth. . . . Chaos again!

Constantly standing by is Bill Hallam, lawyer and best friend of both the Wallaces, who has always loved Mary wholeheartedly.

The crash comes. Jock is wiped out—and can't take it. He starts drinking heavily and, for a while, Hallam, unknown to Mary, supports the Wallaces. When she learns of this she takes a job, despite Jock's hysterical protests and oft-repeated assertion that "My wife shan't work."

Shamed then, but unable to find anything to do in the architectural line, which is all Jock knows—he finally takes a twenty dollar a week job in a department store—from which he is fired when the Christmas rush is over. . . .

Again he can't take it, and, in his despair, lands the Wallaces in a welter of circumstances that would have led to divorce but for the wise intervention of Bill Hallam, who refuses to consider his own feelings and says the words needed to bring these two people, who love each other so much, together again.

The principal rôles—all rôles for that matter—are splendidly handled. Miss Loy and Mr. Baxter are a most endearing pair of married lovers. Ian Hunter as Hallam gives you back your faith in humanity; makes you realize that there ARE good men in the world. REALLY good ones—sterling to the core.

Claire Trevor is fascinating as a girl who adores Jock and to whom he turns in his crazy moments. Jean Dixon as a frank speaking family friend does brilliant bit work.

The film is lavishly mounted and thoroughly satisfactory as to all technical details.

"To Mary—with Love" has thrill, excitement, humor, and heartbreak. It holds your interest taut from opening to closing scenes.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

THE communist party was represented in the peace parade and Jane Addams memorial meetings last Saturday as it turned out. At the Grant park band shell an elderly and quite conservative looking woman and a young one were waiting for the parade to get there. The young one looked over the greensward and remarked, "My, isn't it pretty?" And the elderly woman answered, in a matter of fact tone, "Yes; this is going to be one of our Red squares."

Communist—Ladies—Cat note.

THE first ladies of birth and position in New York to go into trade were Elsie De Wolfe, who became an interior decorator; "Dodie" Osborn, who went into dressmaking; Kitty Gandy, who took up millinery, and Bessie Marbury, who started a Broadway dramatic agency. Frank C. Crowinshield, in his introduction to Marjorie Hillis' sophisticated "Live Alone and Like It," says that was in 1900, that social circles rocked with the shock, and that for a year or so the four pioneers were considered brazen and shameless. Before 1900, he points out, a few ladies had entered the professions; Julie Cruger and Edith Wharton were writing novels, Cora Potter [mother of Mrs. Fowler McCormick] and Clara Bloodgood were acting in plays, Mary Cassatt and Lydia Emmet were painting pictures, and Mary Putnam was practicing medicine, but so far the stigmata of trade had been too intolerable for a lady to endure. Now there are thousands of gentlewomen in trade.

CHICAGO has had a similar history, although no one from social circles seems to have gone into trade as early as 1900. The impetus that caused Chicago's socially prominent women to go into trade was, first, the war and, second, the depression. Some of them, like Mrs. Howard Linn, ran shops for war wounded, and after that, having discovered their genius for business or professions, opened shops. Mrs. Linn had one of the first decorating shops to be run by a woman prominent in social circles. The late Rue Winterbotham Carpenter was demonstrating her genius for decorating as early as 1916, when she did the Arts club, opened that year. Mrs. George Magoun was one of the first from social circles to have a job, managing the Arts club, and Mrs. Ford Rodman Carter was a pioneer in the dress business. Now there are dozens in trade in Chicago, and hundreds of women of birth and breeding working in shops, banks, offices, and galleries.

A SMALL animal note concerns the stray cat that roams the Ravinia grounds, and that has made a home for her offspring in one of the enormous gilt chairs in the opera storehouse. Last Saturday, during the second half of the Hans Lange concert, two concertgoers from the north shore fed her with ice cream by means of one of the little wooden spoons that come with it. She ate it gratefully and neatly, washed her face, and, with a grateful look at her benefactor, wandered off, her tail waving in time to "The Pines of Rome."

100 Thousand Hear Rubinoff at Grant Park

Noted Violinist Greeted by Great Demonstration.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

An immense concourse of people, whose strength was estimated at as high as 100,000, jammed every inch of the huge audience area south of the Grant park band shell last night to gasp and shout and scream a welcome to Rubinoff and His Violin.

So great was the demonstration and so wild the enthusiasm that Dave Rubinoff himself, a smiling, sturdy fellow in a white suit, admitted in a voice as charged with emotion as his violin that he had never had such a thrill in all his busy life.

It was an emotional evening. Rubinoff embraced James C. Petrillo, president of the Federation of Musicians. Mr. Petrillo thanked Rubinoff for coming and expressed appreciation for the coöperation of Mayor Kelly and Park District President Dunham in this series of free lake front concerts. The federation, through Herb Carlin, presented Rubinoff with a case for the famous violin.

But even so, by far the greater part of the emotion was out beyond the band shell. When 9:40 came and there was a pause in the program of the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra to permit a reseating of the musicians, the great masses of people who stretched in almost solid phalanx down toward the Field museum knew that the moment had arrived. They pressed almost imperceptibly forward, children suddenly appeared as by a miracle in the dense bushes at the side of the stage.

"RUBINOFF AND HIS VIOLIN," cried the announcer. There was a gasp through the field, thunderous applause, suddenly Homeric laughter. A man who belonged to the orchestra had come meekly out, fiddle in hand, to seek his place on one of the tiers at the exact moment of the announcement. His conduct was a model of poise, a simple amused smile that took everything in and was prepared to enjoy it.

Then came Rubinoff, while the applause still rolled and thundered. He tucked his violin under his chin, went slowly and tentatively into a Russian peasant dance.

Wily Rubinoff knows how to charge his strings with such power that they seem about to snap under the pressure, not of his bow, but of the emotional drive behind it. He knows, too, how intoxicating a rhythmic filip you can give to a tune by a moment's suspense at its beginning and a gradual accelerando during its course.

After extracting the last clinging ounce of sentiment out of "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," the violinist applied himself to a popular medley that included that taking opus of a year or two ago, "It's June in January." The choice of works in this group drew a couple of delighted "Atta Boy's" from the audience.

A little later, Rubinoff proved what almost any one would have guessed—that he is not the phlegmatic type of conductor. He took the baton for some supercharged gypsy tunes and worked himself and his audience up into considerable of a state. He frequently leaves the stand and is apparently about to walk right into the orchestra, to exhort some particular section on the need of getting just a bit more ping into its tone. By the time "Play Gypsies, Dance Gypsies" came along everybody was in a fine frenzy, with Rubinoff wielding his violin again instead of the baton.

Rubinoff's talents are not confined to playing and conducting. He is a master of the arts of pantomime and grimace, and drew several delighted laughs for his likable carryings-on during the crowded half-hour in which he was before the public.

All the storm broke about the little stage at the end of the evening. Autograph hunters, a couple of kissers, and thousands of people who wanted a closer glimpse of the dedoubtable Rubinoff went toward the shell instead of away from it.

The non-Rubinoff portions of the program consisted of a performance of three operatic excerpts and a ballad by Mrs. Ernest J. Kruetgen and of the Tschaikowsky Fifth Symphony and two compositions of Richard Czerwonky by the orchestra, Mr. Czerwonky directed for all of these, as well as for Rubinoff's solos.

Sally to Tell Plans Tomorrow for New Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

For years and years, every single Sunday edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE during the summer months has brought the news of a party of one kind or another, conducted especially by THE TRIBUNE for children. And tomorrow you'll find details of an exciting new party in my column.

If you've never attended one of my parties you don't know what you're missing and you'd better wake up and see if you can't win an invitation to our next good time, the date of which will be Aug. 20.

Any child who would like to have some fun is eligible to try for an invitation, and the rules for sending in a request are very simple, as you'll see if you read them tomorrow.

My column will also have good tidings for 100 of the children who wrote in for invitations to our party at the College Inn of the Hotel Sherman on next Thursday.

Movie Comics Tell Favorite Jokes at Studio

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Among the "dizzy dozen" comedians on the set of "Big Broadcast of 1937," the man who gets attention from the others is a somber faced juggler who never consciously told a joke in his life.

This juggler, Stan Kavanagh, earned the jovial attentiveness of such celebrated wags as Jack Benny, Bob Burns, George Burns, Gracie Allen, and Benny Baker.

Kavanagh's reputation sprang from a single gag which had to do with cafeterias. He made it a standing joke that a Los Angeles man could always be told by a dent in his vest caused by the wear and tear of cafeteria trays.

"I've spent my life juggling Indian clubs, plates, tennis racquets, and such," Stan was telling the assembled comedians. "Some folks have told me I'm the greatest juggler since Bill Fields. Don't remember ever dropping anything during a performance.

"But the other day I got into a cafeteria. I was lugging a whole tray to a table and"—and he was very serious about this—"danged if I didn't drop the stuff right on the floor."

Comedians as a class protest violently that they have nothing but love and admiration for one another, but when one's reputation depends on getting laughs, there naturally is competition. So when the between-scenes conversation turned to the topic of all-time successful jokes there was some valiant tugging.

Benny's current prize is the story of the Scotchman in a taxi who noticed that the meter was registering during traffic stops. He protested and the cabby coldly told him that the meter worked all the time a fare was riding. Next time a red light halted the cab the Scot leaped out and shouted, "I'm standing on the curb until the lights change!"

Bob Burns put down his bazooka long enough to tell his own favorite story.

"I had an uncle who was an awful drinker," Burns drawled. "The boys thought if they got something for him to take his mind off liquor he'd mend his ways. So one day they went into Van Buren and bought a radio. They knew he'd never seen a radio. So they went back home and hitched it up on the front porch.

"My uncle was in the parlor either in a kinda stupor or asleep. They tuned in the radio and who should they get singing but Bing Crosby. At first my uncle kind of twitched, but finally he sat up and listened. Bing's voice was coming in clear over the night air. My uncle jumped up and dashed out of the house. As he went off the front porch he hollered, 'Get your guns, boys; old Ring's done got something treed!'"

Gracie—O, Georgie, I had so much fun yesterday diving into my sister's new swimming pool.

Gracie—O, we'll have more fun than that tomorrow. They're going to put some water in the pool.

Gracie, however, thinks she got her biggest laugh when she said, "I was so surprised when I was born that I didn't talk for two years."

Take your pick.

Benny Baker told the one about the non-Aryan movie director who proudly announced, "I've just got an offer from Berlin—$500 a week and my funeral expenses."

Not amusing but technically interesting is the fact that "The Big Broadcast of 1937" introduces malleable glass to the movies. This new glass can be bent into any desired shape.

Velvets Bring First Taste of Autumn Styles

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Neat little velvet berets—the giddier small hats that are really nothing more nor less than a rakishly tied bow—and velvet dresses tell shoppers that fall showings are not far away.

The first of the sleek, lovely black velvet dresses have appeared in many shops. You'll like them more than ever. They are made with long, clinging streamlines, some with long, fitted sleeves that reach a point well down near the fingers. Most of the early arrivals boast slinky slim trains. Decorative jacket tops make them exceedingly practical as well as good looking.

One black beauty has a silver white metallic tiny fitted jacket. A row of tiny covered buttons keeps it snug across the chest, and short sleeves have a way of making it dress parade.

The extra jacket stunt is going stronger than ever. Next fall and winter you'll probably wear and collect extra jackets, from the fancy and flippant to the comfortable and cozy affairs. Jacket collectors should show the enthusiasm of the stamp collectors. Extra jackets of varying styles, fit, colors, and fabrics are available. With street clothes or dresses of dull or shiny black the colored jacket is used for contrast. Violet wool over black and the violet wool jacket trimmed with narrow bands of pale Persian are just two of the most exciting new possibilities. With deep blue you can wear a caramel beige jacket or a short and fitted Scotch plaid wool jacket. A gay green velveteen jacket can go with a copper brown or black dress. A bright blue wool jacket can be worn with a dizzy plaid wool dress or skirt.

The concoctions are endless, and the jacket racket should continue for a long time.

The newest of black satin evening gowns are sold with gleaming white satin or dull silk crêpe jacket tops, and we emphasize jacket tops because they are really a bit more than just jackets. Most of them ripple around the peplum and hang longer in back than front.

A lot of the newest ideas have very short sleeves and button down the back, thus giving the entire ensemble the top effect with the jacket. Without this jacket the dress is severely smart and very much gouged out of neckline, ready for gala evenings anywhere.

Horoscope Dresses Create Sensation in Paris Showings

[Copyright; 1936; By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Lanvin launches a sensation in her horoscope dresses, embroidered, quilted or appliqued with celestial symbols. An astrologer at Lanvin's will cast the client's horoscope so that each model may be individually adapted to harmonize with the buyer's personal destiny.

Black felt planets are appliqued on the black tulle tunics of two-piece evening frocks. Magicians' evening capes of fire-red broadcloth are quilted with geometrical symbols. The aurora borealis and phases of the moon appear in glittering blue bead embroidery or silver lamé. Pointed necromancers' caps are made of felt for daytime; in gold, silver, or iridescent feathers for evening.

Many oriental features accompany this trend. Arab trousers, draped between the ankles and worn over short contrasting colored slips, are shown for informal and formal evening wear. Jeweled anklets shine through transparent chiffon harem skirts. This inspires a series of stunning evening gowns with a face-cloth head dress that may be pulled down into a collarette or cape.

Chicago Trio in Dublin for Horse Show

Event Famous Throughout Entire World.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE John F. Jelkes and their Mary Louanna, were in Dublin this week for the famous horse show and its attendant festivities. A Lake Forest horse show without a large representation of Jelkes is unthinkable, and Mr. and Mrs. Jelke often go to Virginia or Baltimore or Atlantic City or wherever there is a show or racing or hunting, so it seems quite fitting that they should have timed their Irish visit so that they could see "Dobbin in Dublin."

Last summer Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor was in the crowds—20,000 daily—that thronged the enclosure at Ball's Bridge where the Royal Dublin Society show is held, and Mrs. Howard Linn hopes each year to be there but so far she never has been able to arrange to be in Dublin at the beginning of August.

Mrs. Linn is leaving with Mr. Linn on Monday to sail Wednesday for the British Isles, but it is golf more than horses that will engross their attention for the next two months, for they are going to pay on all the famous golf courses of Ireland, Scotland, and England. Mr. Linn will come home in October, however, and then Mrs. Linn will devote herself to horses, for she will stay over until Christmas to enjoy the fox hunting season.

Mrs. Chauncey McCormick and her son, Brooks, landed Thursday in Southampton and they intend going to the south of Ireland—the Irish Free State—but whether they are in Dublin today for the final day of the show is not known by Mr. McCormick.

Home in the Hills.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Home in the Hills" is a unique quilt in the novelty class. It is a combination of piecing and appliqué work. The hills—in three shades of green—are pieced, and the houses appliquéd. The houses must be applied to the various hills before they are all set together. For variety the houses may have roofs, walls, or gables in several different colors.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war Roger Mallard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. Grimmy persuades Mal to attend Maude Copley's New Year's eve party, where he meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Manners. A month later Mal marries Zelda. After two years the marriage ends disastrously. In a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing in his one good ear. Grimmy arouses Mal from grief-stricken dissipation. Fourteen years later, under Grimmy's tutelage, Mal has become a great success in pictures, hiding his affliction from his public. Pamella Wyeth has a home in Pasadena. David Barkley, son of an old friend, boards with her. David attends the premiere of Mal's latest film. Mal is mourning the sudden death of Grimmy. Sitting next to David is a young law stenographer with whom he carries on a flirtation. He invites her to a New Year's eve party and asks Pamella along as chaperon.

INSTALMENT XII.

MID-WINTER NIGHT'S DREAM.

Roger Mallard sank back into his chair beside a dying fire. The bungalow door had just closed on Bert Glenford's departure. Bert had dropped in to give a report on the premiere.

"I congratulate him."

After a long pause in the one-sided conversation, Glenford said abruptly: "See here, Mal—Ito tells me you haven't slept for a week."

"Don't bother about me."

"Quit moping here in these rooms, Mal. You haven't been out, have you?"

Mal, staring into the fire, did not answer.

"You're acting like a fool!"

"My best rôle."

Bert's eyes, bright, quick blue, flicked over the array of decanters on a table down the length of the room.

"Very well."

Bert fetched the tray of decanters and placed it on a stand by Mal's chair.

"Why don't you go ahead and get good and drunk?" Again he leaned over to lay a hand on Mal's shoulder. "I say, go ahead and get cockeyed. I'll stick around and put you to bed."

Mal, with a glance of his amazingly alert eyes now so slow and lifeless, looked about the room until his gaze rested on Grimwold's empty chair.

"I've been through all that. I never got any sleep out of it. Besides, I wouldn't need your ministrations. In my day, I could put them all under the table."

"Well, if you won't drink yourself, why not look on while others do it? Go over to the ballroom with the New Year's eve crowd." Bert got up and stood looking down at Mal's white face. "Come on, Mal. Snap out of it!"

"I will in time. I have before."

There was another long pause, and then Glenford burst out: "Don't keep taking it so hard, Mal . . . You've still got Sol and—me."

Mal reached over and gripped his hand.

"Bert—believe me, I——"

"Shut up, or you'll have me blubbering. I'm off. So long, Mal."

"So long, Bert. Thanks for coming to tell me how it went."

The man and his room couldn't have been better prepared if he were about to do a scene in one of his own plays. His devotees would have been interested to note that he ran true to form as to silken lounging robe, knotted about the well-exercised slimness of his waist. They would have been surprised, however, at other details. Something had made his well known face look years older than that of the hero in Clatworthy's play. His much admired dark hair had acquired two little white mercury wings over each ear, and a snowy plume among the thick locks on his forehead. His upper lip, minus the black elegance of the mustache which had always been his trade-mark, looked positively naked. And finally the indomitable strength of his features, which could be so quickly replaced by expressions both gay and tender, held a stony bleakness.

This evening had also been an anniversary for Mr. Roger Mallard, but it couldn't exactly be said that he was celebrating it. Though he was trying to forget, he was not succeeding. Not with Grimwold's vacant chair across the hearth, his books all about. Everywhere he looked, into the fire, at the curtained windows, the shadows lurking in the corners, he saw, without a single detail missing, the scenes that had taken place fourteen years ago—that had started the joint career, broken now for the first time by death. . . .

Mal's determination to repay Grimwold with interest and to make good in his eyes had been the main spur to his phenomenal effort. But when a phenomenal success had crowned this effort, Zelda, who knew, as Grimwold had surmised, which side of her bread was buttered, had claimed a share in it.

"Very neat of you to make a big hit the minute you were rid of me!" her letters had bombarded him. "If for professional reasons, you don't want a lot of publicity on the subject of your marriage, you've got to keep remembering quarterly that I'm still your legal wife. Besides, I'll not sit around in dark picture palaces and watch you pile up a fortune making divine love to other women, without being well paid for my silence."

She had implacably refused him a divorce.

Grimwold's pride and joy and success in this amazing career had been Mal's greatest compensation. Yet this very thing enslaved him and made it impossible ever to let Grimwold down—even in his thoughts which often turned guiltily to a longing for retirement and privacy and surcease from striving.

But he'd gone on unfalteringly playing up to Grimwold's delight in his triumphs. Even to that last delight over a letter from London, still lying crumpled on his desk. It informed Mr. Roger Mallard that he was to be knighted in honor of his service to the drama and the empire.

"Sir Roger Mallard!" Grimwold had cried and flung an arm about him—when all the time he knew the old boy had a secret longing to be knighted himself.

The crowning irony, which had given him the honor another man had more greatly earned and deserved!

Then to have failed Grimwold in the end. . . .

Another scene began to flicker before Mal's eyes, sharp and clear even after the æon of a week. He saw himself, briskly entering this room to meet Grimwold at breakfast. But Grimwold, who was punctual to a dot, had not yet appeared. After a wait which stretched out to more than twenty minutes, Mal went down to Grimwold's door, knocked and opened it.

The room, as usual, was as neat as a pin, with Grimwold's clothes folded meticulously over the chairs. A lamp still burned on the bedside table, its light wanly shimmering over a little clock with hands stopped at two, over the funny old-fashioned photograph of Grimwold's young wife and baby in a silver frame, over a play of Noel Coward's, and a copy of the Prayer Book. The cane which Grimwold used to call with, by a vigorous pounding on the floor, had fallen at the side of the bed with one of Grimwold's hands hanging down toward it as if the cane had dropped from his grip. And there was William Grimwold lying big and straight and still with a veil of majestic peace shadowing his rugged face.

"Grimmy!"

For the first time in many years, Grimwold made no response to his godson.

"Ito!"

"Did you hear anything in the night?"

"Yes—the cane there falling. But when I knocked Mr. Grimwold did not reply."

"Why didn't you wake me?"

"When Mr. Grimwold did not reply, I opened the door. He appeared to be sleeping."

Sleeping. . . . Always he would be tormented because Grimwold needed him and tried to call him, and he had failed to answer that last call. . . .

Tells How 300 City Children Received Vacations on Farms

How more than 300 of the city's underprivileged children have been given summer vacations on farms near Chicago was told yesterday by Miss Florence Nesbitt, assistant superintendent of the United Charities.

Farmers in 60 communities agreed to take the children into their homes without charge. Railroads provided free transportation and so that there would be no danger of the children carrying diseases, 15 doctors gave the children physical examinations.

Four Young Chicagoans on Southwest Expedition

Mr. Rose and his bride will motor north on their wedding trip and will make their home in Indianapolis. The wedding will take place in the chapel at the Fourth Presbyterian church at 4:30 o'clock, and there will be a small reception afterward at the Fortnightly. Fittingly enough, William Wallin of Oak Park, who introduced Mr. Rose to Miss Robertson, will be best man.

Garden Tour Today at Lake Forest.

If it should rain today the Lake Forest garden tour the woman's board of the Children's Memorial hospital has arranged to enlarge the stock of the White Elephant Rummage shop will be postponed a week, but if the weather is fair there undoubtedly will be many visitors at four of Lake Forest's loveliest gardens.

A white elephant will be the price of admission to each garden; the tour will be open from 2 until 6 o'clock, and from 4 o'clock on the Deerpath inn will serve tea to the garden tourists without any cost.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase is entertaining guests at luncheon at her home in Lake Forest, later taking them to the gardens, and another member of the committee, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, is having a luncheon party at the Shoreacres club before visiting the gardens.

The gardens that will be open to the public are those of Mrs. Donald R. McLennan of 1345 North Lake road; of the Misses Colvin, who live just across the road from the McLennan estate; of Mrs. James H. Douglas of 910 North Green Bay road, and of Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson of 1075 Ringwood road. An American flag will fly at the entrance of each estate.

Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, who counts the Rummage shop at 27 East Ohio street one of her pet philanthropies, is motoring down from Lake Geneva for the tour, bringing a group of friends with her. Mrs. Jacob Baur and Mrs. Charles K. Foster are others who have been working to make a success of the affair.

Ryerson and Bride Will Arrive Today.

Mrs. Ryerson will have other guests than those who visit her gardens today, for her grandson, Joseph T. Ryerson Jr., and his bride are arriving by motor for a brief visit with her on their way to Santa Barbara where they will spend their honeymoon. Mrs. Ryerson's health did not permit her to go east for the wedding of Miss Maria Ducey and young Mr. Ryerson last Saturday in Northeast Harbor, Me., but his other grandmother, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, who also lives in Lake Forest, was there and is returning by train today.

Mrs. Chase will have a luncheon party at her hospitable home tomorrow, too, for she is entertaining for her niece, Miss Janet Ayer, whose engagement to Ross J. Beatty Jr. was announced recently. Miss Ayer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Ayer, have as their guest now Mrs. Ayer's sister, Mrs. Nelson L. Williams of Bedford, N. Y.

Edward C. Howes Will Give Cocktail Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Howe Jr. are giving a cocktail party tomorrow afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock at the John Scott house on the borderline between Glencoe and Hubbard Woods where they are spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph E. Prussing. Mr. and Mrs. Howe recently returned from Denver where they visited his parents, the senior Edward C. Howes.

Mrs. J. Hill Whiting, who spent the first part of the summer with the Prussings, is now at her summer home at Easthampton, N. Y. Her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Spalding, is with her.

Miss Frances Whedon and her niece, Miss Frances Jeffery, who spent July at Fish Creek, Wis., are spending this month on a ranch in Wyoming.

The Angus Hibbards left yesterday for Lake Owen, Wis., to occupy a cottage until late in September.

Mrs. Asaph Churchill Goes East Next Week.

Mrs. Asaph Churchill, the former Dorothy Moorehead, is returning to New York early next week after a long visit with her mother, Mrs. Hirst Moorehead. Mr. and Mrs. Churchill and their little daughter are sailing next month for India where they will spend the next two and a half years in Bombay. Mrs. Moorehead will accompany her daughter to New York to remain until the Churchills sail.

Dr. Frederick B. Moorehead is planning an informal cocktail party for his daughter before she goes back to New York.

Mrs. Potter L. Smith of Barrington has returned from a fortnight's visit with Mrs. Scott Jordan at her camp near Saugatuck, Mich. While she was there Mrs. Smith saw her 9 year old daughter, Renault, who is at a girls' camp near Saugatuck. Mrs. Smith is one of those who every year make a drive for funds for Camp Algonquin and this year the results of the campaign in Barrington amounted to over $600. Mrs. Samuel D. Rowe and Mrs. Robert Hilton were co-chairmen of the campaign this summer.

Chicago's horse racing fans will spend this afternoon at Washington Park and some of them undoubtedly will remain after the last race for the first of the Saturday tea dances that Walter L. Gregory, new president of the Homewood plant, is inaugurating. A stringed orchestra will play until 9 o'clock.

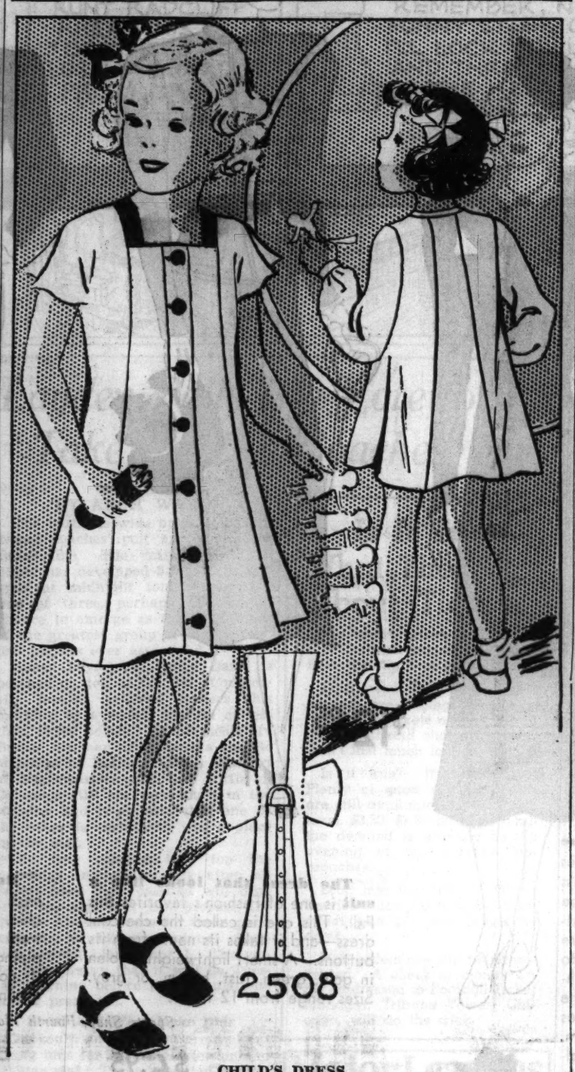
Flattering Princess Lines



CHILD'S DRESS.

This princess dress for growing girls has the smart and tailored square neckline. The sleeves are cut in one with the side panels, and buttons trim the front closing. This frock is simple to cut, easy to sew, and the grandest model in the world to wash and iron.

The dress is graceful on the rather awkward silhouettes of little girls between the ages of four and ten. It is completely paneled from shoulder to hem, and may have either the brief, capelet sleeves or the longer and full ones, should you plan to make this frock for your daughter's autumn wardrobe.

Color contrast is important in lending distinction to the dress. The inserts at the neckline are matched by the buttons down the front, and both details harmonize with the basic shade of the dress. Pink with wine; white with blue, green, or wine; blue with white, and yellow with brown are interesting combinations.

Cottons such as chambray, percale, dimity, gingham, calico, and piqué are sturdy fabrics for this dress for active little girls.

Style No. 2508 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, and 10 years. Size 8 requires 1¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Four Aces Beaten by Bottom Team in Asbury Park Tourney

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—One of the most sensational upsets in contract bridge history occured today when a team which had come through at the bottom of the qualifiers eliminated the four aces in the first round of the knockout team of four championship of the American Bridge league.

The conquerors of the aces, who headed the qualifiers and were expected to walk off with the title, were Herbert L. Goldsmith and Jack Weisman of New York and Capt. Fred G. French and Mrs. Olive Peterson of Philadelphia. In the qualifying sessions they had tied for sixteenth place and had to compete in a playoff ten minutes before the knockout round began.

The members of the four aces were Oswald Jacoby, David Burnstine, Howard Schenken, and B. Jay Beack. It was the same lineup that won the masters' team of four crown last winter.

Precision in bidding meager holdings up to the game level accounted for the victory of Capt. French's team, which was scored by a margin of only 930 points. With favorable distribution, the team invariably made opening bids on two honor tricks and it was these light opening bids that in one or two critical instances enabled them to go to the games while their opponents held back.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Foster, 5406 University avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Irene, to Harry L. Foster of Milwaukee. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Aug. 22, at the Fosters' home, and Mr. Foster will take his bride to Milwaukee to live. Mr. Foster is a graduate of the University of Illinois and Miss Foster was graduated from the University of Chicago.

"Filling the Cookie Jar," a booklet of unusual an dtasty cookie recipes, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, The Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

This is the soup that won the heart of the prince, children. Only there was a joke about it. The prince thought the soup was made by a lovely kitchen maid. He didn't know for a long time that the kitchen maid was really a princess who had run away from home.

You see, the princess was a little bit fed up on royal life at her father's palace, so she dressed up as a kitchen maid and got herself a job in the palace kitchen of a neighboring country. There she learned to make such delicious tomato soup that the handsome young prince sought her out to tell her it was just what he liked best. And when he saw her he fell in love with her, of course, even though he thought she was only a little kitchen girl.

The king couldn't allow his son to marry anybody but a royal princess, you know, and at first he was very vexed with his son. But when the girl told him she was really a princess and not a kitchen maid at all, the king gave the couple his royal blessing. The young people lived happily ever after, and the princess frequently made cream of tomato soup for her husband with her very own hands.

This is the way she made the soup. It's our young cooks' lesson for today.

1. Your utensils: A saucepan, double boiler, measuring cup, measuring spoons. The ingredients: Two cups tomatoes [canned or fresh], ⅛ cup chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 teaspoons sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 quart milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika.

2. Put the tomatoes, celery, onion, and sugar in the saucepan and let them simmer over a low fire for 15 minutes. Cover the saucepan.

3. Melt the four tablespoons of butter in the top of the double boiler placed over the bottom part, in which water is boiling. Add the four tablespoons of flour and mix well.

4. Add the milk very gradually, stirring as you add to prevent lumps from forming.

5. Strain the tomato mixture into the milk, butter, and flour sauce. Now add the teaspoon of salt and the ⅛ teaspoon paprika.

6. Stir all together and let the soup remain over hot water for 15 minutes, so that the flour is entirely cooked and there will be no starchy taste.

7. Serve piping hot in bowls, with plenty of crackers or croutons to go with it.

Next week, youngsters, we'll learn to make a lovely creamy caramel pudding. So long until then!

According to CULBERTSON

AN EASY THROW-IN PLAY.

Yesterday I published a letter from a gentleman who offered, nay insisted, on being my "contract spy," pointing out that he, much better than I, could circulate in bridge circles of different types and send me human interest hands and stories. I did not have space in yesterday's column to thank him properly, but now I take pleasure in expressing my appreciation. Some men require a bodyguard. My own pressing need, I now realize, was an A-1, indefatigable spy willing to work for the improvement of his fellow players, instead of filthy cash.

Here is another example of commuters' contract which he has sent me:

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
East-West 30 on score.

NORTH
♠ 8 6 2
♥ K 7 4
♦ Q 6 3

WEST
♠ K 7
♥ J 6 5
♦ K J 8 7 2
♣ Q 7 4

EAST
♠ A 10 9 5 4
♥ A Q 10 8 9
♦ 10 5

SOUTH
♠ Q J 3
♥ 9 2
♦ A 9 4
♣ K 6 5 3 2

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, of course, was quite wrong to insist on a no trump contract. He should have raised the hearts to three, which was enough for game on the 30 part-score. East also was at fault for not insisting on one of his two major suits, by bidding three hearts over two no trump. But it was West alone who proceeded to make hash out of the play.

North opened the ten of clubs, South won with the king and returned his original fourth best, the three. North proceeded to cash his entire club suit, but South was blocked with the long club. Now North shifted to the spade eight, dummy played the nine, South the jack, and declarer the king. The successful heart finesse allowed declarer to run off dummy's suit for five tricks, during which South was getting into deep water with his discards. On the third and fourth heart he let go diamonds, but when the fifth was played, he had the unhappy choice of chucking his good club, unguarding the spade queen, or [unthinkable] letting go the diamond ace. He chose the first named as the only one that might not be fatal. With only the A-10 of spades and the ten of diamonds left in dummy, and six tricks already home, declarer should not have had the slightest trouble in taking the two tricks still necessary for his contract. A diamond would have forced South on lead and made him surrender both spade tricks to dummy's tenace. Certainly, judging by South's revealing discards, this chance was much better than the one actually taken; the declarer laid down the spade ace on the remote chance that the queen would drop. It didn't.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the correct opening bid on the following hand, dealer vulnerable?

♠ 7 ♥ 9 6 3 ♦ A K Q J 9 7 5 3 ♣ A

Answer: If you are using the new two-way three bid, this hand is ideal for an opening three diamond bid. Otherwise, one diamond is the best bid.

Tight Scalp Presages Your Hair Troubles

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

To test your chances of holding on to your head of hair try to see if you can move the skin of the scalp free of the bone structure. If you find your sclap is stretched so tightly over the skull that it is difficult to move the skin over the bone it's a sign of early trouble.

After youth is passed the above mentioned condition is fairly common and is responsible for the many and varied hair troubles to no small degree.

Massage and vibration of the scalp are the most important means of improving the local circulation and hence stimulating the health of the scalp and the growth of hair.

It's tiring and boring to the average person to perform the scalp manipulation necessary to correct the scalp condition. But it can be made less so for the ten minutes required if you read during the treatment. You can draw your chair up to a table or desk, grip your head on both sides, over the ears, then move the scalp vigorously with the fingers and thumbs. With the book before you you can rest your elbows on the table and automatically continue the movements on the scalp. Later, when the scalp has been loosened up, you can knead and pinch it for further stimulation. But until you get the skin loosened you have smart chance of correcting any hair condition whether it is falling hair, weak hair, dry, dull hair, etc. In so far as local treatment for hair troubles is concerned, there is nothing to be accomplished until this stimulation is effected. This, and practically "beating" the scalp with a hair brush till the flesh tingles are your hairs' two life savers. Hard combing is recommended by hair specialists, too, using a comb with blunt, firm teeth.

If you can afford it the services of a professional should be obtained. Vibration and massage performed by skilled hands which lift the scalp from the skull and knead the flesh in the direction of the blood vessels cannot be overestimated.

Becomes Bride

[Ebert Studio.]

Mrs. John Hall is the former Frances Lederer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Lederer of 3514 Potomac avenue. Her marriage to Mr. Hall took place on July 21 at the Trinity Congregational church. Mr. and Mrs. Hall will live at 1538 North St. Louis avenue.

If Second Wife Is There Don't Mention First

Praising Deceased May Be Misinterpreted.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Will you please befriend me and others in my position by giving widowers who are about to remarry a few hints on how to make the second woman happy?"

Following the above request, Mrs. Jim states her case. She was a widow when she married Jim. As she was an orphan, there was no in-law problem for Jim to cope with. There wouldn't have been one anyway, to quote Mrs. Jim, for her first marriage had taught her a few things about that. But Jim is weighted down with loving relatives, and fighting relatives, and back biting relatives who, as Mrs. Jim puts it, won't let the first Mrs. Jim die. Sometimes she almost has been driven to say, It's a pity you didn't think of telling her what an angel she was when she was alive!"

They all gang up on his second wife. Being one against many makes her feel beaten. Jim just sits by smugly, never once rising to the defense of his second wife. It's not a new venture exactly. Jim and this second woman have been married for seven years. A seven years' plague of relatives, as Mrs. Jim would put it. Only one elderly aunt ever put an arm around her and whispered, "There's too much against you!"

So, now widowers about to marry, you can see how welcome your family's conversation about your deceased wife is. You can see how much more agreeable it would be for the second woman if the family were requested [ordered if necessary] to lay off the subject of number one. You may have tender memories of wife number one, but you didn't marry number two to continue with those memories. You married her to escape them, if the truth were known.

We don't know a better rule to offer when a widower gets to thinking about the one who is deceased and is about to praise her than to try to put himself in the second woman's shoes. Would he welcome continued reference to a deceased husband if he were honestly trying to fill that man's place? He wouldn't. After a while each reference would take on the appearance of a slam. The intent may be far from such, but human nature being what it is, it's easy to read such possibility into spoken reference to the deceased.

A man who has been through the mill once would be expected to keep the in-laws where they belong. A second marriage automatically should bring a man to an age of wisdom on this perplexing subject. Too, it should have provided him with the experience to know that a husband's first duty is to the woman he married, not to his family.

North Shore Garden Club Holds Flower Show Today

Parents' Ideals for Child Often Unreasonable

Standards of Conduct Should Be Relative.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

How many ideals of conduct we hold over our children's heads! And what impersonal, detached ideals they are, often ones that the children couldn't possibly attain, with the result that both parents and youngsters suffer when the latter fail to measure up to set standards.

Bravery or courage is one quality that parents so desire for their children. Yet, because their idea of courage is such a cut-and-dried one, and because they do not understand their child, they frequently think he is being cowardly when he isn't.

Frances Wickes has something interesting to say on this subject in her book "The Inner World of Childhood" [published by Appleton-Century company of New York, N. Y.].

She observes: "Courage or cowardice also can be judged only by the inner resistance overcome, not by our estimate of the outer circumstances which is to be met. A child, to whom the phantasy world is vivid, and whose imagination creates realities, may fear to go upstairs in the dark, but may face a dentist or endure physical injury without a quiver. Another child who finds reality in the tangible, and who is keenly alive to sensation stimuli will venture into a place of possible danger without a tremor of fear, but be almost hysterical over having a splinter extracted. In either case our estimate of the courage of each child must be based upon an understanding of the measure of his difficulty, rather than upon our own orientation to life, and the thing which it seems to us reasonable to fear."

There is more than this, but I am sure you see what is meant.

Fathers especially are so apt to worry about a son's cowardice. But what they call by that name usually isn't cowardice at all.

My advice is to stop worrying about whether your child is courageous or not in the ordinary sense of the word. Instead always try to understand him. Don't point out these imperfections to him in a critcal manner. Of course, guide his character development, and you will find that's all he needs to become a well-balanced personality. We must give children time to get used to the world, and to adjust themselves to it.

DISPOSITION OF GREEN FORTUNE UP TO COURT

Widow Unnamed in Will Drawn in 1908.

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Disposition of the vast Green fortune which was welded together by railroad earnings tonight rested on judicial acceptance or rejection of a will drawn in the horse-and-buggy era.

"March 28, 1908," was the date that appeared on the "last will and testament" of the late Col. Edward H. R. Green, which was made public today for the first time since it was filed for probate last Saturday at Port Henry, N. Y.

At the time the will was drawn Green was a bachelor and had not inherited his half of the estimated $100,000,000 left by his mother and business mentor, Hetty Green, who was ranked among the world's richest women when she died in 1916.

Mother Beneficiary.

Hetty Green still was living when the will was signed, and she was made sole beneficiary.

". . . and should she not be living at the time of my death," the document went on, "then I give, bequeath, and devise all my estate, both real and personal, to my sister.

The sister, now Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks of New York, offered the will for probate after Green's widow had applied for letters of administration in Kaufman, Tex..

Wed in 1917.

The question that intrigued lawyers tonight was whether the will would be accepted in view of the fact it made no provision for the widow, whom Green described as "the best and most sensible little lady in the world" when he married her in 1917.

His wedding gift to her was $500,000 in cash and $125,000 in bonds.

A belief was expresed at the attorney general's office in Albany that inasmuch as the couple had no children the will would be held valid.

In Texas, where Col. Green lived at the time he made the will, it was the opinion among lawyers that the document would be valid there—except that the widow is entitled to share in all property acquired after marriage.

CONVICT THREE IN KIDNAPING OF DETROIT MAN

Three Others Set Free by Court Order.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Three members of the Black Legion were convicted today and three other defendants were found not guilty in the Robert Fenland kidnaping case.

Those convicted were: Frederick A. Gulley, an informer for the Ecorse police department; Earl Angstadt, ex-convict, and Thomas Cox, steel worker.

Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan, trying them without a jury, exonerated them of kidnaping, but found them guilty of the included offense of false imprisonment. Under that conviction they may be sentenced to serve five years in prison and pay a $2,500 fine.

Victim "Tried" by Legion.

Gulley, Angstadt, and Cox were accused of having lured Penland from his home last Oct. 5 and taking him against his will to an outdoor meeting of the Black Legion to be "tried" for laxity in his duties as a member of the organization.

Those acquitted in the case were Earl Robinson, so-called brigadier general of the order; Harold Lawrence, a "captain," and Charles D. King, former Ecorse councilman.

King denied having been at the meeting and declared he was not even a member of the Black Legion. Robinson and Lawrence admitted their connection with the organization and confessed they were at the meeting, but denied having anything to do with forcing Penland to attend. All defendants denied the state's charge that Penland was flogged and he joined in the denial.

May Have Been Leaders.

"Robinson, Lawrence, and King were not proved to have taken part in the actual detention of Penland," Judge Moynihan said in his findings. "It may be said that they were the ringleaders and I think that would be a proper finding, still it can't be said to have been established beyond a reasonable doubt. Angstadt, Cox and Gulley unquestionably deprived Penland of his liberty. None of them is guilty of kidnaping, however, since the intent to kidnap was not charged."

Gulley, Cox and Angstadt were taken to the county jail to await sentence, which will be passed following the filing of a probation report on the men. Robinson was likewise returned to jail, pending prosecution in another Black Legion case.

The Penland case was the first of numerous Black Legion prosecutions to be tried since the investigation of the terrorists was begun in May.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Acorns for Hogs

Aug. 7, 1936.

A TRIP through the woods on the Tribune's experimental farms today revealed that a fair sized acorn crop is in the making. Too often acorns are ignored, but this year with prospects for the shortest corn crop in the history of the country, farmers no doubt will make use of them as feed for hogs.

Fortunately many of the woodlots and timbered areas in this region seem to be developing a fair crop of acorns and other nuts. While many of the young trees and some of the older one have been injured by the drouth, most of the healthy and well established forest trees have come through in good shape. The acorns may be generally small this year, but they show indications of providing much valuable feed.

An objection that many farmers raise to turning hogs into woodlots is that the animals injure young trees and prevent reseeding by eating the acorns and other nuts until there are not enough left to start new growth. Some farmers are considering the possibility of raking up the acorns under the trees after most of them have come down this fall and carrying them out to their hogs. This practice is said to be fairly common in some foreign countries.

Born with Appetite.

Hogs instinctively like acorns and other kinds of wild nuts. These tree crops formed the chief item of feed for them in the wild state before the animals were domesticated. Pigs farrowed in the swamp lands of some southern states and raised on acorns and other nuts sometimes refuse to eat corn until they are forced to it by being put in feed lots where they can get nothing else. Then they soon learn to eat corn or other grains.

In several southern states, especially in the lower Mississippi river bottoms, farmers depend on acorns and other "mast" that grows in the woods for a good portion of their hog feed each year. Many hogs in that section are raised to maturity in the forests without ever being given any feed. They live entirely on nuts and other food which they are able to pick up in the woods.

Acorns cannot be used entirely as a substitute for corn, since the meat from acorn fed hogs is soft and oily and of poor quality. Packers will not pay top prices for hogs when they know the animals have been fed nothing but acorns.

"Finish" on Corn.

A common practice among farmers who depend upon the acorn crop to furnish a good portion of their hog feed is to take the hogs out of the woods a few weeks before sending them to market and "finish" them on corn. The quality of pork made from hogs that have been handled in this manner is considered practically as good as that from hogs that have been fed corn all their lives. Many farmers feed some corn or other grain as a supplement to acorns. Where this is done the hogs require less time on full feed to be ready for market. Some people think that with more study given to proper methods of curing acorn fed pork, much of the objection to it might be eliminated.

It has been estimated that the annual value of acorns from a good oak forest is nearly half as much per acre as that of a 35 bushel corn crop. Land that is too thin to grow good corn will maintain a fair growth of trees and produce some nuts each year.

BERLIN, Germany, Aug. 7.—(AP)—California's colored athlete, Archie Williams, won the 400-meter championship today, giving the United States its first flat-racing sweep through 800 meters in the Olympic games since 1912, while three western stalwarts exceeded Americans' fondest expectations by occupying the first three places at the halfway stage of the decathlon competition.

Bob Clark of San Francisco and Glenn Morris, Fort Collins, Colo., world record holder, set a record-smashing pace through the first five events of the two-day battle for all-around honors. Each captured two events and finished only two points apart at the end of the day. Their totals were Clark, 4,194; Morris, 4,192, while their teammate, Jack Parker of Sacramento, Cal., was third with 3,888 in the field of 24 survivors.

Hoeckert Wins 5,000 Meters.

On the other side of the picture, Finland, as was expected, furnished the winner of the 5,000 meter run in Gunnar Hoeckert, who struck off the distance in 14:22.2, seven and 8-10th seconds faster than the 1932 record hung up by another Finn, Lauri Lehtinen, who was runner-up this time. Lehtinen and John Henry Jonsson of Sweden, who was third, both ran under the former mark while little Kohei Murakoso of Japan, fourth, equalled it.

Louis Zamperini, 19 year old youth from Torrance, Cal., who ran a dead heat with Don Lash of Auburn, Ind., in the final American tryouts last month, took eighth place today in 14:46.8. Lash came in 14th among the 15 finishers.

The American trio so dominated the decathlon show there appeared no doubt that they would keep the title won in 1932 by Kansas' Jim Bausch.

Morris Makes Good Time.

Morris, who set the world standard of 7,880 points in the tryouts at Milwaukee in June, all but closed the gap between him and Clark by running 400 meters in 49.4 seconds, the

Layden Polls Big Vote to Take Lead in Coaches' Race

BY ARCH WARD.

The battle is wide open as the national coaches' poll approaches the finish line. The voting, which already has developed 5,833,893 ballots, ends at midnight tonight and any one of three, perhaps five, has a chance to emerge as the head coach of the greatest group of college football players ever assembled.

Elmer Layden of Notre Dame is perched on top of the list of nationally famous gridiron leaders this morning by a wafery margin of less than 10,000 points. At his heels are Bernie Bierman of Minnesota and Bo McMillin of Indiana. Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern and Lou Little of Columbia still are very much in the running and it appears that one or the other is certain to win a place on the staf.

The four coaches who top the standings in total points after all ballots have been counted will comprise the staf that will prepare the College All-Americans for their game with the world's professional champion Detroit Lions, Sept. 1. The voting is so heavy that it will be Tuesday morning before final tabulations can be presented.

South and West Make Bid.

The south and far west are making strong bids for representation on the All-Star staf. Texas is united behind Matty Bell of Southern Methodist and northern California is solid for Tiny Thornhill of Stanford. Both sections placed men on the 1935 coaching board. Frank Thomas of Alabama won the poll and Slip Madigan of St. Mary's, California, finished fourth.

The 1936 staf will have an easier job and at the same time a harder assignment than its predecessors. The fans, 3,400,000 of them, have simplified the task of deciding upon a starting lineup. They have informed the coaches which players will start. The problem of lining up reserves in the order of their competitive value, however, is especially difficult this year because of the wealth of material.

Berwanger in Spotlight.

Speculation over the showing of Jay Berwanger is causing more comment than any other angle of the game. He stood out as a Big Ten headliner at the University of Chicago where he lacked the coöperation received by many backs who made gridiron history. What will he do when he has such noted blockers as Roscoe of Minnesota, Hamilton of Stanford, Crayne of Iowa, Smith of Alabama, and Beise of Minnesota to clear the path?

Berwanger is so anxious to get into training that he wants to fly from Hollywood, where he has been working in the movies, to Chicago so that he will have a day or two to limber up before the squad reports at Northwestern university Thursday. He probably will come by rail, however, with Bill Shakespeare of Notre Dame, Bones Hamilton of Stanford, Larry Lutz of California, Eddie Erdelatz and Wagner Jorgensen of St. Mary's, Gomer Jones of Ohio State, and Bobby Wilson of Southern Methodist.

Layden Strong in East.

Layden moves back into first place in the coaches' poll this morning mainly as a result of a deluge of in-

Is it true? It certainly is. Plenty of good reserved seats are still available at each price level, $3.30, $2.20 and $1.10 but the demand is growing as the evening of the battle approaches.

SID RICHARDSON DEFEATS FRANCO IN JUNIOR GOLF

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

When Ted Payseur, Northwestern university golf coach assembles his team for the conference wars next spring, he will have at least one champion on the squad. He is Sidney Richardson, curly haired 19 year old boy from Creston, Ia., who yesterday won the annual junior title of the Western Golf association by defeating Joe Franco of Skokie playfield, 4 and 3, in the 36 hole final at the Sunset Ridge Country club.

Richardson, just back from a neat showing in the Iowa state amateur, recently completed his freshman year at Northwestern and is certain to be a strong candidate for a regular job on next year's team. His victory yesterday climaxed his first appearance in the western junior, which is literally a national event, and his only one, since he will be 20 in January, and hence beyond the age limit, as was Fred Haas Jr., of New Orleans, this year.

Qualifies With 75.

Sid qualified for the match play on Monday by shooting a 75, three strokes back of the medalist. On Tuesday he defeated Bob Walsh of Joliet, 1 up, and Bob Oppenheimer of Chicago, 4 and 3. Wednesday he came back to eliminate Ken Hellman, Westmoreland star, 5 and 4, and in the semi-finals put out Walter Burke of Detroit, 1935 runner-up, 4 and 3.

In yesterday's title match, the Iowan was down at no time during the argument with Franco, New Trier High school senior who is making his debut in district play this season. Sid was two up at the morning ninth, and increased that advantage to four holes by the intermission.

Franco Rallies.

He had a medal card of 72, one over par, for the morning eighteen, against Franco's 76. In the afternoon, Franco rallied with an out nine of 37 to cut his opponent's lead to two up at the 27th, but lost the 29th and 31st.

The cards for the final follow:

INDIANS STOP SOX DRIVE FOR 2D PLACE, 8 TO 1

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 7.—Something happened today to the bone crushing attack with which the White Sox have been waylaying enemy pitchers during recent weeks. Their bat swinging, conducted under the direction of Dennis Galehouse, was reduced to seven hits, the Indians meanwhile retaining their occupancy of second place by dusting off the Chicagoans in the opener of a four game series. The score was 8 to 1 and, as a further insult, Jim Dykes' warriors were the victims of a triple play in the ninth inning.

Cleveland Takes Early Lead.

The Indians were at least considerate enough of their guests to tip their hand right at the start. They revealed serious intentions by lashing Italio Chelini, the kid southpaw, for three runs in the opening inning. Some of these runs could be charged to the packing box dimensions of the park, rather than to flabby pitching, but the park wasn't to blame for four more runs registered by the Indians in the fourth.

They accomplished this latter bit of devilment on clean hits, assisted somewhat by a fielding miscue on the part of Uncle Dykes. Thereafter there was no doubt about the outcome.

Galehouse Breezes Along.

If it hadn't been that Galehouse decided bearing down was a waste of energy toward the finish, he'd have soused the Chicagoans with whitewash, as well as with a total of fewer than seven hits. For seven innings he conducted such a high class show that there were only three safeties, one wearer of White Sox getting as far as second base. Then, in the eighth, he was slapped for three hits, a maneuver that enabled the Chicagoans to get a run across the plate. And in the ninth, he surrendered a pass and a hit, two items mighty useful a moment later in the production of the triple killing.

Only two of Dykes' athletes had no reason to regret the excellence of Galehouse's pitching, one of whom was Mike Kreevich, who singled twice in four trips. Jack Hayes finished with a similar record against the new local speedballer. The other hits went to Rip Radcliff, Luke Appling and Frank Grube, who produced a double in his only appearance of the afternoon.

Poor Start for Chelini.

Chelini's bad first inning opened with Hughes' single through short. Hale hoisted to Kreevich, but Averill walked. The young southpaw almost lifted himself out of the jam when

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Zaharias Frisch's Glass House gang, who had a great time casting stones at our Cubs Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, got tons of rocks thrown at their pennant cabin yesterday. The long persecuted champs barraged the Cardinals with 18 hits to accomplish their end of a 14 to 5 victory in one of the most joyous slump escapes ever accomplished in any ball park. And a ladies' day crowd of 33,511 saw all the riotous doings.

Roy Parmelee, the winner of a recent five hit 4 to 1 victory over the Cubs, was the losing pitcher. And to keep the "he who casts the first stone" theme going, it may be noted that the winning pitcher was Tex Carleton, who lost to Parmelee Wednesday, when he allowed only four hits and two runs in eight innings he pitched.

Cubs Get Eight Runs in Fifth.

Parmelee, who had licked the Cubs eight times in ten attempts, showed some of the kind of pitching he serves to other baseball nines in an amazing fifth inning in which the Cubs made eight runs, all charged to Parmelee's record. If eight runs in one inning do not impress you as a lot of runs, we'd like to point out that in six games immediately prior to yesterday the Cubs had made a grand total of ten runs.

Before the Cubs won their first victory over the Cards in seven games played at Wrigley field this season, they had their moments of bitter anguish. The Cards had licked them 6 to 1, 4 to 1, and 3 to 2, in the first three games of the series just ended, and when the St. Louisans thumped Lon Warneke out of the panorama to take a 5 to 2 lead in the third inning yesterday, the worst was feared.

Clay Bryant did a perfect job of relief pitching to one batter in the third and three, two of whom he fastest ever recorded in any Decathlon competition, in the day's fifth event after Clark had turned in a performance of 50 seconds.

WILLIAMS WINS 400 METERS IN OLYMPIC GAMES

These feats put the Americans far in front with Holland's Reindert Brasser the nearest European, trailing by 321 points, and Finland's Akilles Jarvinen fifth, 407 points back.

Morris gained steadily after trailing Clark by 239 points after the 100 meter sprint and the broad jump and came with such a rush that he is a strong favorite to crown his first year in decathlon competition as world champion.

Morris started slowly, missing his best mark by four-tenths of a second when he was clocked in only 11.1 seconds for the 100 meters, but this was good enough for second place behind Clark's sparkling 10.9—three-tenths of a second faster than the previous decathlon record set by Harold Osborn in 1924.

Morris Wins Shot Put.

Thereafter Morris showed his class, winning the shot put with 14.10 meters, 46 feet 2 33-64 inches, tying for second in the high jump with 1.85 meters, 6 feet 27-32 inches, and taking fifth in the broad jump, 6.97 meters 22 feet 10 13-32 inches.

Clark capitalized on his speed and jumping ability, but his weakness in the shot put tipped off the tough time he'll have keeping up with Morris in the strenuous last day's field events.

The Californian won his broad jump specialty with a leap of 25 feet, nearly a foot short of his mark in the final tryouts, even though the best ever seen in the Olympics. He tied Parker and Armin Guehl of Switzerland at 1.80 meters, 5 feet 10⅞ inches, for fifth place in the high jump, and did only 12.68 meters, 41 feet 7 7-32 inches, in the shot put.

Brasser Wins High Jump.

Parker captured his heat in the 100 meter sprint in 11.4 seconds, placed second in the broad jump with 7:35 meters, 24 feet 1⅝ inches; sixth in the shot put with 13.52 meters, 44 feet 4 19-64 inches, and ran the 400 in 53.3 seconds, good for only 701 points, as compared with 910 scored by Morris in this event.

The only decathlon event the Americans didn't top was the high jump in which Brasser was best. The Dutch athlete cleared the bar at 1.90 meters, 6 feet 2 13-16 inches.

Williams Beat Brown.

Williams scored his 400 meter victory in 46.5 seconds. William Godfrey Brown, speedy British runner, shot off the marks into the lead and built up a four meter margin through the half way mark. Williams then overtook Brown, showing in front by two meters entering the last straightaway. He held this margin to the finish.

William Roberts, another Briton, nearly caught Luvalle, who won third place by two feet, although both were clocked in 46.8 seconds.

Finland's acquisition of the second distance racing prize as well as sixteen additional points moved the team into second place with a total of 57¾ points, displacing Germany, which failed to increase its previous total of 54¾ and gave 80,000 spectators little to cheer about.

Don Lash Tires.

Germany's javelin champion, Bernhardt Stoeck, was scratched from the decathlon along with the injured Hans Sievert, much to the disappointment of some rooters, who were further disgruntled by an official request over the loud speakers that they desist from the American style of whistling. Accustomed to obeying orders, German fans loosed no more shrill accompaniments to American performances such as reached a climax during the final pole vaulting competition two days ago.

The Finns ran themselves as well as most of the opposition ragged in the 5,000 meter final. They worked out on Lash so thoroughly the American ace gave up the ghost on the eighth lap after setting the major share of the pace for the first seven times around.

They then subdued Japan's Murakoso for the second time in six days, but finally tripped themselves in a scramble for positions starting the next to last lap.

Hoeckert lost ground as a result of the accident, but quickly regained his stride and overhauled his mate, Lehtinen, who had forged to the front.

The collision left Salminen groggy. He got up unsteadily and finished sixth. Thus, Finland apparently lost a chance to sweep all the medals in this race.

THE Eye in the Sky gave fine service at the Arlington Park meeting. . . . This department wonders why the same or similar device could not be employed at the baseball parks to eliminate wrangling and pop bottle showers. . . . It could be placed on top of the grand stands in direct line of first and second bases, and second and third bases. . . . The time it would take to develop the pictures would be less than it takes to change an umpire's mind. . . . If this works out we would like to suggest that the Eye in the Sky be arranged so as to register balls and strikes. . . . The chief operator of the Olympic Village's telephone system speaks five languages, and every spectator assigned to the village speaks at least three. . . . Jesse Owens Drafted for Relay Race

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Lawson Robertson, coach of America's Olympic track and field forces, decided definitly tonight to call on Jesse Owens, Ohio State's colored triple winner, for duty in the 400 meter relay competition tomorrow and Sunday.

With ten first places already sewed up for the best track and field showing since the 1912 Olympics at Stockholm, Robertson decided to overlook no bets and summoned Owens back into action despite the fact he already has won the 100 meter, 200 meter, and broad jump championships.

The information that the Germans quietly have built up a quartet which has been clocked in sensational time as well as the obvious Dutch threat, prompted Robertson to change his mind after he previously had said he would not call on Jesse for relay duty.

Good News for Owens.

Owens' coach, Larry Snyder, said he expected Owens to get the starting assignment due especially to his ability to negotiate the turn. Snyder said he thought Ralph Metcalfe, Sam Stoller, and Frank Wykoff would handle the baton in that order behind Owens.

Owens was delighted when told of his fresh assignment.

"That's swell news," he told Robertson. "I haven't known what to do with myself since Wednesday. I'll sure hustle around that corner."

Owens' nomination will give the Cleveland star a chance for his fourth gold medal, thereby equaling Paavo Nurmi's 1924 achievement, which included the peerless Finn's triumph in the 3,000 meter team race as well as three individual events.

Delays Naming Lineup.

Robertson delayed naming the lineups fully for either relay until tomorrow when the trials will be held. The likelihood that neither Foy Draper nor Marty Glickman would get their expected assignments in the sprint relay forecast critical reaction among those Americans feeling that as many of the boys as possible should get a chance to compete.

Robertson's attitude was: "I'd like to let everybody run, but we're here to win all the events possible. They are likely to criticize any decision I may make, but my job is to put the best possible teams in the race."

SMALLWOOD IN GOOD CONDITION AFTER OPERATION

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Harold Smallwood, University of Southern California quarter miler from Ventura, Cal., who today underwent a successful emergency operation for the removal of his appendix, will probably return to America with the American team, Aug. 28, Dr. Graeme M. Hammond of New York announced tonight.

Smallwood, stricken this morning for the second time since leaving America, was rushed to the West End hospital, near the Olympic village, where Dr. Erich Neupert, chief surgeon of the hospital, performed the operation. Dr. Herbert Lawson, physician of the American team, was in attendance. The boy's condition was pronounced satisfactory after the operation.

Duvall, All-Star Full Back, Speaks Tonight on Radio

Hugh Duvall, Northwestern full back, who is a member of the College All-American team which will meet the Detroit Lions, professional champions, at Soldiers' field the night of Sept. 1, will be interviewed on Jimmy Evans' program over Station WBBM this evening at 6:30 o'clock. Duvall will start training with other members of the All-Stars Wednesday morning at Dyche stadium.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: Chauncey Depew was one of the greatest orators and campaign speakers I ever heard. In 1900, Depew spoke in a tent at North avenue and Clark street in behalf of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. It was a wonderful campaign speech because it was so different from the usual run of those tiresome affairs.

Before telling a funny story, Depew would say, "Now I want to score a point," whereupon everybody gave rapt attention with wild applause at the climax. Then he would say, "Now I will tell another story," perhaps similar to the first, with a different ending, but always bringing out his "point."

At one stage some one yelled, "How about the New York Central railroad?" Depew was its attorney at that time. He answered the heckler good naturedly and thus had thorough command of his audience. It was a wonderful evening's entertainment. Harry W. Meltzer.

A dynamic personality familar to thousands of Chicagoans from 1871 to 1885 was Capt. Ben Bullwinkle of the fire insurance patrol. His cart, followed by the red wagon with tarpaulins and chemical fire extinguishers, clanged its way through downtown streets in response to automatic mercurial alarms from stores and business houses.

When the insurance companies organized this salvage service in 1871 to reduce future insurance losses, Capt. Bullwinkle was placed in charge. His energy and resourcefulness made it a great success. Quarters were occupied in various locations until 1878 when an elaborate station was opened at 176 [old number] Monroe, between La Salle and 5th avenue [Wells]. Ingenious devices were used for quick getaways. The headquarters became famous and was visited by many notables, among them President and Mrs. Hayes.

When the station was opened, hangers-on became a pest. Their favorite loafing place was at the iron dogs, one on each side of the entrance. To get rid of the nuisances, Capt. Bullwinkle charged the dogs electrically, controling the current from his quarters inside. There was plenty of excitement and amusement when the loafers contacted the dogs, and the nuisances soon ended.

Capt. Bullwinkle resigned in 1885 and died in May, 1887, only 40 years of age. Fred A. Ebersold.

Be still, sad heart, and cease despairing
Of mounting scores that lead to swearing,
Thy fate is common to us all;

Remember that each night's deep sorrow,
Like dew, will vanish with the morrow

Indians Defeat Americans, 7-0, in Olympic Hocky

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Swinging their sticks desperately against hopeless odds, the United States field hocky team today held India's champion team to a 7 to 0 victory in Olympic competition.

It was India's game from the outset, however. Phenomenal acrobatics by Paul Fentress, American goalie, from Hubbard Woods, Ill., was all that kept India's score from ascending into stratosphere figures.

In previous games between the two teams at Los Angeles in 1932, the Indians won 22 to 0 and 17 to 0, so the Americans today left the field much encouraged.

Practically the whole game was played within twenty yards of the American goal. The Indian attack was simply too fleet-footed and nimble. In Fentress, however, they met a stubborn obstacle. After he had made dozens of brilliant stops an Indian rooter yelled from the stands:

Finally they wore him down. Three shots got by him into the cage in the first half and four more in the final period.

Meanwhile India's goalie Michie was having a dull afternoon. He leaned against one end of the wire cage idly swinging his stick and gazing at the sky, where an airplane was dragging "visit Leipiz fair" through the clouds."

Once during the last half he had to come back to earth and watch the puck which ventured down to his half of the field.

Canoeists See Old Charm of Mississippi

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Burlington, Ia., Aug. 7.—The Tribune canoeists now en route down the Mississippi river from the tri-cities of Moline, Rock Island, and Davenport took time out when they reached here to look at the federal barge line terminal and to dip into a little of the early history of the area.

Parking our 16 foot canoe on the bank of the river, we looked over the high bluffs around Burlington which the Indians used to call the Flint hills and from which they are said to have obtained material for their crude weapons.

The water traveler on the Mississippi today has the impression that Uncle Sam is doing a thorough job of changing the character of this river by means of big dams and long-armed dredges. When we started down the river we saw the huge dam at the tri-cities. Above Muscatine, Ia., we saw another dam not yet completed.

A Flowing Road.

Near the hamlet of New Boston, about 23 miles below Muscatine, a third dam and locks are being constructed. And just above Burlington is another construction project that will result in a dam and locks. Thus the mighty Mississippi is being changed and harnessed by the engineers.

But as soon as our 16 foot canoe takes us away from the big dams we see the old Mississippi, a beautiful, wide, flowing road with many green islands, a river that has lost a lot of its power due to the drouth but little of its charm. We pass clammers working their dirty square nosed boats close to the shore to find shells that can be sold to the button factories. Commercial fishermen are busy with their seins, trying hard to make a living from the dwindling supply of marketable fish.

Today we became a volunteer helper at the nets when we saw a fisherman and his two ten year old sons bring in a haul. We got almost as excited as the boys when an 18 pound sturgeon threshed around in the nets and almost hurled itself over the top to freedom. Except for the sturgeon the haul produced nothing surprising—about 50 sheepshead and a few small catfish. Rod and line fishermen down here continue to discourage us about an angling trip by reporting the fishing very poor this summer.

Small Towns Have Atmosphere.

Although the river down here has a lot to interest the water traveler, what with the superb scenery, the sight of an occasional federal barge line unit chugging along with its load, the picturesque clamming fleet, and the dams being built, we find the real old time river atmosphere of show boat days and stylish stern wheelers in the quaint little towns perched on the banks between the big cities. Nearly every one of them has a lesson in history.

While in this settlement, which is more than 100 years old and has many sturdily built stone homes, an old opera house, and an unused church constructed before the civil war, we felt the Mississippi valley atmosphere because we listened to the old timers tell about the wonderful fishing and hunting of former years.

co was short at the third and in the woods at the fourth. Richardson lost his first hole of the morning at the ninth, where he dubbed his tee shot and was short with his second. He evened this with pars at the 10th and 11th, Joe Hooking his second at the 10th, and falling short with his second at the 11th.

Joe took the 12th by dropping a 12 foot putt for a birdie. They halved the next four and Richardson won the 17th by planting his tee shot to the 149 yard green five feet from the pin, and then holing the putt for the deuce. Each was trapped at the 18th, which was halved in bogey fives.

Both three putted the first hole in the afternoon, and Richardson lost the second by repeating the error. Franco was only two down after the fourth, where he holed a 12 footer for a birdie, and was just one away after the sixth, where his foe found a trap. Richardson went two up at the ninth despite a trapped second, Franco trapping his drive, and putting his second in the rough. Franco went three down by three putting the 11th, and Richardson dropped a 10 foot try for a birdie at the 13th. They halved the next two to end the match.

GIANTS DEFEAT PHILLIES, 9 TO 3, FOR FIVE IN ROW

New York Continues on Winning Streak.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The New York Giants put together eight hits for seven runs in the fourth inning today to clinch a 9 to 3 victory over the Phillies, chalk up their fifth straight triumph, and pick up more ground on the National league leaders.

The victory was the eighteenth for the Giants in their last twenty-two games. Lefty Al Smith, although batted from the mound in the eighth inning, when the Phils scored all their runs, received credit for his eleventh pitching success of the season.

Lou Gordon, veteran Chicago Cardinals tackle, has been traded to the Green Bay Packers for Bob Reynolds, Owner Charles W. Bidwill of the Cardinals announced last night.

Reynolds comes to the Cardinals under option and if the Chicago club does not choose to exercise the option, then the deal will be an outright cash transaction. Gordon, a former Illinois star, played five years with the Cardinals and was captain for the last three seasons.

Reynolds is a former Stanford star and weighs 235 pounds. He is a member of the All-Star football squad which will play the Detroit Lions at Soldiers' field Sept. 1.

Cubs Run Up 14 to 5 Score Against Cards

struck out, in the fourth. The Cubs then began their climb and the score was tied at 5 all when Carleton took over the pitching job at the start of the fifth. Tex held the Cards to two singles and with his own bat knocked two line singles, each of which drove in a run. It was Tex's eleventh victory of the year.

And so a week day series which drew 90,566 paying patrons and some 25,000 guests, ladies and kids, ended with the Cubs less than two games out of first place, with 53 games to go, nine of them with the Cards, whom the Cubs meet again in St. Louis next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The only sad feature of yesterday's big reversal was found in the fact that Gabby Hartnett, who had doubled in the first inning to drive in the first two runs of the game, was injured in the second inning and had to leave the game.

Cards Tie Score.

The Cards went to work on Warneke just as soon as they could get to bat in their second inning. Medwick singled to left and Mize also singled to the same area, Medwick reaching third and Mize second when Allen fumbled the ball. Davis fanned but Durocher doubled to right, scoring Joe and Johnny with the tying runs. Garibaldi singled to center, Durocher stopping at third. Earnshaw sank that foul against Hartnett's instep at this juncture, then, after O'Dea had replaced Gabby, hit into a double play, Herman to Jurges to Cavarretta.

Allen Triples, Then Scores.

The Cubs took one step in the tying process in their third. Allen opened with a triple to right center and scored on Hack's fly to Medwick. Herman singled to center and Earnshaw was replaced by Rhem. Demaree hit into a double play.

The Cubs tied it up in their fourth in the following manner. O'Dea singled to left and went to third on Galan's single to center. Jurges singled to center, scoring O'Dea and putting Galan on third. Bill got to second when Moore juggled the ball. Parmelee supplanted Rhem. Galan scored the tying run and Jurges reached third while Frisch was throwing out Cavarretta. Gill batted for Bryant and bounced out to Frisch, Jurges holding third. Durocher threw out Allen.

Carleton Goes In to Pitch.

Hack walked to start the home fifth, held on while Herman flied to Medwick and took second on a wild pitch. Demaree and O'Dea walked, filling the bases. Galan popped a fly to short right center and Manager Frisch amused the ladies and cash customers as well by jumping high into the air and coming down on the seat of his bloomers, the bloomers and the ball hitting the ground simultaneously. Hack scored on this hilarious bit of acrobatics and the bases remained full.

Jurges walked, forcing Demaree across the plate. Cavarretta flied to Moore, O'Dea scoring. Carleton lined a single to right, Galan scoring and Jurges taking third. Carleton reached second on the throw to the plate. Allen singled to deep short, Jurges scoring and Carleton reaching third. Hack, up the second time in the inning, singled to right, Carleton scoring and Allen reaching third. Herman singled to left, Allen scoring and Hack stopping at second. Demaree walked.

Parmelee Goes Out.

Manager Frisch concluded that Parmelee was not as effective as on Wednesday and replaced him with Winford, who pitched Tuesday's opener. O'Dea singled off Frisch's glove for his second hit of the inning, scoring Hack with his second run of the inning. The riot ended with Galan's fly to Durocher.

Trosky flied to Kreevich. Vosmik then blasted a single into center to send Hughes home. Weatherly poked a dribbler along the first base line and Sewell couldn't recover in time to make the throw. This loaded the bases. An instant later Becker's dinky fly hit the short right field wall for a double, Averill and Vosmik scoring. Knickerbocker then was purposely passed, and Galehouse ended the inning with an easy tap to Dykes.

Dykes Fumbles Grounder.

Galehouse's single, which Radcliff might have caught if he hadn't delayed locating the ball while it was in the air, was the initial happening of the four run fourth. Galehouse was forced by Hughes. Dykes then upset everything by fumbling Hale's tricky grounder. Averill was thrown out, but Chelini revealed a streak of wildness pitching to Trosky, who walked to fill the bases. Hughes and Hale sprinted home on Vosmik's single to left. The bags were reloaded on Weatherly's scratch single to Hayes. Becker doubled to left, scoring Trosky and Vosmik with the last runs of the inning.

Grube, who had gone back of the bat in the seventh so that Sewell could enjoy a few extra leisure moments, led off in the eighth with a double into the right field corner. Chelini fouled out and Radcliff singled to right, Grube stopping at third. Kreevich also singled to right, Grube scoring. The remainder of the inning was made up of Rosenthal's grounder to Trosky and Bonura's fly to Averill.

Averill Hits Triple.

The Indians picked up a run they didn't need in the eighth. Averill's drive down the right field line jumped into the nearby field boxes and out again for a triple. He crossed the plate on Vosmik's fly to Kreevich.

The setting for a triple play in the ninth was arranged on a pass to Appling and Hayes' second single. Piet then lined to Trosky and both runners were on their way. Trosky, after starting to make the play backward by going to first, threw to Knickerbocker to double Appling off second, and Knickerbocker then threw back to Trosky before Hayes could return to first base.

Kennedy and Harder Named to Pitch Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 7.—Vernon Kennedy, who has been knocked out of three of his last four starts, will go forth in quest of victory No. 15 in the second of the series with the Indians tomorrow. Mel Harder, who has also suffered extensively in his last four starts will pitch for the Indians.

The paid attendance was around 5,000 but there were many thousands of lady day fans who kept the place in a turmoil.

The gals booed Jim Dykes while he was batting in the seventh and they had cause for complaint. Jim had them panicky with a half dozen foul drives into the grandstand. One plunked a young lady on the chin and another nicked a female shin bone.

CLAIMS NAISMITH SNUBBED BY U. S. OLYMPIC HEADS

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(AP)—In a four ring circus augmented by a colorful ceremony—in which all countries honored Dr. James A. Naismith of the University of Kansas, founder of the game—the Olympiad's first basketball competition started today with ten games. Interest from the American standpoint was limited to the fact that the United States and the Philippines both drew a bye.

What developed startlingly, however, was the charge by Jim Tobin, New York basketball official, who is one of the Olympiad referees, that Dr. Naismith had apparently been completely ignored by the American Olympic committee, headed by Avery Brundage.

"Dr. Naismith arrived in Germany without even a pass to see a game," Tobin said. "We managed to get him a pass for all games, but it was not through the American Olympic committee's efforts. He was ignored there and his name stricken from the pass list.

Generally speaking, the class of basketball played today was good, with Chile, Canada, Esthonia, and Japan looking best. Among the ten games played, most interesting were Canada's 24 to 17 victory over Brazil, and Japan's 35 to 19 conquest of China.

Kells Plays McDermott as Council's Worst Golfers

Ald. George D. Kells of the Twenty-eighth ward and Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] each claims that he can get in more strokes on eighteen holes of golf than any other man in the city hall. They will decide this matter once and for all today in a special match at Long Beach, Ind., where Kells has a summer home. Just to make sure that everything is on the square, Ald. Jimmy Quinn [50th] will officiate.

Gabby's Injury Is Not Serious; Back Tomorrow

Gabby Hartnett, Cubs' catcher who was cracked on the left instep by a foul ball in the second inning of yesterday's game with the Cardinals, suffered only a bruise and will be back in the game tomorrow. Hartnett was hit by a tip off the bat of Pitcher George Earnshaw who, having learned his good manners at Swarthmore, promptly lifted the 220 pound Cub star to his feet, a good lift in any league.

The club physician after a cursory examination of Gabby's injury ordered him to the Edgewater hospital for an X-ray diagnosis. The examination showed there were no bones broken, so Gabby was out limping around at a church social last night.

Larry French will pitch the opener for the Cubs against the Pirates at Wrigley field this afternoon. The series will consist of three games, including a double-header tomorrow.

The Cubs rarely have covered the itinerary on which they will set out after tomorrow's games. In past years they frequently have gone to Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, Cincinnati and St. Louis, and even Pittsburgh and St. Louis, but next week they set something of a precedent by visiting all three cities on one jaunt. Robby Lewis says he's never before bought transportation for such a trip during the ten years he's been secretary of the club.

Printers Clash Tomorrow in Title Tourney

The twelve out of town teams which will compete in the 26th annual tournament of the International Union Printers' Baseball league will arrive today. Chicago will meet Boston at Grant park tomorrow afternoon, to open the tourney.

In addition to Boston and Chicago, the teams in the tournament will represent Baltimore, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Detroit, Indianapolis, New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Washington, D. C., Hamilton, Ont., and St. Paul, Minn. They will play for the Garry Hermann trophy.

The Chicago team, under the direction of Manager Frank DeCaluwe, will conclude preparation for the game against Boston this afternoon. The Chicagoans won their last championship in 1930 at Pittsburgh. Last year's meet, at Cleveland, was won by Washington.

The tournament will continue until Aug. 15. Other games will be played at Grant park and Wrigley field, with the championship game at Wrigley field. The contests scheduled to be played at Grant park may be shifted to Mills stadium.

BY FRENCH LANE.

For the first time this year in Chicago a stake race at the popular old route of a mile will be offered at Washington Park this afternoon.

It comes in the first running of the Lakeside handicap, to which a prize of $5,000 has been added. Overnight it attracted not only all the topnotch sprinters now campaigning on the western turf, but also most of the rout running stars.

The middle distance of one mile, popular in the east, has ever had few stake runnings hereabouts, and a look through the record books will reveal that both Equipoise's world mark, set at Arlington Park, and Gallant Knight's track record at Washington Park were set in overnight events.

Made for Myrtlewood.

The Lakeside, which climaxes the Homewood track's first successful week, would appear to be made to order for Brownell Combs' fine filly, Myrtlewood, from Kentucky. Even though the strapping bay daughter of Blue Larkspur and Frizeur is giving away pounds of weight to all her competitors, she rates a 3 to 1 choice right now for her third stake victory of the year.

No. 1 was the Quickstep at Latonia and No. 2 the Sprint handicap at Hawthorne. Both her victories were decisive. The Stars and Stripes at Arlington, her last appearance, found the mile and a furlong journey a bit too extended for her. She finished fifth, after setting the pace, and it was the first time in her career that Myrtlewood wasn't one-two-three.

Those who string with Tony Pelleteri's lucky barn will make Where Away, second to Sun Teddy last week in the Arlington handicap, second choice to the filly. And Corinto, the one that Bert Michell finally came up with for his Lakeside starter, will have his backing as well. Corinto is hardly a consistent animal and has put more than his share of gray hairs on Michell's scalp, but when least expected Corinto has trimmed the best of them.

Race Value $6,640.

With a field of 13 the Lakeside will have a gross value of $6,640. It will have the early speed of Toro Nancy and Billy Bee shooting for the winner's end, with Myrtlewood and Corinto not far away.

Where Away, training down a bit for the mile route, can be expected to be running over horses down the stretch, and Jocky Corbett will be hoping to run over Jocky South on Myrtlewood.

The rest of the overnight field included Visigoth, Infidox, Chicago handicap winner, Roguish Girl, the entry of Lady Montrose, and Threadneedle, Understand, Sir Jim James, and the ever hopeful Silent Shot, still looking for a muddy track in a dry year.

Got Her Start Here.

Chicago's hope among the leading contenders must be the Denemark—owned Corinto, and Threadneedle. but Chicago has a claim as well on Myrtlewood. She may be from Kentucky, but "Kate," as she is called by Mr. Combs, started her winning ways here last year. She set a world's mark here and later defeated Clang in a match race.

Her one start elsewhere was good in her losing the world's record to Clang in a second match race, which saw both flash across the line inches apart in 1:09 1-5 for the 6 furlongs. On the outside all the way, it might as well have been Myrtlewood which received credit for that mark.

MACAWLEE took command under strong urging, was steadied around the turn and continued well to the final eighth before weakening, but managed to last. BROADWAY MAID, slow to respond to energetic riding and inclined to swerve in the stretch where she was taken to extreme outside, came with good speed and deadlocked CHARWITCH for second in the final stride. CHARWITCH, never a great distance back and under strong pressure to the final quarter, held on well.

Winner trained by H. K. Barron. Went to post at 2:58½. At post 2 minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same.

GRAY PORTE, rated under light restraint for five-eighths and strongly shaken up soon after entering the stretch, continued well to the final sixteenth where she weakened badly, but managed to stall off POLYPHOTE for a lucky win. Latter, probably best and also showing speed from the start, swerved out badly in the stretch and, driving boldly when straight in the final sixteenth, appeared unlucky to lose. FIRST PIGEON, badly outrun for five-eighths, came with a rush thereafter and finished fastest of all.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Claiming. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

MY COUNT, close up from the start and getting through on inside when racing to the lead on the stretch turn, bore out steadily when holding on stubbornly in the drive, but not headed. SKY O' BLUE, away slowly and taking up position on the outside, went to inside approaching stretch continued to secure room next to rail in the drive, and standing pressure gamely barely failed to get up. GAY BUBBLE had speed from the start, sharply impeded PANIC RELIEF as she went wide on the stretch turn, held on gamely after straightening out in the stretch to the last sixteenth then weakened.

MONON LAD, forced to lose much ground and outrun to the stretch, came with good speed the last three-sixteenths, bore over near the end, and wore down LUCKY DUCKY in the final stride. Latter, who was forced to use speed from the start, took command under strong riding when approaching the stretch and held on well, but was not good enough. CRULIA, shuffled back early, moved up fast when saving ground on stretch turn, was taken wide, bothered horses in the drive, suffered light interference in the last sixteenth, but held on well.

CANDESCENT, away in motion but taken under restraint to permit KINGSBURY to make the pace, easily overtook the latter in the final three-sixteenths and drew out steadily in the last eighth without need of strong urging. KINGSBURY, away slowly and rushed to the lead on the outside, displayed fine speed and weakened after submitting to the winner, but outstayed COLONEL ED. Latter, raced a trifle wide and in hand for five-eighths, responded to light urging thereafter and was wearing down KINGSBURY.

SIXTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. Claiming, 4 year olds and up. Purse, $1,100. Net value to winner, $800; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

FANFERN forced the early pace under restraint, slowly wore down TRACKER when placed to mild urging in the stretch and, strongly urged in the last fifty yards, won with little left. PRE-WAR, well up from the start, faltered momentarily in the stretch, but came again and wore down TRACKER and BUSY SPAIN in rapid succession near the end. BUSY SPAIN, sluggish early, was taken to the turn and held on well after moving up in the stretch, but failed to withstand PRE-WAR.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Claiming, 3 year olds and up. Purse, $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

TENACE rushed to command early, was steadied while setting the pace, was roused in the stretch to maintain her advantage and won with something left. IMPERIAL EBEE, away in stride, forced the pace throughout, but could not menace the winner. ASYOUWERE, slow to settle into her best stride, closed resolutely.

SALTEO, taken under mild reserve early, and inside most of the way, came to the outside on the stretch, took command and won with something left. TRIOLET, far out of contention early, and on the outside, closed with belated speed, but was overmatched. BLACK SCOUT, never far back, held on gamely in the drive.

Jocky Cowley Hustles Home Two Winners

Jocky J. Cowley accounted for two of the best races on the Washington Park program yesterday. He won the six furlong Oak Ridge handicap on Candescent and accounted for the third race over the same route on My Count, a son of Reigh Count-Annie Gowdy.

Cowley's strong finishes during the run down the home stretch accounted for both races. Both were outsiders in the betting. My Count paid off at $19.40 and Candescent at $15.20. So far Cowley has been showing more ability as a strong finisher than any other rider at Washington Park.

It may be that the added duties of talking through the microphone while the horses are at the post has somewhat befuddled Starter Roy Dickerson. He hasn't been getting the satisfactory results of which he is capable since the microphone was added to his equipment. A very ragged start came out of the running of the Oak Ridge handicap yesterday.

Gray Porte, 5 year old owned by H. K. Barron of Dallas, Tex., rolled up his fourth straight victory when he accounted for the second race yesterday. It was a dash at seven furlongs and he was in front from start to finish. His three previous victories had been scored at the Thistledown track in Cleveland.

The betting during the first five days of the Washington Park season has run well over the million dollar mark the figures on the totalizator board revealed yesterday.

A heavy fog has hampered the clockers' work for the last two mornings at Washington Park. However, they report that the mist clears away shortly after 7:30 o'clock. The track settled by recent light rains, is considerably faster than last year and a new mile record is expected to be set up in the running of the Lakeside handicap today. The present mile mark is 1:35 3-5, established by Gallant Knight in 1932. The best mile time over this course last year was 1:37 1-5.

Layden's Vote Grows; Leads Coaches' Poll

dividual votes from all over the middle west. He received 22,348 first place votes from the Gary Post Tribune, but most of his ballots came in on post cards and letters directly to THE TRIBUNE. Layden has discouraged any organized effort in his behalf, but he is getting it, nevertheless, especially in South Bend, Gary, Davenport, and Peoria. He is sweeping several eastern cities, notably Philadelphia, where the Record's returns show him 5 to 1 ahead of his nearest rival.

Minneapolis and St. Paul are preparing to swamp this department with last minute votes for Bierman. A huge block arrived from the St. Paul Daily News last night too late to figure in today's standings. The St. Paul Pioneer Press and the Minneapolis Star, Journal and Tribune, all report tremendous activity in support of the Minnesota leader.

Friends of McMillin are keeping pace with supporters of Layden and Bierman. The Indiana coach polled 4,700 first place votes from Terre Haute alone yesterday.

FRENCH FRANC TUMBLES; GOLD FLIGHT STARTS

Other Moneys Lose Against Dollar.

The French franc fell below the gold-export level yesterday and a total of $4,550,000 of gold was engaged in Paris for shipment to New York, the first such engagement since June 19. The franc has fluctuated uncertainly during recent weeks as the efforts of the popular front government in France to reëstablish French finances have generally been viewed with skepticism. More recently, the uncomfortable position in which France has been placed by the rebellion in Spain has disturbed the currency.

The franc was further weakened yesterday by the news that the French treasury had been obliged to renew for a period of three months the short term loan obtained last spring from a group of London banks. The loan is for $200,000,000, with the final maturity to be not later than November.

Franc Falls 11-16 Point.

The franc closed at 6.58 5-16 cents, a drop of 11-16 point to level 1-16 point below the price at which gold shipments become profitable.

Franc futures also declined in the New York market, going to a discount of 33 points for ninety days, compared with a discount of 27 points on Thursday.

The franc's sister currencies in the gold bloc also lost heavily yesterday, but remained above the level at which gold shipments can be made profitably to this country. Swiss francs declined 5½ points to close at 32.58½ cents and Dutch guilders lost 6 points to finish at 67.86 cents.

Lost Much Gold in June.

In the last export movement of gold from France to this country which extended from May 24 to near the end of June, a total of $330,800,000 of the metal came to New York. The French shipments therefore accounted for the bulk of the $406,635,000 gold that came here to this country during that period.

Aside from the engagement of the French gold, the engagement of $1,565,000 of gold in India and $168,000 in England was reported. This marks the first engagement in England in several days. Actual arrivals of gold at New York yesterday totaled $3,818,600, of which $2,250,900 came from Canada, $1,279,100 from India, and $288,600 from Russia. There were no exports and no net change in the stock of the metal set aside here for foreign account.

Week's Imports Increase.

The department of commerce reported yesterday that gold and silver imports during the week ended July 1, increased sharply from the preceding week. Gold imports were placed at $5,010,636, compared with $1,777,646 a week earlier, and silver imports amounted to $1,139,079, compared with 770,738.

Exports of both gold and silver were negligible at $929 and $31,156, respectively, for the week ended July 1, and 949 and $46,363 for the preceding week.

LAIDLEY IS NAMED TO MERCHANDISE MART SALES POST

Harold D. Laidley has been appointed manager of sales and promotion activities for the Merchandise Mart, it was announced yesterday by Percy Wilson, general manager of the Marshall Field & Co. real estate division. Other appointments made public were: T. J. Reed will be in charge of building management, tenant relations, and expansion; O. C. Metzger of maintenance operation; J. A. Lytle of apparel floors, retail shops, and office leasing. John C. Goodall has been appointed assistant to Wilson.

Occupancy has increased more than 5 per cent at the Merchandise Mart during the first six months this year as compared with 1935, according to Wilson. So far this year 147,454 square feet of space have been leased. This compares with 86,407 square feet during the same period last year.

CAR OUTPUT DIPS AS PLANTS CLOSE FOR NEW MODELS

Automobile production slumped sharply last week as several concerns discontinued production of 1936 models and others prepared to take similar action, according to the reports from two automotive statistical agencies.

Production for the week was estimated at 81,804 passenger cars and trucks by Cram's Reports, compared with 95,641 in the preceding week, and 48,067 in the corresponding week last year. Ward's Reports placed the week's output at 84,153 units, compared with 97,755 in the preceding week, and 51,190 in the corresponding 1935 period.

Boost Steel Scrap Prices 25 Cents a Ton in Chicago

Heavy melting steel scrap in Chicago was advanced 25 cents yesterday to a nominal price of $14.25 to $14.75 a ton. Although the last sale to mills is said to have been made at $14.25 a ton, dealers are reported to have paid as high as $15 a ton to cover old contracts recently. The market strength at present is said to be attributed principally to dealer speculation.

New Storage Service for Meat Expands

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

A new type of meat packing enterprise which offers to store meat carcasses for live stock producers and others is growing up in many parts of the country. It permits the farmer to store meat to provide for his year round consumption and affords protection against periods of high prices and scarcity.

The movement was originally intended as a service to farmers by providing facilities for storing farm killed meat and other farm produce. It has developed, however, to a point where the "packing" concern now slaughters the animals for the farmers, chills the meat and puts it through a quick freeze process, after which the farmer stores it in a rented locker in the refrigerator plant, to be drawn on as he needs it for consumption.

Service Provided for Others.

The same service is provided for others than farmers. In rural communities townspeople may buy the live stock from the farmer, have the animals butchered at the locker plant, and stored.

The first of the so-called locker plants were built several years ago on the Pacific coast. In some instances they were operated by farm coöperatives. The movement has spread eastward, and there are fifty locker plants operating in Iowa and another twenty under construction. In many instances the locker facilities have been provided by ice companies and creameries. They have proved so successful in some localities that ice companies have discontinued their ice manufacturing business and devoted themselves to providing packing and storing facilities.

Economical for Farmer.

The cost to the farmer is said to have been reduced to a point where it is economical from his point of view. A steer is butchered, cut up, chilled, frozen and packed in the lockers at a cost of 2 cents a pound. The cost is slightly less for hogs, lamb and sheep. The rental on the refrigerated storage locker, with a capacity of 300 to 350 pounds of meat, averages $10 a year.

The movement is not believed to provide any real threat to the present packing companies operating in Chicago and other central markets. The locker plants are not believed feasible for large population centers. In rural areas, however, where the population may go without fresh meat during many months of the year it appears to provide a needed service. It serves to stimulate meat consumption in those areas.

Used for Fresh Vegetables.

The lockers may also be used for storing fresh vegetables. After the chilling process the vegetables will stay fresh for six months to a year, it is said.

The big packing plants report that they are not in a position to provide similar facilities for persons who desire to store meat carcasses in anticipation of rising prices. The large packers buy the animals outright and take the risk of a decline in meat prices, or chance of a profit if the market advances.

CHICAGO MILL TIMBER TO VOTE ON MERGING

Stockholders of the Chicago Mill Timber corporation will vote Aug. 27 at a special meeting on a proposal to effect a recapitalization and merge assets of the operating subsidiary, Chicago Mill and Lumber company, with the parent company, which will take the name now used by the operating subsidiary.

Acording to R. L. McClelland, president, merging of assets of the two concerns will result in a substantial savig, and directors intend to declare a dividend of $1 a share on the new class A and class C stocks after the plan is effected. Earnings before federal taxes were reported to be more than $300,000 in the first six months this year.

Three classes of common stock are to be issued by the new company. Holders of present parent company class A common will receive new A stock on a share for share basis. Class B stock of the new company will be reserved for subscription. Class C stock is to be issued to minority interests.

EXPORT COPPER PRICE RISES TO ANOTHER PEAK

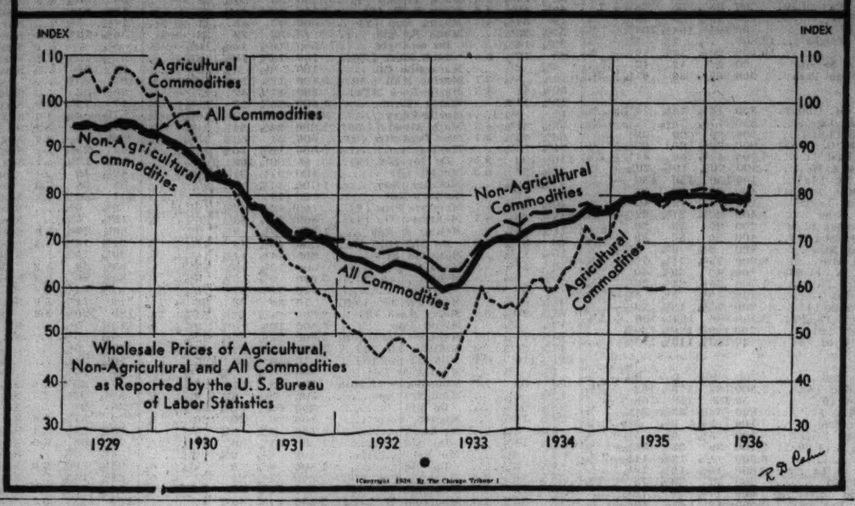
New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Active buying of copper in the foreign market advanced the export price to a new peak of 9.55 cents, the highest level since imposition of a tarif on foreign copper resulted in the creation of an "export copper" price.

While foreign demand has been active, some trade interests believe that the advance in the foreign price is partly the result of manipulation. It is believed that those supporting the movement wish to drive the domestic price up another notch to 10 cents a pound. It was alleged that similar tactics in bidding the foreign price of copper up brought about the rise in the domestic price to 9¾ cents a pound last month.

Boost Price of 4th Grade Gas Used by Trucks, Buses

The price of fourth grade gasoline, used by buses and trucks, will be raised 1 cent a gallon by the Shell Petroleum corporation, effective Monday. Whether other major companies will follow the lead of Shell was unknown last night. Whenever one major unit makes a price change others ordinarily do likewise, but none of the concerns was ready to announce its decision. Shell officials said the present 11½ cent a gallon rate is too low and that the price boost will be made regardless of the attitude of competitors.

Spread Between Prices of Agricultural and Other Commodities Has Narrowed



Ward Sales Set New High in Half Year

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported that all records in the company's history for sales during the month of July and the six months ended July 31 were broken this year. It was the fifth consecutive month in which Ward set a new record for sales during that period of the year. The company's fiscal year ends Jan. 31.

Last month's sales of $25,635,866 eclipsed the previous July record of $20,293,175 which was set in 1935.

Gain for Year 26 1-3 Per Cent.

The increase amounted to 26 1-3 per cent. This was only slightly less that the 27.3 per cent sales gain recorded in June over the same month in 1935.

The sales total of $159,363,320 to Aug. 1 was 19.56 per cent more than the $133,289,039 for the same period of 1935. Total sales in the fiscal year ended last Jan. 31 were $293,042,357—a new record.

Kress Reports Upturn.

S. H. Kress & Co. reported July sales of $6,524,725, or 10.9 per cent more than the $5,883,589 in the corresponding 1935 month. During June the company had sales of $7,027,087, or 23.3 per cent better than a year earlier.

The total for the first seven months of 1936 was $43,954,720. This was 12.2 per cent more than the $39,162,067 total for the corresponding period in 1935.

Western Auto Supply company registered a sharp gain in sales during July, the total reaching $2,743,000, against $1,946,000 in the corresponding month a year ago. For the first seven months sales were $12,313,000, compared with $10,442,000 to Aug. 1, 1935.

Penny Sales Rise 16 Per Cent.

J. C. Penny company, national merchandise chain, reported July sales of $18,475,109, a gain of 16 per cent, compared with $15,919,032 in the same month last year.

Interstate Department Stores, operating stores in midwestern, southern and Atlantic states, reported July sales of owned departments, but excluding sales of groceries and leased departments, of $1,669,939, against $1,206,135 in the same month last year.

Lane Bryant, Inc., apparel and mail order concern in New York City, reported for July sales of $931,930, compared with $798,643 in the comparable 1935 month.

JULY FACTORY SALES OF CARS BEST SINCE 1928

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—More motor vehicles were shipped from the factories of Automobile Manufacturers' association members last month than in any previous July with the single exception of 1928, the association announced today.

Factory sales of association members were estimated at 339,755 cars and trucks, an increase of 33 per cent over the same month last year and a decrease of 7 per cent under June.

On the basis of this estimate, factory sales for association members during the first seven months of this year amounted to 2,301,480 units, an increase of 509,830 units or 28 per cent over the same period last year. Only twice—in 1928 and 1929—has this figure for the seven month period been exceeded. The association's report covers the operations of all major motor car producers but Ford.

REPORT ORDERS PLACED FOR 29 STEEL BARGES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP)—It was reported today a contract has been placed with a Pittsburgh barge building firm for 17 steel riveted coal barges for use on the Illinois river.

The barges, 195 feet long, 35 feet wide, 11 feet deep would require 4,000 tons of steel plates and shapes. Details and names were withheld.

The Dewey Portland Cement company of Kansas City was reported to have placed a contract for 12 steel barges for coal shipments on the Missouri river, requiring 2,600 tons of steel.

Simultaneously the Dravo Contracting company was awarded a $1,200,500 contract to build two self-propelled 20 inch line dredges for the government.

WHOLESALE TRADE EXPANDS; NEAR 1929 LEVEL IN MANY CITIES

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Buying in wholesale markets, which in the last two weeks held at a peak for six years, broadened perceptibly this week and approached 1929 figures at many centers, where the number of buyers was nearly double the total a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

While the volume of business placed in some lines was heavier by 50 per cent than last fall, transactions for the week were estimated 25 to 30 per cent larger than for the corresponding period a year ago. As in the retail division, wholesalers noted the waning importance of the price factor in sales decisions, the agency reported.

Practically all classes of merchandise were included in the week's buying activities, although woman's dresses, coats, shoes, hosiery, and fashion accessories were leaders. Men's suits, topcoats, and particularly hats, were sought actively and orders for boys' school clothing increased.

"Allowing for the further recession in some of the drouth affected districts, retail sales continued about even with the total of the preceding week," the review said. "The margin of gain over a year ago was narrowed somewhat, as the estimated volume of retail sales for the country as a whole ranged from 12 to 18 per cent more than for the corresponding 1935 week."

SEC DISCLOSES CONFIDENTIAL SALARY REPORTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission today threw open for public inspection reports disclosing compensation paid a group of corporate executives last year. The information had been filed with the request that it be kept confidential, but the commission denied the applications.

Largest compensation in the group was reported for Frank Phillips, president and director of Phillips Petroleum company of Wilmington, Del., who received $92,317. John H. Kane and William N. Davis, vice presidents and directors of the same company, received $38,250 and $29,000, respectively.

As president of the Intertype corporation of Brooklyn, N. Y., N. D. Becker, received $45,000; Harvey W. Harper, president of Tung-Sol Lamp Works, Inc., of Newark, N. J., received $38,400; Blaine S. Smith, president of Pennsylvania-Dixie Cement corporation of New York, $35,240; D. Emil Klein, president of D. Emil Klein company of New York, $30,780; Eugene B. Clark, president of Clark Equipment company of Buchanan, Mich, $29,562, and Harold E. Webster, president of Pratt & Lambert, Inc., of Buffalo, N. Y., $12,000.

PACIFIC MUTUAL AFFAIRS TO BE PROBED BY U. S.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Affairs of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company will be investigated by the district attorney's office and placed before the grand jury if the facts warant, District Attorney Buron Fitts announced today.

Superior Judge Henry Willis announced that the deadline for filing suits of intervention in the company's reorganization will be next Wednesday, the day on which he will open hearings on the order to show cause why the Pacific Mutual company should not be reorganized. On Tuesday, Judge Willis said, he will hold a hearing on a motion to vacate the order reorganizing the company, filed by Samuel L. Carpenter Jr., state life insurance commissioner.

Chicago Lloyds Premium Income Sets High Record

Premium income of Chicago Lloyds insurance firm amounted to $654,744 during the first six months of 1936, setting a new record for this period of the year and representing an increase of 7 per cent over the first half of 1935, it was announced yesterday. Losses of $302,000 were 20 per cent less than in the first six months of 1935, and surplus increased approximately 10 per cent to $970,504.

Rail Freight Heaviest Since October, 1931

Freight trafic of American railroads last week was the heaviest since the week ended Oct. 17, 1931. Revenue loadings for the seven days ended Aug. 1 amounted to 747,551 cars, which topped volume in the corresponding week of 1931 by 12,821 cars and established a recovery peak for the nation's railroads.

On the basis of current volume of any marked pick-up in freight trafic this fall would send the total soaring across the 800,000 mark in October, when the year's peak usually is established.

Last week's 747,551 cars represented an increase of 16,489 cars or 2.3 per cent over the preceding week, 152,254 or 25.6 per cent over the corresponding week last year, and 134,891 or 22.0 per cent over two years ago. A slight decline is usual at this time of the year.

Gains in Most Divisions.

All community divisions showed increases except two—grain and ore. Miscellaneous freight climbed 5,796 cars, and was 67,134 cars above a year previous.

	Week Aug. 1.	Change from Prev. wk.	Change from Prev. yr.
Miscellaneous	294,419	+ 5,796	+67,134
Less than carl'd.	163,948	+ 1,611	+ 6,476
Coal	124,672	+11,726	+32,687
Grain	50,970	— 4,052	+ 9,235
Live stock	15,423	+ 1,775	+ 5,892
Lumber	35,719	+ 1,019	+ 6,493
Ore	53,558	— 1,616	+20,650
Coke	8,842	+ 230	+ 3,717

The contra-seasonal increase resulted in a rise in the Dow-Jones loadings index to 81.3 from 78.6 in the preceding week. The Associated Press seasonally adjusted weekly index of freight car loadings, based on 1929-'30 as 100, advanced to 76.1, a new 1936 high, compared with 74.2 the previous week and a 1936 low of 60.7.

Active Autumn Seen.

Indications point to the most active autumn for the railroads this year since 1930. Drouth and crop control have eaten into agricultural tonnage for two years and further farm losses may be experienced later. However, the outlook for steadily rising rates of operations in durable goods industries serves to dwarf the significance of smaller crops and herds, with respect to railroad revenues.

Accompanying the increased movement of freight is a more acute realization of equipment deficiencies. The carriers have compiled impressive totals in the purchase of new equipment in recent months, compared with depression figures, but the process has been slowed by financial difficulties and the current expansion in freight volume comes with much of the rolling stock undelivered.

MORGAN DENIED PREFERANCE AS 'MOP' CREDITOR

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The United State Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed today a ruling placing the $5,850,000 claim of J. P. Morgan & Co. against the Missouri Pacific railroad in the same classification with claims of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Railroad Credit corporation.

Morgan & Co. had sought separate classification. This would have given it veto power over any plan of reorganization submitted, as the law provides no reorganization plan may be enforced if a majority of creditors in any classification dissent.

The Morgan claim is on short term promissory notes. The RFC has a claim of $22,134,800 on short term notes, nad the RCC a claim of $3,775,000 on similar obligations.

BREAK GROUND FOR MODEL HOME IN GRANT PARK

Ground was broken yesterday for the "New American Home" to be built on Chicago park district property at Michigan avenue and Roosevelt road under the sponsorship of the General Electric company, Crane company, Portland Cement association, and the Federal Housing administration.

Members of the new American home committee, of which Stuyvesant Peabody is chairman, representatives of FHA, and park officials participated in the ceremonies.

The colonial home, designed by Frazier & Raftery, will be of cement block and will illustrate the comfort, convenience, and economy of modern features in the 1936 residence.

GRAINS SLUMP AS SPECULATORS SELL HOLDINGS

Barley Bucks Trend; Hits New High.

Decided weakness developed in leading grain world markets yesterday. All rallies brought in speculative selling and closing trades were near the low point of the day, with wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade 2½ cents per bushel below Thursday and corn 1⅝ to 2⅝ cents lower. Oats dropped as much as 1½ cents and rye slumped 4⅞ cents.

Cash barley and futures again showed independent strength and sold at new high levels for the season. Cash barley rose as much as 10 cents a bushel while futures gained 1½ cents. Soy beans were not affected by the decline in corn, with No. 3 yellow selling at $1.36 to $1.37 per bushel, or the same as on Thursday.

Weakness of wheat in Liverpool and Buenos Aires had a depressing effect both in American and Canadian markets. Winnipeg and Minneapolis declined 3 cents or more, and Kansas City lost 2 cents, while Liverpool was 1⅜ to 2½ cents per bushel lower, with March showing the most loss.

Compare World Prices.

Closing prices on the active delivery of wheat in leading world markets yesterday and on corn, oats, and rye in Chicago, with the high and low levels since July 1, follow:

	Yest.	Thurs.	July-Aug. 7 High.	July-Aug. 7 Low.
Chicago	$1.11⅛	$1.13⅜	$1.14⅝	$0.94¼
Kas. City	1.14⅛	1.16	1.16⅝	.89½

*Midday cable.

There was nothing in the day's news to account for the recession in wheat yesterday other than somewhat more favorable crop comments from Argentina and Australia. New crop southern hemisphere wheat will not be available for European consumption in volume until next February.

Malting Barley Soars.

The runaway market for choice grades of malting barley pushed prices in Chicago up to $1.25 per bushel, while at Milwaukee $1.27 was paid, or 12 cents above the top sale on Thursday.

In the last week prices have risen 20 cents on heavy buying based largely on the failure of farmers to sell freely. With the exception of 1934 when the repeal of prohibition late in December, 1933, brought maltsters into the market for barley on a large scale, current prices are the highest since 1921, when $1.73 was paid. In 1934 the high was $1.37.

St. Louis and Milwaukee malsters were reported bidding for barley at country points within 50 miles of Chicago yesterday. Because of fears of a failure of the corn crop over a large area, many farmers are said to be holding back barley to assure supplies of feed during the coming winter.

Canadian Wheat Unimproved.

Comment on the Canadian spring wheat crop showed no improvement. Most of the grain matured to such a degree that moisture over the greater part of the three provinces would now have little effect in increasing yields. Export demand at Winnipeg was slow.

It is estimated by a Canadian wheat pool newspaper that 4,328,000 acres of wheat will be ploughed under in western Canada because of the crop failure caused by heat and drouth. This is 19 per cent of total acreage sown.

With the Canadian government report on the condition of wheat and other crops to be issued late today and the American report due Monday, many traders have evened up their positions in the market yesterday.

The department of agriculture announced yesterday that the monthly crop report to be released Monday will be broadcast at 3:30 p. m., shortly after it is distributed to the press, over the national radio network.

East Sells Corn.

There was some selling of corn futures yesterday by seaboard houses which was thought to represent hedging against additional purchases from Argentina. Prices in Buenos Aires have declined 8 cents per bushel from the recent high as the result of improved weather conditions and larger arrivals of new grain at leading ports.

Good rains were reported in parts of Kansas and Nebraska yesterday, numerous points receiving ½ to 1 inch, which dampened bullish enthusiasm in the new crop futures.

Included in the exports of corn from Argentina the past week were 287,000 bushels to the United States and 709,000 bushels to Japan. The latter country has been a persistent buyer of corn in the last few years.

NEW C. & E. I. PLAN AGREED ON; RFC ASSENT AWAITED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—An amended plan for reorganization of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company has been agreed upon by the General Mortgage Bondholders' committee and the railway, it was learned today.

The negotiations were brought to a conclusion last week but the approval of Jesse H. Jones, Reconstruction Finance corporation chairman, was not obtained because of his illness.

Car Sales, Rail Travel Boost Pullman Profit

Aided by a big increase in railway passenger travel and larger sales in its manufacturing division, Pullman, Inc., yesterday reported that earnings in the first half of 1936 were the best in six years.

Both the sleeping car business and car manufacturing departments contributed to the gain in earnings, the report shows. New, fast, air-conditioned passenger trains, it is indicated, have brought more business to Pullman operated cars.

A further impetus to business appears to have resulted from the introduction of lower railroad fares and the elimination of surcharges previously imposed by the railroads on passengers traveling in Pullmans. The car manufacturing division has benefited by sales of the new type streamlined trains.

Earn 70 Cents a Share.

Consolidated net income of Pullman, Inc., and all subsidiaries, for the six months ended June 30 was $2,693,980, equal to 70 cents per share, compared with net income of only $266,838, or 7 cents per share, in the first half of 1935.

For the June quarter alone Pullman, Inc., showed net income of $1,493,717, equal to 39 cents per share, compared with a loss of $413,298 in the 1935 June quarter. For the twelve months ended June 30 net income was $2,153,414, or 56 cents per share, against $2,900,394, or 75 cents per share, for the twelve months ended June 30, 1935.

None of the figures for 1936, the company explains, includes provision for "any possible federal surtax" on undistributed earnings.

Current Position Unchanged.

The consolidated balance sheet as of June 30 shows current assets of $64,286,284 and current liabilities of $12,857,721, approximately the same as at the close of 1935. Surplus was $39,307,137, also practically unchanged during the half year. Current assets include cash of $15,376,000 and U. S. government bonds of $12,974,000.

Pullman company, the sleeping car operating division of Pullman, Inc., showed net income, after taxes, for June of $174,671, compared with a loss of $439,275 in June, 1935. For the first half year net income, after taxes, was $1,168,046, compared with a loss of $2,241,938 in the first half of 1935.

"Aided by the heaviest winter tourist movement since the pre-depression era, plus general revival of travel due to improved business conditions, gross revenue for the first half of 1936 bettered the corresponding period last year by $3,655,083, and practically the entire increase was reflected in the improvement of $3,409,985 in the net after taxes," the company stated.

TRUSTS REPORT INCREASES IN ASSET VALUES

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Pacific Eastern corporation and Shenandoah corporation, investment trusts affiliated with the Atlas corporation, reported today increases in the net assets available for their capital stock, in the first six months of this year.

The consolidated statement of Pacific Eastern showed that on June 30, net assets were $36,310,911, equal to $6.67 a share on the outstanding capital stock, compared with $27,322,873, or $4.79 a share on June 30, 1935.

Shenandoah corporation reported assets of $32,205,438, equal to $76.54 a share for the 420,779 net outstanding shares of optional $3 convertible preference stock on that date. After allowing $55 a share plus $14.75 accumulated dividends for the preference stock, the indicated asset value of the common stock was 48 cents a share. This compared with net assets available for the preference stock on June 30, 1935 of $25.36 a share for the 524,920 shares then outstanding. As of Dec. 31, 1935, net assets were $28,466,368, equal to $66.06 a share for the preferred stock, and 16 cents a share for the common stock.

CHICAGOAN TOLD TO GIVE UP ONE OF RAIL POSTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Because the interstate commerce commission "does not look with favor" upon interlocking directorates the commission today suggested that William W. Farrell of Chicago sever his connections with the New York Central if he desires to continue as a director of other systems.

Farrell sought to hold the position of director of the Lake Erie and Eastern railroad and to hold positions generally with the New York Central railroad and carriers of that system while continuing to hold positions with the Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City railroad.

Under the commission's consolidation plan Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City is assigned to system No. 14—Burlington, and the Lake Erie and Eastern railroad to system No. 3—New York Central.

Farrell is a director in the Mercantile Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, Burlington Safe Deposit corporation, and the United States Cold Storage corporation.

Other officers include Arthur Farrel of H. M. Byllesby & Co., Chicago, first vice president; William T. Patten of Seattle, second vice president; William W. Lewis of St. Paul, secretary, and J. W. Sener of Baltimore, treasurer. The delegates chose Atlantic City for the 1937 convention.

HOLC SCREENS ITS MOVES TO SEIZE HOMES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—Just how deeply the government has gone into the real estate business became more of a mystery today when the Home Owners Loan corporation failed to incorporate in its report how many foreclosure proceedings were pending.

Such information was routine until a month ago, but today the HOLC sidestepped the issue with the general statement that in many of the cases foreclosure would not result because of "the mortgagor making satisfactory arrangements."

The HOLC had made a total of 1,021,817 loans in the amount of $3,098,717,633 up to June 30, according to the report.

Make Take Over 200,000 Homes.

On the basis of records of the 11,000 institutions in the United States Building and Loan league, it has been estimated that the big governmental lending agency will eventually become the ultimate titleholder of at least 200,000 American homes. The HOLC has not offered any estimates.

The June 3 report of the HOLC began with the announcement that up to April 30 it has authorized foreclosure proceedings against 9,330 of its borrowers who had defaulted on payments "although actually able" to meet them. Since then such information has been withheld on the grounds that it was "not significant."

A reading of today's report indicated that HOLC delinquencies were about 116 million dollars on May 31. The indicated delinquencies amounted to 28 per cent.

"Total principal and interest due the corporation from the beginning of its operations up to May 31, 1936, less deductions for payments in full and voluntary or involuntary transfer of title, aggregated $407,916,937, of which $291,862,138 had been paid on or before due date," said the report.

Had 5,557 Homes June 30.

Although the corporation would not report on the number of properties in the courts, it announced that it had actually taken title through foreclosures and voluntary transfers to 5,557 homes up to June 30.

A total of 6,804 individual loans had been repaid in full by cash payments totaling $14,082,914. Loans retired by voluntary transfer of title had foreclosures representing a total mortgage indebtedness of $33,170,415, leaving a total of $3,051,464,404 in outstanding net indebtedness.

Repayments of principal on the outstanding loans by those who did not wait for the compulsory collection period to begin have amounted to $106,963,700, leaving a net loan balance of $2,944,500,704, as of June 30.

URGE REJECTION OF PLAN FOR UNIT OF ROSENBAUM

Rejection of the "Norris plan" of reorganization for Chicago Elevator Properties, Inc., subsidiary of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, was urged yesterday in a letter sent to bondholders by a committee headed by Arthur Price of New York.

Price urged the acceptance of a rival plan under which the properties would be taken over by the Continental Grain corporation. Under the Norris plan the properties would be taken over by a new concern controled by James Norris, head of the Norris Grain company.

The principal objection made by Price to the Norris plan is the provision that bond interest will be paid during the first five years only if earnings are sufficient. Omission of interest would depress the price of the bonds and make it possible for the new owners of the property to retire them at low figures, Price said.

The Continental plan, he added, provides a guarantee of fixed interest for 5 years and offers bondholders the privilege of converting their holdings into stock.

Cadillac Reports July Sales Largest in 9 Years

Don E. Ahrens, sales manager of the Cadillac Motor Car company, reported yesterday that sales of Cadillac and La Salle cars in July were the largest for that month in nine years. Actual figures were not released.

RAILS FEATURE BROAD ADVANCE IN STOCK PRICES

Good Trafic Figures Spur Speculative Buying.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 7.—Carrier shares featured an advance today in the stock market, which turned in its best performance in almost a month. Advances of 1 and 2 points were numerous at the close.

In addition to the price upturn, volume picked up considerably, with total transactions amounting to 1,672,940 shares, the best of the current month. The chief force propelling the advance was a steep increase in car-Aug. 1.

Earnings Aid Upturn.

Behavior of the market Thursday put traders in a better frame of mind and encouraged the resumption today of constructive activity on a large scale. Large industrial organizations did their part toward influencing sentiment with favorable earnings reports.

Carrier shares showed strength throughout the day with many rising 1 to 3 points. New highs were posted by Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and New York Central on gains ranging from 1 to more than 3 points. Atchison missed a new high by a fraction and gains of a point or more took place in Chesapeake and Ohio, Baltimore and Ohio, Southern, Delaware and Hudson, and Illinois Central.

Even the motor shares, which had been under pressure most of the week, flashed back to life. Chrysler crossed 120 for a net rise of almost 3 points. General Motors gained a major fraction.

Steel List Buoyant.

Steel shares were buoyant, Bethlehem taking the honors with a rise exceeding 2 points. United States Steel chalked up a gain of 1⅝ points, Gulf States reached a new peak on a climb of 4¼ points, and Ludlum did nearly as well, hitting a new high on a gain of 3⅝. Youngstown and Acme were other strong steels.

Allied Chemical soared 9½ points and established a new high for the year at 242. Other chemicals followed suit with Union Carbide crossing par at one time.

Except for Continental and Amerada, both of which appreciated sharply, gains in the oil section were moderate although the group was active. Metals did well and upturns in the farm implement section averaged around 2 points, although interest dwindled.

Several Sharp Losses Shown.

A handful of stocks suffered severely. American Can gave up more than 4 points and Continental Can shrunk 2 on expectations that the drouth will result in appreciable reduction of the packing of vegetables. Wright Aero sustained a loss exceeding 5 points and Checker Cab slumped 4 on its first appearance on the tape in a week.

Individual strong spots included Westinghouse, up 3, and Eastman Kodak, up 2½.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 7.—United States government and many domestic corporation bonds were carried to new high levels today on the New York Stock Exchange in the broadest and most spirited advance in several weeks. The movement was marred only by the sharp break in Italian dollar loans and sympathetic declines in other sections of the foreign list.

The trading pace was stepped up with sales reaching $13,166,000, as compared with $11,319,000 on Thursday.

Federal List Active.

Trading in the government issues was broad and eleven were carried to new high marks since their dates of issue. Net gains ranged from 1-32 to 8-32 point in the more active issues. Transactions took place in each of the 24 treasury loans. The turnover in the government group was $805,400, against $984,600 on the preceding day.

Railroad bonds moved forward over a broad front in sympathy with the spurt in the shares, with gains ranging from fractions to 2 points. New high prices were recorded in several industrial loans.

Universal Pipe and Radiator 6s sold up 11 points at one time, and closed at a net advance of 5¾ points.

Italian Loans Fall.

Growing apprehension over the true financial position of Italy appeared, according to traders, as the fundamental cause for the fresh selling wave in Italian dollar bonds. Losses ranged from one to three points in the more active issues, while Italian credit 7s, 1947B, yielded 10 points.

French government issues were also under pressure and declined 1½ to 2 points. The Spanish situation remains an underlying influence in the market for these obligations.

FAIR'S OAK PARK STORE EXPANDS; BUYS BUILDING

Modernized Structure to Double Space.

BY AL CHASE.

D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair store, yesterday announced the purchase of the three story building adjoining the Fair's Oak Park store on the west, which will almost double its floor area. A new, modern food department will be installed in the basement of the new section, and most of the present departments will be enlarged, Kelly said.

A comprehensive modernization program, under the direction of Thielbar & Fugard, Chicago architects, will be started about Oct. 1. A store-wide year around air conditioning system will be installed.

Entered Oak Park in 1929.

The Fair is the pioneer Chicago merchandising concern to enter the Oak Park field. In 1929 Kelly purchased the Oak Park business established by the R. E. Nicholas company at the northwest corner of Lake and Marion streets. Eight hundred thousand dollars was paid for the land, fronting 82½ feet on Lake and 202 feet on Marion street, and the three story building, 82½x178.

The western half of the building was then occupied by O. W. Richardson, who later went out of business. The first floor is under lease to chain stores. Two of these will move as soon as present leases expire. The third has a twenty year lease on forty feet of frontage at the west end of the Lake street frontage, and the same amount of basement space, and will remain.

Has 82½ Foot Frontage.

The unit just purchased for an undisclosed consideration also fronts 82½ feet on Lake with a depth of 178 feet. As the façade of both units is the same, the enlarged store will have a uniform street elevation.

The entire building was built by Robert E. Nicholas of Oak Park, whom Kelly credits with having the vision and initiative to pioneer in the development of what has grown into one of Chicago's most important outlying business centers. It is of reinforced concrete construction, and is capable of

MORE PROXIES SOUGHT IN HAIR COMPANY FIGHT

Minority Seeks to Retain Stock Interest.

The fight of the public stockholders of the American Hair and Felt company to retain an investment in the company, against the wishes of the management which proposes to call the common stock and reissue it to tanners, became more determined yesterday as the protective committee for common stockholders called for more proxies.

The committee asserted that it has the support of about 21,000 shares of the 41,000 shares in the hands of the public, and from tanners representing 6,000 shares.

Court Injunction Asked.

A petition for an injunction to restrain the company from calling the outstanding common stock at $5 a share and redistributing to tanners, is now before the United States District court here. It is said that the common stock will be reissued to tanners in proportion to the business they transact with the company in supplying it with hair.

As exhibit A in its petition for the injunction, the protective committee filed a letter asserted to have been sent by the management to tanners last June 4, saying "the company will be glad to accept hair at the current market price in lieu of cash to cover the purchase price of the subscription stock."

The protective committee, consisting of William Harsin of Harsin Roberts & Co., Chicago, chairman; Ray T. Haas of Minnich Bradley and associates, Chicago, and Mason B. Starring Jr. of R. W. Pressprich & Co., New York, said that the redemption price of $5 a share for the common stock is too low.

Ask Consideration of Earnings.

It is contended that past and present earnings of the company should be taken into consideration, as well as the 6 million dollar Chicago concern's large investment in Dry-Zero corporation, a profitable subsidiary producing insulating materials. The committee called attention to the recent order of $800,000 for Dry-Zero insulation from the Pacific Fruit Express company.

Attorneys said that the American Hair and Felt fight, if carried through the courts, will establish a precedent on whether majority stockholders have the right to call common stock and redistribute it to themselves.

CORN CROP ADEQUATE FOR MANUFACTURING USES, MILLERS SAY

Plenty of corn will be available for manufacturing purposes despite reports that the United States has the shortest crop in history, many manufacturers, members of the American Corn Millers' federation meeting at the Morrison hotel, said yesterday.

They explained that with a short corn crop, resulting in high prices, farmers will be encouraged to use oats, soy beans, and other crops as substitutes and divert more of the corn supply to the mills. These men also expect relatively large imports of feeds and grains, especially corn from Argentina.

The manufacturers pointed out that it is a comparatively simple matter for farmers to switch to concentrates other than corn. Millers cannot make shifts readily. However, they are not disturbed about the corn shortage, because their needs are small compared with the total crop. One miller estimated that corn processors never utilize more than 10 per cent of the crop.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 7.—(AP)—FLOUR—Carload lots, per brl in 98 lb cotton sacks: family patents, 15c lower, $7.70@7.90; standard patents, 10c lower, $7.05@7.25. Shipments, 25,010 brls. Pure bran, $26@26.50, and standard middlings, $26.50@27 per ton.

HOG PRICES MIXED AS LOW GRADE OFFERINGS RISE

A heavier movement of unfinished hogs, as a result of the scarcity and high price of corn, caused an irregular trend in prices here yesterday. Lights, pigs, unfinished butchers and sows sold at sharp price discounts, with heaviest losses occurring in the lights below 180 pounds. Better grade stock, indicating a liberal corn feeding, was scarce and prices were steady to strong, in instances rising 5 to 10 cents above the previous session.

The day's top price reached $11.25 on 220 pound stock, a gain of 10 cents, but less than 10 per cent of the offerings sold above $11.10.

Small Pork Supply Seen.

The possibility of the winter's pork supply being substantially reduced was seen in the liquidation of unfinished lights and sows yesterday. Several thousand 140 to 200 pound light and light butchers lacking finish sold for slaughter at $9 to $10. A few sizable lots of lighter pigs ranged downward to $6.

Numerous shipments of sows that had farrowed their summer pigs are coming to market containing little flesh because farmers believe current prices of fat sows return only about 80 to 90 cents per bushel for the corn they consume, whereas corn prices in the country range from $1.10 to $1.25.

Slaughter Lambs Scarce.

Slaughter lambs were scarce yesterday and prices were steady to 25 cents higher. Selected native ewe and wether lambs topped at $10.75, the bulk selling at $10.50 or below.

Very little change occurred in cattle. Offerings were small and demand from commercial channels equaled the supply. No top grades were offered, the best steers here selling at $8.60. Beef cows, canners, and cutters were firm. Hefers held steady. Calves were unchanged.
